COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1951. 139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1951 No. 1.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1951, 12:00 o'clock noon.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate together with the Senators-elect, chosen at the last general election held on November 7, 1950, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Acting Lieutenant-Governor, M. Harvey Taylor) called the Senate to order at twelve o'clock noon.

PRAYER

The Rev. J. B. Williams, Pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray: Oh God our help in ages past, our hope for years to come, our shelter from the stormy blasts and our eternal home, it is in the spirit of this season, Oh God, that we come to Thee, thanking Thee for wisdom from above. In these days of trouble and at this time of National crisis, we thank Thee for these men whom Thou hast raised up as the leaders of this State to make the laws, to create confidence and to inspire courage in the hearts of men. We thank Thee that there has never been a day so dark but that Thou didst not lead the way, if only one man would trust in Thee; that there has never been a way so rough that Thou would not smooth it if we would follow Thee by faith.

We thank Thee for these men and for their high aspirations; inspire them to do the right although the forces of earth may oppose.

Bless the President of our Country, the Governor of our State and mankind everywhere. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

COMMUNICATION

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Lieutenant-Governor's Office
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Daniel B. Strickler
Lieutenant-Governor

December 28, 1950.

Members of The Senate:

It is with much regret that it is not possible for me to be present at the opening of the Senate session next Tuesday. When I became Lieutenant Governor soon after my return from the last war I had eagerly looked forward to my new duties, chief among which was presiding over the Senate.

I very much want to express to you my appreciation for the opportunity of being associated with you through two sessions. Before I could serve out four years I was called upon again to enter the military service with the Pennsylvania National Guard. It is with much pride that I command Pennsylvania's own 28th Infantry Division which outfit I served with in all its battles and campaigns. I wish you to know our Division is held in high regard by Americans everywhere. I pledge you a good accounting by the thousands of Pennsylvania boys who left with me.

We want so much to keep America strong. You members of the Senate will want to do your utmost to keep Pennsylvania strong and aid the nation in what must be done. It appears America is at the crossroads of indecision. What we have to do now is to blaze a new trail of decision that will lead us and our allies on a safe but probably rugged course to victory. It isn't just a matter of going out and defending our way of life or the principles of free government. It is a matter of protecting and assuring our very physical existence as a people who should not be dominated by a ruthless, preying, destructive force that has no respect for the rights of others or for what they have proven to be worth-while.

Most of us in the armed forces have put aside the niceties of life to prepare ourselves to meet and resist the enemy who seeks advancement chiefly through armed aggression. The time has come when all the people of America and those of allied nations must gear themselves to supply not only man power but to produce that which is necessary for the emergency. Even if we loose most of our means and worldly goods in pursuing this course but save ourselves from being subjected to Communistic forces we will be far better off than saving all else only to be confiscated by them.

Let us be sure we are right in making our decision, for right makes might, and then go ahead with a plan, pave the way, and dare to do our duty. I wish to repeat my plea made in my inaugural address four years ago: "Together let us go forward with fresh and untrammeled vision, meet and hail the future, and help guide the destinies of Pennsylvania and the United States of America."

Respectfully,

DANIEL B. STRICKLER,
Lieutenant Governor.

NOTIFICATION OF SPECIAL CEREMONY

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce that on Thursday, November 30, 1950, the oath of Office was administered in the Senate Chamber to The Honorable Edward J. Kessler, of Lancaster County. Senator Kessler was elected at the General election of November 7, 1950, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Honorable Frederick L. Homsher.

This will be spread upon the Journal.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will please come to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. CHAPMAN. The Senator whom I am about to nominate for President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania is first, honest and competent; second, he has proven his worth as an organizer; third, he is always available for the duties which the office requires, because of his residence in Harrisburg; and fourth, because of his long experience in governmental affairs and his wide acquaintance throughout the State, he is preeminently qualified for the position.

It is a pleasure for me to present to this body the name of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the nomination.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, in rising to place in nomination the choice of the Democratic Caucus, I would like to take a moment of the Senate's time to pin point to each and every one of the assembled guests and members of this body the importance of the action which all of us are about to take, the importance from an ideological standpoint, in view of the tremendous problems we are having throughout the world today. I am proud that our Caucus has designated me as the one to make the nomination. I am proud by reason of the fact that what we are about to do is an extension of the democracy which we preach and practice.

Mr. President, there are so few places in the world today where not only are elections free but where an elected body of this kind assembles,and within their own party caucuses, each individual member has a right to express his opinion, may take the floor and place in nomination that person whom he feels will best carry out the leadership of his party, and I think if all of us proceed in that spirit, in the spirit that we are showing to the people of this Country and to rest of the people in the world that we not only preach democracy but that we practice it, that this is it, and that the people have the right, and that we who are elected by the people have the right to give choice on this occasion and on other occasions when party officers are to be elected.

I am doubly proud, however, to have been given the honor of placing our choice in nomination by reason of the fact that the man whose name I am going to offer, in my own opinion and in the opinion of the Democratic Caucus, best fits our ideal of the individual best qualified for this honored position. I refer to a man whose experience, whose character and whose sincerity is beyond question; it has been proven by his four successive terms in this Senate.

I am, therefore, proud to place in nomination the name of the Minority Leader, the Honorable John H. Dent, of Westmoreland County.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I move the nominations for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate be closed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. M. Harvey Taylor, having received 30 votes, and John H. Dent having received 20 votes, the Chair declare M. Harvey Taylor duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

VOTE MADE UNANIMOUS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before I make this motion I want to make an observation. Years ago when I first sat down to play a little penny-ante, I was told if you win the first pot and the last pot you never lose. I just received the first vote and the last vote, but somewhere along the line I didn't get enough.

So, Mr. President, I move that the vote by which the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor was elected President pro tempore of the Senate be made unanimous.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE ELECT TO THE ROSTRUM

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The oath of office will be administred to the newly elected President pro tempore by the Honorable William H. Neely, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

(The oath of office was administered accordingly.)

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Gentlemen of the Senate, if you keep on electing me President pro tempore of the Senate, they will have to carry me up.

This is a funny experience for me and I want Johnny Dent to hear it. About the only time I vote for a Democrat is when I vote for the Democratic candidate for President pro tempore of the Senate, but my Democrat never wins.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I do thank you from the bottom of my heart. It is really a compliment for an old man to be elected President of a distinguished body such as this, and I say it is the finest compliment to be paid to anybody.

I told the Governor, "Big Red," "Don't you go to Washington because I don't want any sixteeen days over there. I want two years with these fellows over here that I like," and all I can say is thank you. I will try to do a good job, I will be as fair as I know how to be and I will try not to do anything wrong. I cannot give you all the committees you ask for, because on both sides everybody wants the best committees and best chairmanships, and there are only so many, so you will have to be a little charitable to the old man, and I will do the best I can. Thank you very much.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO MAJORITY AND MINORITY FLOOR LEADERS

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The next order of business will be the administration of the oath to Majority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, and Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

Oath administered by the Honorable William H. Neely, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The next order of business before the Senate is election of Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I have the privilege of nominating for the office of Secretary of the Senate a man whom I have several times previously nominated for this office, a man who served with distinction in this Senate one term, who has very efficiently served as Secretary of the Senate during the past three Sessions, an outstanding attorney and public servant. Incidentally, he is celebrating today, as he has celebrated several dozen previous times in his life, the anniversary of his birth.

I nominate the Honorable G. Harold Watkins, of Schuylkill County.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, at this time I wish to make an announcement on behalf of the Democratic contingent here in the Senate.

Previous to now it has always been the custom for the Minority to present names for the various Offices of the Senate in order to show their preferences. However, the time has come when we must set aside purely political consideration; after all, in the final analysis, that is all we would be doing today, we would be giving consideration to political feelings by presenting a set of names for the Offices which will be filled by members of the Majority Party.

We are at present, as we all know, engaged in a condition of world affairs, when any sign of unity, any sign of encouragement to all of our peoples, no matter how small it may be, will give some lift to the general morale, and in order that we start this Senate Session in a manner that the people will understand, let our first and foremost consideration during this Session of the Legislature, above and beyond all other considerations, be a striving for the unity of our peoples towards a common objective.

Therefore, on behalf of the Minority members of the Senate, we second the nominations of all of the Officers to be elected to the Senate of Pennsylvania as nominated by the Majority Party.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore Are there any further nominations?

PRESENTATION OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ELECT

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. I think it would be very apropos at this time to have a word or two from our newly elected Lieutenant Governor. He was a Member of the House for many years and a fine Senator, and I just don't feel right having my back on him all the time. I would like him to say a few words to all of us.

REMARKS BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ELECT

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR-ELECT LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. President, Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen, inasmuch as it will be necessary for me to make a few remarks at my inauguration in this Chamber two weeks hence, I feel that I should confine my remarks on this occasion to the minimum. However, I would like to say that I feel deeply grateful for the high honor that has been conferred upon me by the electorate of our great Commonwealth. I shall do the best I can to discharge my duties impartially.

In conclusion, I wish you all, if it is not too late, a Happy New Year and a successful administration.

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1951.

Resolved, That the Honorable Robert E. Woodside a Judge learned in the law, of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution, to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HON. ROBERT E. WOODSIDE TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK appointed Messrs. Ziegler and Yester to escort the Hon. Robert E. Woodside to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member-elect for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office.

The oath of office was then administered to two hundred and five Members-elect.

ADDRESS OF HONORABLE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair at this time requests His Honor, Judge Woodside, to address the Members.

HONORABLE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE. Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House: For the last five regular sessions it has been my privilege and my honor to administer the oath to the Members of this House of Representatives. During the five previous sessions I had the honor of serving as a Member of this House.

Looking out from this rostrum I see many good friends who served with me. But each session as I come here I find their number decreasing. At the top of the alphabetical list of those remaining is my old friend, "Hi" Andrews. I have long since learned to respect him as an excellent legislator. He has Atleeian philosophy which he expresses in Churchillian language and as Jack Cummings said in his article yesterday, "He is cantankerous enough to make a good Minority Leader."

At the bottom of the alphabetical list of those who served with me is my friend, "Wils" Yeakel, a Member when I first came to the House. He has been serving this Commonwealth faithfully and capably for many years. On the roll between those two are many good friends, including your most competent Speaker.

My good friend Bill Habbyshaw who served with me from the Second Legislative District of Dauphin County remained with the House to serve as your Chief Clerk.

Along the side I see many former Members, a number of whom are now serving the Comonwealth in various other capacities. There is something about serving in the Legislature that makes its Members a little closer than those with whom we serve in most other capacities.

At times I wish I had the privilege of proposing to you certain legislation which is suggested to one serving on the Bench, but I take it that it is neither my right nor my privilege to make any such suggestions at this time.

Because of world conditions this House will face some serious problems. After all you make the rules by which the game of life, in Pennsylvania at least, is played. Thus every session of the House is important, for you have always a very serious and important work to perform.

To the new Members I say that I hope you will make many friends here and that you will get much satisfaction out of your service, and that you will enjoy your service here as much as I enjoyed mine.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Moran for Mr. JENKINS on account of illness.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. HALL offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1951.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the clerks act as Tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

The CHIEF CLERK. The House will now proceed to the election of a Speaker. Nominations are in order.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chief Clerk. Just ten years ago, a young man, a newly elected Member of this House, took his oath of office, the same as we have done today. He swore to uphold the Constitutions of our Country and State and to discharge the duties of his office with fidelity.

This young man is still with us. Many of us assembled here today have had the honor and pleasure of working with him.

He has served us and the people of this great Commonwealth with distinction. In 1945 he served as majority whip, in 1947 as majority leader, and when the Honorable Franklin Lichtenwalter was elected to represent his district in the Halls of Congress, this young man ascended to the office of Acting Speaker.

In 1949 in recognition of a job well done, he was elected to the high office of Speaker for the 1949-50 session.

During this session, more will be required of the Speaker than at any time in the history of our great Commonwealth. Today, we, as a Nation, are facing the most critical times since the dark days of Valley Forge—a time when the very principles of our government are challenged by the terrible threat to all decent civilization—the threat of communism.

I know of no one who has better qualifications,—ability, honesty, loyalty, courage and above all, the desire to be fair to both the minority and majority parties.

It gives me great satisfaction and pleasure to place in nomination, the name of the gentleman from Elk, The Honorable Herbert P. Sorg, for Speaker of this House.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Chief Clerk, Members of the House, it is an inspiring thrill to again be in attendance at this opening session of the 1951 Legislative Assembly, to meet all my good old friends, and to meet many new ones who are here with us today.

I am sure we are all aware of the vital importance of this session of the Legislature and of the importance of our individual responsibilities to the people of this Commonwealth. It is here in the Hall of this House that our people have their most direct contact and representation in government affairs. It is this very thing which has been so ruthlessly taken away from so many other people throughout the world and which even today is being very seriously threatened in our own nation. It is our sworn duty to preserve what we as Representatives have sworn to preserve, this representative government, and to enact those laws which will preserve the general welfare of our nation and make Pennsylvania a monument of democracy. To do this thing it will take understanding and cooperation amongst us, and it will call for strong leadership.

The man who holds office in this Assembly should have the confidence and respect of all of the people of this Commonwealth. He should be able; he should be fair-minded and just; he must be patient. He must, I think, most of all have a burning desire to see that right is done. In selecting a Speaker I think we are indeed fortunate that we have a man in this House who has proven his worth by past service in the House. He has truly done a magnificent job and we who have had the opportunity to serve with him know that he possesses these qualities. I can say to the new Members that you will not know Herb Sorg long and escape that conclusion. I know, as all of you who knew him must know, that he will serve as our Speaker with distinction, and will bring honor and dignity to all of us and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Chief Clerk, it is with genuine pride and sincere personal satisfaction that I second the nomination of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Herbert P. Sorg, as Speaker of this House.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Chief Clerk, I arise with a great deal of pleasure at this time to place in nomination the name of an able man who has served in this House with great distinction.

His many attributes can be attested to by the fact that the people of his Legislative District have sent him as their Representative for ten consecutive terms to this House. As presiding officer, this man will be fair and capable. So it is with great honor that I present the name of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. James E. Lovett, to serve as Speaker of this House of Representatives.

Mr. STANK. Mr. Chief Clerk, it is certainly a privilege to be on the floor of this House to second the nomination of the gentleman from Westmoreland, the Honorable James E. Lovett for Speaker of the House. For eighteen years we have served in the House together and I am sure the older Members of the House will agree with me that Jim "Let's be fair" Lovett will make an excellent presiding officer for the Membership on both sides of this House.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Chief Clerk, I move that nominations for Speaker of the House be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

The CHIEF CLERK. The roll will now be called. Each Member will announce distinctly, when his name is called, the candidate for whom he votes.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. Members of the House, I have the honor to present the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg Speaker-elect of this House of Representatives.

The oath of office was then administered to the Honorable Herbert P. Sorg Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives, by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

THE SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) IN THE CHAIR

ADDRESS BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Mr. Chief Clerk, Fellow Members, Friends, even in the most ordinary circumstances we members of this House of Representatives, because of our particular function in the Government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have a serious obligation. As individual members we must reflect the will of the thousands of people in our respective districts, and collectively, as a lawmaking body, we are answerable to the millions of people of all of Pennsylvania. In this Legislative Hall, the general welfare of all the people is the issue, and we are guilty of injustice when we do not think and speak and act toward the solution of our problems in the light of its effect on the daily lives of every man, woman, and child in this great Commonwealth of ours, without regard for party, creed, or station in life or extent of political influence.

But these are not ordinary circumstances under which we meet here today. All of us together will be a most vital part in the direction and planning of what a great State like Pennsylvania can do in a period of national emergency such as is now in existence. And it isn't enough to say that we're in a crisis. We must give full realization to the fact that the people of America and the people of Pennsylvania, whom we have been chosen to represent, are in the gravest kind of danger. The issue of general welfare as it confronts us now is not a matter of economics nearly so much as it is a matter of our very existence as a free people—it is a matter of what must be done for protection rather than a matter of economic planning, and if there never was a Session of the General Assembly before when it was all-important that partisanship be relegated to the background it must be done this time; because our obligation to the people who have sent us here is so very much more serious at this time.

It is a great honor to be selected Speaker of this House, for which I shall be ever indebted and grateful to all of you.

Because I am so confident of the sincerity and integrity of both the majority and minority leadership on the floor of this House and of their willingness to cooperate for the sake of an orderly determination of the issues that will come before us, I am most happy to accept the responsibility that goes with this high honor.

To all of you I appeal for the same tolerance and the same generous understanding that I have experienced in the past on this rostrum, and I want to assure you that my gratitude will be exceeded only by earnest desire to be right and deserving in the performance of the duties of the office.

THANKS EXTENDED TO CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the Chief Clerk, Honorable William E. Habbyshaw for the able manner in which he has conducted the organization proceedings.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair will now proceed to the election of a Chief Clerk.

Mr. WATKINS offered a resolution which was read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1951.

Resolved, That William E. Habbyshaw of Dauphin County, be elected Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. Are there any other nominations?

Mr. CLARENCE E. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the nominations for Chief Clerk be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On a rising vote the resolution was unanimously adopted and Honorable William E. Habbyshaw was declared elected Chief Clerk of the House.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

Mr. FLACK offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1951.

Resolved, That William P. Roan of Luzerne County, be elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, since we must needs accept Members of the opposition as officers of this House, among Republicans we prefer Habbyshaw and Roan.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the nominations for Secretary be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On a rising vote the resolution was unanimously adopted and Honorable William P. Roan was declared elected Secretary of the House.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Mr. Watkins and Mrs. Varallo as a committee to escort the Chief Clerk and Secretary to the Bar of the House where the oath of office will be administered to them.

If there are any Members-elect who have not yet taken the oath of office, they will present themselves at the Bar of the House.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The oath of office was then administered to William E. Habbyshaw, Chief Clerk-elect and William P. Roan, Secretary-elect of the House by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk, Honorable William E. Habbyshaw.

Honorable WILLIAM E. HABBYSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I, like Judge Woodside, served five terms in the House and since then I have served the House as its Chief Clerk. I might say that is one time that I can remember as a great time in my life.

The old Members I think all know me pretty well. As for the new Members I, as the Chief Clerk, and Mr. Roan as the Secretary, will be just as fair to all the Members of the House as we always have been.

I want to thank the Democratic party, because I believe this is the first time in my eighteen or twenty years around here that there was not a candidate put up for Chief Clerk or Secretary of the House. I thank you all.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House, Honorable William P. Roan.

Honorable WILLIAM P. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, it has been an honor and pleasure to serve as your Secretary for a number of years. I want to thank the entire membership for reelecting me.

As Bill Habbyshaw told you, the Members of both parties, are always welcome in our offices whenever we can be of service to you. Thank you again.

The Chair recognizes the Parliamentarian.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank you for reappointing me as Parliamentarian of this House.

May I say to you who are serving your first term it will be a privilege for me to render any assistance to you within my power or ability.

That same invitation is, of course, extended to all Members.

I know we are going to have a very interesting session, and I am delighted to have the privilege of again having the opportunity of serving you.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin County, for his services in administering the oath of office to its Members and Officers.

THANKS EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. In the organization of this House there always are presented many problems, and in session after session Mr. Clarence Conner of Delaware County has ably solved them.

The gentleman from Delaware County Mr. Conner is requested to come to the Bar of the House to receive this gift.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, coming from Delaware County, we were taught never to miss an opportunity to say something whenever we had a chance.

It has been a real pleasure for me over the past fourteen years to be part of the opening exercises, starting back in my days with my friend Ellwood Turner, then with Elmer Kilroy and so on down to date you have heard the story.

The success, if I have had any, has been because of the splendid cooperation from the Members. I want you to know that I aprreciate it mightily. I appreciate the gift today and shall look forward to seeing you from time to time. For 1951 you have my best wishes for a very happy and a very successful session. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. For the past several weeks we have been very much concerned with whether or not we would have any facilities for this meeting today. Our desks are now in order and they will be kept in order because of the services performed by Frank Hoffman, Deputy Secretary of the House and his crew of workers, who have rendered very efficient services. We recognize the days and nights during this holiday season that they have worked on our behalf and we request that he present himself to the Bar of the House to receive this gift.

APPOINTMENT OF MAJORITY LEADER AND WHIP

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, and the Chair hears none, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, for the purpose of making an announcement to the House.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Republican Caucus, I have been instructed to announce for the information of the Members of the House and for the record that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, has been elected by the Republican Caucus as Majority Leader of the House, and that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, has been elected Majority Whip of the House.

Mr. YEAKEL offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 2, 1951.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House of Representatives is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the Session.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with business, Messrs. Yeakel, Haudenshield and Swope.

The Committee will proceed in the performance of its duties.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the invitation extended to the Members by the Parliamentarian to drop around to study up on parliamentary law reminds me how times have changed. I well can remember the time when it was proposed to a Speaker to start a school of instruction in parliamentary law. And do you know what the Speaker said? "Start a school to teach those so and sos parliamentary law? They know too much parliamentary law already."

I have reason today, Mr. Speaker, to address myself to a matter of mutual interest and concern. I hold in my hand a covenant—a covenant with the people of Pennsylvania. This covenant was adopted by the Republican party on September 9, 1950.

It is true that a cynical press in Pittsburgh in its comment said that it was window dressing, that it contained promises of things that could not be done, promises of everything.

I shall not refer to that,—that is not my thought at this time. I do not care to discuss whether the provisions of this covenant are right or wrong, or to what extent or in what sense they are right. That remains for another day.

I do claim the privilege however of very briefly pointing out some of the assuring pledges or promises which this covenant contains.

I am gratified to note that as far as our civilian defense is concerned it is all right, because I read that Pennsylvania is in every way prepared to confront any emergency, and I also note that we have a civilian defense organiation already organized which will care for any emergency. I shall not belittle it as far as this document is concerned. I am told we can be assured as far as city defense is concerned.

I also notice that this Legislature will devote itself to the task of modernizing, the framework of our Government, which leads me to wonder, if we must modernize the framework of our state government, what in the world have we been doing during the last three administrations?

I also note that we are going to rewrite the Labor laws and bring our unemployment compensation up to the level of the cost of living. I also note the municipal building program in the City of Philadelphia, and that we are going to modernize our health code.

But above everything else, Mr. Speaker, the vision that brings joy to my heart, and I presume joy to the hearts of all the Members of this Assembly is the assurance for those who pondered our situation, and I have no doubt pondered it at length, reached the same conclusion, that it was possible to finance the needs of our government without any money. There was not a direct commitment to that effect however.

It shall be our endeavor, Mr. Speaker, to try to find areas of agreement. It shall be our endeavor to take as many questions affecting the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth out of the arena of partisan politics as is humanly possible. There are many similar areas in these two covenants, and where those covenants are similar, we can assure the Governor of this Commonwealth that we will uphold his hands in redeeming the promises to which both parties have mutually been committed.

Now, Mr. Speaker, you know there is a function for a minority party. A minority party is the only evidence we have that we are a democracy. If we just had one party and no minority party we wouldn't be a demoracy. That is one of the reasons why in future sessions I shall proclaim on behalf not only of the minority, not only of our membership on this side of the House, but upon the part of the electorate of Pennsylvania, that the voice of the minority be heard and the suggestions of the minority be considered.

The Republican covenant closes with the statement that the Almighty will help this Administration keep all the promises which the party covenant contains. I fear, Mr. Speaker, that if the Almighty is to be saddled with the task of seeing that all of the pledges of the covenant are kept, the majority party of the state of Pennsylvania has handed the Almighty a mighty big job.

I offer for the record a two party covenant, the platform of the Republican party and the platform of the Democratic party and ask that they be read into the record where they may remain available for the instruction of this House.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the documents will be spread upon the Journal of the House. The Chair hears no objection.

PLATFORM OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY OF PENNSYLVANIA ADOPTED AT PITTSBURGH, PA. SEPTEMBER 9, 1950

In this country's confused state caused by Democratic mismanagement of national affairs, our public officials must have competency, stability, balance and restraint.

Events have proved that both the Democratic National Administration and its satellite candidates for office in Pennsylvania, are completely destitute of these requisites for good government.

Our Nation, currently, is at its lowest ebb in international prestige. A so-called "police action" in Korea, quickly blossomed into full-fledged war. What the President has been calling "the Red Herring of Communism," has been changed into a red trail of American blood across Korea. Our nation faces potential world conflict totally unprepared. The blame for Russia's unquestioned advantage in Asia today, lies directly upon the Democratic doorstep.

Diplomatically and militarily, the Truman Administration bungled the Korean situation, with near disaster to our Country. Americans have been duped as to the security of the United States. The Democratic Administration repeatedly, has stubbornly refused to alert the country to the real danger of subversive activities within our borders.

We are today a confused, unprepared people because of secret, incompetent diplomacy. We have had foisted upon us a deliberately false theory which substituted economic for military bolstering of United Nation's allies long under threat of Red domination.

In sharp contrast, Pennsylvania is fully prepared, in every way, for any emergency which may confront nation or Commonwealth. This enviable position is due, principally, to the foresightedness and courage of Governor James H. Duff, his Administration and an alert Republican Legislature and Congressional delegation.

Pennsylvanians wholeheartedly join all Americans in supporting the war effort. But, we deplore with all our vigor, our national unpreparedness to effectively safeguard our country, our liberties and our American way of life.

We deplore and condem the use of the processes of the United States Courts for political purposes.

Governor Duff has given Pennsylvania an Administration unparalleled in efficient, economical accomplishments doing the most good for the greatest number. We stand committed to furtherance of this great record of accomplishments, and we will seek new fields to benefit our people.

The Republican Party in Pennsylvania is a proved party of action. It presents Pennsylvanians with men and women of action. We pledge anew, our determination to do for the people what they cannot do for themselves, sensibly, efficiently and economically.

We insist that the individual must be given the opportunity to face the future with confidence. He must have the right of personal initiative to forge ahead by his own efforts and to provide for his own future, undeterred by the dead-hand of Federal regulation, over-burdensome taxes and denial to participate in affairs of common concern.

This can best be accomplished through up-to-date government properly and capably administered for the benefit of all our people. We pledge to devote ourselves to the modernizing of the framework of our state government. We advocate a State Convention to consider changes to bring the Constitution of our Commonwealth more in line with the needs of the day. We will reapportion the State's Legislative and Congressional districts.

National Affairs

Our Country faces the most serious crisis in our history. As the result of our involvement in the International situation, it is impossible to overestimate the danger to our National security. For the first time in the history of America we face a threat to our very existence as a Nation. As the leader of the free people of today's world, we have extended our commitments on a world-wide basis without likewise developing our strength to enable us to make those commitments effective. Unless we immediately arouse ourselves, both to our dangers and to our present inability to meet those dangers, our failure may well be fatal, not alone to our freedom but to free people everywhere.

The Republican Party pledges all out support to our Armed Forces to the full extent of everything we have and everything we are.

To give our Military forces the fullest support, the mistakes of the present National Administration must be corrected immediately in every branch of the Government.

The time has come for the National Democratic Administration to take the American people into its confidence; to define clearly its present and future policy. Our people must know these policies and how it is planned for them to be realized. The days of soothing syrups, half measures and false optimism are gone. These are days of great danger. They call for measures of certainty and power. These days call for action instead of inaction. They call for frankness with the people instead of dishonest political maneuvers at a time when the whole National security is at stake. We have lost the Cold War. We dare not lose the Hot War!

The Present National Democratic Administration has been guilty of the greatest waste and extravagance of public funds of this or any other Nation in the whole course of history.

From the beginning of the Administration of George Washington through the year 1940, a period of 152 years, the total expenses of operating the Government of the United States for all purposes whatsoever, and including the whole cost of the War of 1812, the cost of the Mexican War in 1846, the cost of the four years of the Civil War from 1861 to 1865, the cost of the Spanish-American War in 1898, and the complete cost of World War I during 1917 and 1918 was 168 billion dollars.

Yet, the present National Democratic Administion, through waste, extravagance, incompetence and inefficiency, during the last five years of the Truman Administration, has spent 214 billion dollars, or 48 billion dollars more to run the Government in the first 152 years of our history. And still the country is poorly and inadequately prepared to meet the crisis we now face.

Unless this waste and extravagance in our National Government is immediately eliminated, it will be impossible to prepare the kind of defense necessary for our survival.

In the present terrible National emergency every other problem and consideration must give way to the imperative necessity of erecting an impregnable National defense. The Republican Party pledges itself to take all measures and do all things necessary to erect such a defense and to do so now, before it is too late.

Communism

Of most immediate concern to all Americans is the inroads Communism is making in our country with the blessing of the Democratic National Administration.

Communism and its adherents have no place in the United States. Nor have the Socialist planned state theories sponsored by the Democratic National Administration.

Communism menaces America today because the Democratic Administration has constantly weakened our vigilance by creating a false sense of preparedness and security against Communism.

The Democratic party's secret agreements entered into at Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam gave Soviet Russia vast territories in Manchuria, Poland, Yugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Hungary, and enslaved more than 200,000,000 people.

Republican attempts in Congress to expose Communists in government have been rediculed and thwarted by the Democratic Administration.

Unlike the Democrats, the Republican party does not seek, does not welcome and has repulsed support from Communists. Further, we pledge every effort to combat this political plague on the world. We will provide special protection to our people and our industries against Communist spies and saboteurs, through an already established Civilian Defense.

We will assist labor to rid itself of Communist members and protect labor Unions against infiltration of Communists.

We advocate legislation compelling Communists to register and providing the death penalty for any person found guilty of sabotage.

Education

The Duff Administration and a vigorous Republican Legislature have advanced Pennsylvania's educational facilities and the pay and security of teachers to unprecedented heights.

The Republican party recognizes its responsibilities to continuously elevate the state's educational system to an eminence unsurpassed in the country. Our children are entitled to the best educational facilities available, maintained at the highest standards by the most capable, best paid teachers. To these ends, we re-dedicate ourselves.

We will consider increasing teachers' pay and retirement benefits, additional aid to teachers' colleges, expansion of the Public School Building Authority and further State aid to Local School Districts.

We pledge strictest enforcement of the School Code in all School Districts.

We recommend that the Joint State Government Commission be directed by the General Assembly to study the feasibility of establishing medical and dental schools under the administration of State College so that the young men and young women of Pennsylvania who so desire, may not be deprived of the opportunity of acquiring a medical education.

We favor establishment of a free City College in Philadelphia and pledge State co-operation.

Highways

We pledge a continuation of the highway policies, principles and practices of the Duff Administration which established Pennsylvania foremost of all states in the entire field of highway endeavor and accomplishment.

We pledge the construction, reconstruction, resurfacing and widening of all segments of the State Highway System (Primary, Rural, Secondary and Urban) where such improvements will assure the greatest benefit to the highway users and the utmost development of our defense efforts and peace-time economy.

We pledge a balanced program of highway and street improvements which will recognize not only the actual economic values and benefits of highway development, but also the social concepts of highway values in the rural areas where the character of the roads has such an enormous bearing on the very existence of the population in their varied and necessary activities.

We pledge financial aid to the local levels of government for street and highway development based on policies established after careful study and analysis of the transportation needs of the respective communities.

We pledge continuation of efficient management of highway administration which results in the largest possible percentage of the highway tax dollar being available for construction improvements.

We pledge continuance of the Highway Planning Commission.

Public Health

We pledge to Pennsylvanians the finest public health program of the Nation.

We pledge the continuance of a program to provide increased recreational facilities for the healthful enjoyment of all our citizens.

We are unalterably opposed to socialized medicine.

We recommend voluntary health insurance programs for hospitals and individuals which will more adequately care for the health needs of our people, than any regimented program directed by the Federal Government.

As steps toward public health leadership for our men, women, and children the Republican Party pledges:

The Secretary of Health shall be selected for his proven experience, formal training, and leadership in the specialty of public health.

A decentralized system of full-time, local health services shall be established under highest standards set by State health authorities. Home rule responsibility in county health districts will be encouraged to bring public health services closer to the public.

Professional qualifications shall solely govern key professional, technical, and executive positions in the state and local health departments.

Training and demonstration centers shall be established to provide renewed opportunties for qualified Health Department personnel to meet these high professional standards.

To replace and clarify archaic laws and conflicting, outmodeled statutes, a modern Health Code shall be enacted. It will reflect the best medical, scientific, legal and administrative practices of the 1950's.

We pledge legislation so that the state government may assume responsibility for the maintenance of hospitals for contagious diseases.

Welfare

We pledge expansion of the current Administration's outstanding mental health program with continued emphasis on prevention, care and treatment.

We pledge the furtherance of a penal and correctional program which will tend toward education and training of the inmates so that, upon discharge, they will be better equipped to take their rightful place in society.

We recommend consideration of a plan to return Public Assistance to the political sub-division at the county level.

Under Governor Duff, a new concept of mental health administration was initiated. This program will continue. University psychiatric institutes shall be so developed that the service of the State of Pennsylvania renders to the mentally ill will be second to none.

Agriculture

Pennsylvania farmers are noted for their skill and efficiency. Their two billion dollar industry makes a most important contribution to the State's economy.

Through the years, Pennsylvania farmers have found the Republican Party and its state administration, receptive to their problems, prompt to act upon them, and positive and progressive in planning for the broad needs of a highly productive and prosperous agriculture.

Furthering this policy, the Republican Party in Pennsylvania has encouraged the control and eradication of plant, animal diseases and insect pests has initiated and promoted agricultural education and agricultural research; has enacted laws under which farmers could incorporate to sell, collectively, under products and buy, collectively, the articles they need; has continually cooperated with farmers in the broad field of conservation has striven to obtain a balance between labor, agriculture and industry, for the welfare of each, and has encouraged the extension of utility services into rural areas.

These things the Republican Party has fostered to the end that Pennsylvania agriculture rates with the best in the country. The Republican Party pledges its continued support to this primary industry.

We recommend that the Joint State Government Commission be directed by the General Assembly to study the feasibility of establishing a veterinarian school at State College.

Pennsylvania pioneered establishment of pure food laws.

The Republican Party consistently has supported enactment of pure food laws for the protection of consumers against fraud, deception, adulteration, misbranding and sale of unwholesome food products.

The Republican Party will continue to support, encourage and maintain legislation that assures protection of our food industries and consumers in the manufacture and sale of pure and wholesome products.

Recognizing that conditions in the milk industry have changed since milk control legislation was enacted in Pennsylvania, the Republican Party recommends that the Joint State Government Commission make a thorough study of the whole problem of milk control for the purpose of making corrective recommendations to the General Assembly of 1951.

Veterans

The Republican Party welcomes the increasing interest of Pennsylvania war veterans in governmental activities.

The Republican Administration pledged, passed and paid a liberal bonus to Pennsylvania Veterans of World War II. To assure completion of this program, we favor extension of the date for filing application for payment.

We pledge the full cooperation of all agencies of the Commonwealth to assist servicemen and women and their families and dependents.

We pledge veterans' Preference for all Civil Service positions and we further pledge that we will strengthen existing laws of protect this preference.

We pledge the enactment of a permanent, nonresident military voting law.

Youth

We are committed to a progressive program which will promote greater opportunities for young men and women, so that they may have opportunity and advancement in business, commerce, agriculture, and industry.

We pledge to youth an increasing share of elective and appointive positions within the Party organization and in government at all levels.

We commend Young Republicans for their increased interest in governmental affairs.

Women

We pledge the appointment of at least one woman to the Governor's Cabinet.

We pledge equal consideration for women in governmental and party posts, especially at executive and policy-making levels.

Taxation

We will continue the consistent Republican policy of sound financing and governmental solvency. Commonwealth taxes will be kept at the lowest possible level.

Taxes, if needed to provide for the internal security of the Commonwealth and for the general welfare of all the people of Pennsylvania, will be levied without placing undue burdens upon any group or class.

Due to the uncertainty of world conditions, the amount of funds required for the next budget is impossible of prediction at this time. However, there have been favorable changes in the State's financial prospects in recent months. It is reasonably certain that revenues from existing taxes will be higher than expected. Some forms of expenditures, notably Public Assistance, are certain to be less.

We propose to eliminate the Soft Drink Tax. We are mindful that new obligations have to be financed. But we anticipate that the increases in revenue, and the decrease in expenditures arising from this changed situation, coupled with strict economy and good management, will be sufficient to avoid any additional taxes.

Labor

Under succeeding Republican administrations,

Pennsylvania has become a great industrial state. Both labor and Industry have made gains. We pledge to maintain those gains while adding to them.

We favor strengthening the Workmen's Compensation Act and increasing the benefits under this Act to adequately compensate injured employees commensurate with the increased cost of living and the decreased purchasing power of the dollar.

We believe that the employee who is permanently and totally disabled should be compensated for the full period of time during which the total disability exists.

We believe that all occupational diseases should be compensatory and that compensation for occupational diseases should be comparable to payment for accidental injuries.

We favor enactment of a minimum wage law as provided by Federal statute.

We believe that the Women's Hour Law should be amended to provide for equal pay for women doing the same type of work as that performed by men.

We believe it is possible to materially improve and strengthen the present machinery set up to handle labor disputes. The Republican Party pledges its co-operation and that of the Administration, to strengthening the Labor Relations Department so that will contribute to a greater extent to the elimination and settlement of labor disputes and strikes.

The Republican Party believes it is possible to strengthen and clarify the present statutory law relative to injunctions in labor disputes so as to prevent abuses where they exist. The Republican Party pledges itself to a sincere thorough study of the problem and to the passage of equitable remedial legislation.

The Republican Party favors legislation requiring all branches of the State Government to pay the prevailing wage rate on all contracts awarded by the Commonwealth.

We recommend that the General Assembly direct the Joint State Government Commission to make a thorough study of Disability Benefits Laws and report their findings to the Assembly at the earliest possible date.

We will support a program aimed to develop knowledge through labor extension education on practices in negotiating, and carrying out collective bargaining activities and agreements. This program to develop "know-how" and the knowledge of labor management legislation among the representatives of labor will assure equal standing in collective bargaining negotiations, will encourage the substitution of intelligence for force and strikes, and will work toward the elimination of compulsory provisions of labor management legislation upon both labor and management alike.

Local Government

Proper distribution of governmental powers is the only safeguard of liberty. We therefore uphold the right of political sub-divisions to self government.

Civil Rights

American civil rights are inherent and inalienable. We hereby pledge that every Pennsylvanian, regardless of sex, race, origin, or religion will have equal protection and equal opportunity.

We pledge the immediate enactment of an effective and adequate Fair Employment Practice Law.

Commerce and Industry

As the greatest industrial State in the Union, Pennsylvania owes much to the thousands of citizens who have invested their savings in private industry.

The Republican Party is therefore pledged to keep this Commonwealth a place where the investor, the laborer and the management of commercial enterprise can work in harmony and to the profit of each.

We promise alert and aggressive action by Pennsylvania's representatives in the United States Senate and House of Representatives against Democratic efforts to remove Pennsylvania's industry to the great injury of labor and agriculture.

We pledge vigorous and determined action by the Republican Representatives in Congress for fair, equitable and American treatment for Pennsylvania in the matter of industrial priorities.

We will co-operate with the Anthracite and Bituminous Coal Industry and the mine workers in the improvement of coal mining practices. To improve Pennsylvania's competitive position, we will stimulate co-operative research leading to the development of new uses of anthracite and bituminous coal and their by-products.

We pledge to continue and expand the co-operation and assistance of the State Government in the encouragement of small business as a means of providing stable Community growth and prosperity, and as a source of increased employment.

Ports of Pennsylvania

We pledge legislation to establish a Philadelphia Port Authority with power to make an agreement with the State of New Jersey for the establishment of a Delaware River Port Authority. We would supplement the existing 1931 New Jersey-Pennsylvania compact to permit the conversion of the Present Delaware River Joint Commission into the Delaware River Port Authority and to give it needed functions.

We further pledge State co-operation in the development of the Pittsburgh and Erie Ports.

Conservation

We pledge a continuance of the Duff program of conservation, reforestation and stream clearance to preserve our great natural resources and to provide healthful recreation, fishing and hunting for our citizens.

Philadelphia

We are pledged to co-operate with the City of Philadelphia in the preservation and development of watersheds as future sources of domestic and industrial water supply for Philadelphia and vicinity.

We pledge the State Legislature to passage for the second time, the Philadelphia City-County Consolidation Bill so that it may be submitted to the State for vote.

Conclusion

The preceding Republican Administrations have contributed greatly to the advancement of our Commonwealth and their contributions have enhanced its welfare materially.

This platform represents the honest and sincere intent of the Republican Party of Pennsylvania to further the interests, security and welfare of our people.

It symbolizes our purpose of keeping Pennsylvania modern in Government structure and in proper assistance to our citizens.

With God's help we will conform to its precepts.

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE, SEPTEMBER 16, 1950

1. Reorganization of State Government

A State "Hoover Commission" to modernize State agencies and effect economies by eliminating overlapping and waste; efficient administration by the best qualified personnel in all offces, from highest to lowest, with full recognition of women in executive and administrative posts.

A commission modeled on President Truman's federal government reorganization commission on which ex-President Hoover served as chairman will be appointed to modernize our state government and equip it for present days needs. Politically devised methods of personnel administration result in 20 percent of the Commonwealth's employees doing 80 percent of the work. There are at least 3,000 unnecessary employees on the state payroll. Methods of financing, accounting and auditing are relics of the 18th Century. The present Republican administration has made this situation worse by an apparently deliberate policy of discrimination against women, and is the only administration in modern times which has not had a woman in the Cabinet. The record of the present Republican candidate for Governor indicates a similar discriminatory tendency. The Democratic Party will recognize intelligence and ability in state employment without discrimination of sex, race, creed, color or national origin.

2. State Constitution

A new Constitution for Pennsylvania

The structure of the present state government was established in 1874. It is outmoded and archaic, inadequate to meet the needs of modern times. A new Constitution geared to the present-day responsibilities and obligation of state government is necessary if we are to have a government operating in an efficient, business-like way.

3. Reapportionment and Elections

Reapportionment of congressional and legislative districts; revision of election laws to increase safeguards against fraud and intimidation; a permanent absentee voting law for men and women in military service.

The Pennsylvania Constitution requires reapportionment of legislative districts every ten years, upon completion of the decennial Federal census. In flagrant disregard of this mandate, Republican state administrations have refused to permit reapportionment since the census of 1920. In the only year in which the Democrats controlled both houses of the legislature (1937), a reapportionment bill was passed and signed by the Governor. It was promptly declared unconstitutional by Republican judges of the state courts. The Democratic Party will enact a fair reapportionment law, giving adequate representation on the basis of population to all parts of the State.

In certain urban communities, one-party political control has resulted in widespread fraud and intimidation of voters. In such areas it has been impossible for the minority party to obtain watchers at the polls and other election officials to insure a fair and free election. Legislation will be enacted to prevent this totalitarian perversion of Democracy and to safeguard the sanctity of the secret ballot.

4. Taxation

A non-partisan expert commission to recommend an equitable system of taxation, based on ability to pay, to provide revenue for the legitimate needs of the State.

The present tax laws of Pennsylvania are a chaotic hodge-podge of unscientific and un-coordinated tax levies. Administration of these laws by Republican machine political henchmen has resulted in widespread tax evasion by special-privilege interests. Republican controlled administrations and legislatures have enacted retrogressive taxation, bearing most heavily on the consumer and those least able to pay.. Extravagance of the Duff Administration has resulted in a financial crisis which will call for drastic action by the next State administration.

The Democratic Party will appoint a commission of experts, without political ties, to recommend a modern and simplified tax system based on ability to pay, which will raise the money necessary to wipe out Republican deficits and provide revenuue adequate for efficient government economically administered.

The tax burden must not be loaded on the shoulders of those who purchase consumer goods essential to decent living. An example of this type of tax is the soft-drink tax enacted by the Republican legislature in the 1947 session and renewed by the same Duff controlled legislature in 1949. The Democratic members of the House and Senate, practically to a man, opposed this tax, and we will continue to oppose it. Only the bludgeoning of Governor Duff made the enactment of this tax possible.

5. Communism

Relentless war upon the Communistic foe at home and abroad with every weapon that can be used within the framework of the Constitution.

America, under Democratic leadership, has rallied the forces of the free world in the battle against Communism and has preserved the faith of its people in the benefits of our free way of life. While the Republicans have opposed Communism with empty words and political harangues, the Democratic Party has consistently and successfully fought Communism with action. We condemn the inaction of the Republican state administration which has failed to use and to enforce existing laws against sedition and subversive activity.

6. Atomic Protection

A comprehensive state-wide atomic defense, protection, rescue, evacuation and medical treatment system based upon latest scientific knowledge, directed and manned by the best qualified personnel available anywhere in America and keyed to national civilian and military war plans.

Our state government today is unprepared and virtually without even plans, to say nothing of effective organization, to deal with the problems of atomic attack. World War II methods cannot meet the needs of the atomic age. The present lack of effective state leadership represents not only a hazard to every citizen, but a gross injustice to those public-spirited volunteers who are engaged in civilian defense.

7. Civil Rights

Full civil rights for all our people in employment, security of person and family; eradication of discrimination based on race, religion, sex, color or national origin; a state Fair Employment Practice Commission with adequate enforcement powers.

Pennsylvania's Democratic Congressmen and Democratic members of the legislature fought for fair employment practice legislation. Consistent with their practice of promising everything and giving nothing, Governor Duff and his reactionary legislature killed fair employment practice legislation.

We pledge the abolition of state supported, segregated schools and of segregated divisions of the Commonwealth's fighting forces, and we will take statutory steps to curb search-and-seizure raids to the end that Pennsylvania practices may be brought into conformity with federal law.

We recognize the many patriotic contributions made by Americans of foreign birth and pledge them equal opportunity to work in every field and to participate in public service.

8. Veterans

Effective administration of existing laws relating to veterans, and adequate provision for funds to be used for the physical rehabilitation and vocational training of veterans.

The Duff administration and its Republican predecessors have shown a shocking disregard for the welfare of our war veterans and have failed to give them the full benefit of existing legislation. The Democratic Party in the state and nation have always stood for and will continue to fight for adequate aid for veterans in housing, for state and federal cooperation in the veteran's interest, and for the extension of physical rehabilitation and vocational training programs.

9. Organized Crime

Revision of our Criminal Code to deal effectively with organized vice and crime.

Effective legislation is needed to protect our citizens from organized crime. Corruption of governments begins with protection of criminals who conduct their nefarous operations with the knowledge, consent and participation of political bosses. Only by destroying this vicious alliance will we wipe out juvenile delinquency and break up the criminal syndicates, which can exist only by corrupting our law-enforcement agencies.

10. Labor

Liberalized non-optional workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance coverage, definitions and benefits, including sickness, disability and complete occupational disease coverage; a fair anti-injunction law which will require hearings before the issuance of temporary injunctions and jury trials before the issuance of permament injunctions in labor disputes; a wages and hours law modeled after the federal act, granting minimum wages of 75c per hour and requiring all branches of government to pay prevailing wage rates on contracts; full protection and equality for women in industry with equal pay for equal work; effective administration of existing safety, regulatory and sanitation laws; repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act; restoration of the 1937 State Labor Relations Act; railroad crew requirements based upon the general practice in the industry; and repeal of all anti-labor legislation enacted by successive Republican legislatures since 1939.

In 1937 the Democratic administration, carrying out its platform pledges by legislative enactment, placed Pennsylvania in second position on the list of states in its compensation to injured workers and broadened the coverage of unemployment compensation. The succeeding Republican administrations removed these increased benefits and brought Pennsylvania back to twenty-ninth place. In the Congress, the gains to labor have been maintained by the Democratic Party against the strongest opposition of the Republican representatives of Big Business. We will restore Pennsylvania to its former high place among the enlightened states in its coverage of unemployment compensation and we will include in the law allowances to dependents and during illness. We will enact amendments to the compensation laws to remove provisions in the law prejudicial to the employee as well as provisions for continuing total disability payments throughout the entire period of the total disability.

11. Farmers

Elimination of politics from the Department of Agriculture; extension and improvement of all-weather farm-to-market roads; expanded rural electrification; rural health and nursing clinics; return of all taxes on gasoline used on farms; more effective eradication of infectious animal diseases under a fair indemnity system; farm legislation by and for farmers without "big city" domination; effective state marketing help; expansion of State College research and extension work; encouragement of improved livestock breeding, grassland farming, and farm cooperatives; and aid and assistance to farmers in the development of a farm-pond program.

Our Department of Agriculture should and will cooperate with federal agencies to enrich Pennsylvania's vast farm lands. Rural electrification will be extended to accommodate our rural citizens and enable them to better enjoy modern living. More extensive programs for eradication of Bangs Disease, mastitis and other infectious animal destroyers will be initiated and carried forward, and compensation for herd destruction will be on a present value basis.

12. Milk Control

Elimination of distributor domination of the Milk Control Commission.

The milk distributor and the Milk Control Commission must be divorced. A simplified law is needed to eliminate procedural red-tape for both producer and consumer. A commission, not dominated by the distributor, is needed to insure adequate compensation for the producer, fair profit for the distributor and, most important, a retail price available to all children of the state in quantities necessary to build health.

13. Business

Encouragement to and safeguarding of our free enterprise system, giving real meaning to the principle of free enterprise by making it applicable to all industry and business, both small and large; constructive action to bring new industries and business into the state, and to encourage development of a climate conducive to profitable business operations.

The Democratic Party has always supported legislation to protect the legitimate interests of the business man both in the state and in the nation. The small business man must have an equal opportunity to compete in a sound, free enterprise economy.

14. Health and Welfare

Elimination of ward-heeler politics from the health and welfare programs; adequate and properly compensated and trained staffs, in addition to bricks and mortar, for all mental and health institutions; a program of health education and preventative health measures; state aid to counties for child care; and the creation of a Bureau for Children in the Department of Welfare.

Under a Democratic administration in 1937, Pennsylvania took its place among the enlightened states by enacting legislation to assume complete responsibility for the care of mentally ill. A Republican legislature postponed the effective date of the new laws for two years; and only the opposition of a Democratic House blocked efforts for further delay. The Duff administration has spent considerable time and money on bricks and mortar, but competent staffs and good management are still tragically lacking. The scandals of Byberry, Morganza, White Hill and Belle Vista are proof positive that the Department and the institutions reek with politics and mismanagement. The present health code is conflicting, archaic and out-moded. The code should be rewritten and should provide for the care by the state for those unfortunates suffering from tuberculosis and other communicable and contagious diseases who cannot be admitted to local institutions.

Under the Democratic administration in Washington, funds for buildings and research programs for the sick and mentally ill have been made available for Pennsylvania for several years. We will take full advantage of this federal aid to accomplish a program for the health and welfare of our people, as suggested by the American Public Health Association reports.

15. Housing

Adequate standby rent control legislation for use in the event the need arises; state contribution to support low rental and non-profit middle-income housing programs; redevelopment of slum areas; housing and building legislation to permit localities to encourage the use of modern building methods and materials.

In utter disregard of the necessity for tenant protection during a period of drastic housing shortage, the Duff-Fine Party has failed to enact standby rent control legislation. Unlike other and more liberal state administrations, the Duff-Fine Party has given no support to low-rental housing projects and only token aid to a middle income housing program. Our housing and building codes reflect conditions of the early 1900's.

Were it not for President Truman and the Democratic 81st Congress, which enacted the general Housing Act of 1949, Pennsylvania communities would not have been able even to make a start on slum clearance and low-rental housing projects essential to remove urban blight and to give decent, healthful housing to thousands of Pennsylvania families who cannot meet the costs of privately built dwellings.

16. Education

Adequate state aid to local school building programs in order to replace outmoded and inadequate structures; increased teacher retirement benefits; improvement of state school assistance to provide equal educational opportunity for every child irrespective of race, religion, color, or national origin; appointment of teachers on the same non-discriminatory basis; adequate teacher compensation to meet the rising costs of living and to attract sufficient trained personnel.

The Democratic Party, which is responsible for the passage of the Teachers' Tenure Law in Pennsylvania, is committed by tradition to raise the standards of teachers and of education in general. This can be accomplished only by a continuance of its fight for equal pay for equal service, smaller classes in the schools, and other educational reforms.

We will pass legislation to equalize financial responsibility for support of the schools, making certain that the Commonwealth shares its proper portion of mandated increases in school costs.

17. Public Assistance

Elimination of politics and fraud from, and the establishment of honesty and efficiency in, the administration of public assistance; adequate grants for the needy with due allowance for increased living costs; increased old age assistance based on an adequate standard of living; increased pensions for the blind on a basis comparable with other enlightened states; adequate allowances for widowed mothers and dependent children; unyielding opposition to any plan which fosters the return of the public assistance burden to the political subdivisions.

The Democratic Party has grown in strength because it has always believed in the importance of the health and welfare of families. The health and welfare legislation conceived by President Roosevelt was enacted into law despite the reactionary opposition of the Republican Party. The present Democratic Congress has increased and extended provisions of the Social Security Act to an additional ten million people. The reactionary Republican administration of the assistance laws in Pennsylvania has been pock-marked with fraud and scandal and discredited by politics, special favors and administrative incompetence, with inadequate grants that are lower than thirty-one other states in the Union.

18. The Public Utilities

Proper administration to make the public interest the primary concern of the Public Utility Commission, so that fair rates for the consumer will be the objective of the Commission as well as fair return on the investment of the utility.

After much opposition from the reactionary Republican leadership, it was the Democratic Party which in 1937 enacted a utility law in the interest of the consumer, with full protection to the utilities. This law is adequate for the protection of all parties if the Commission will properly interpret and enforce it.

19. Highways

Creation of a permanent State Commission to insure a planned highway system, adequate for modern commerce, with allotment of highway funds on a scientific basis; extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Erie and the hard-coal regions.

A modern highway system is needed to implement Pennsylvania's farm and factory needs for ever-increasing better transportation. The farmer needs more and better roads to send his products to market. Business needs more and better roads to send its products to centers of trade. Highway funds should not be allocated on a political basis. Our sorely neglected resort areas can be extensively developed with better roads to attract tourists from other parts of the country. Road building to advance the political ambitions of a governor, or any candidate or Party, is a luxury we can no longer afford.

20. Coal Regions

State action to bring modern industrial facilities to the depleted coal areas, and to develop new industries above the surface which will give needed employment to thousands.

An aggressive program will be initiated and carried through to attract new industries to these areas. Jobs will be brought nearer to the homestead to prevent the moving of families to new places of employment for the bread-winner.

A program for restoration of farm lands scarred by strip mining must be initiated and carried forward.

21. Natural Resources

Forestry programs to reduce the dependence of Pennsylvania on imported lumber; reclamation of marginal wastelands and a study of their possible uses; a long-range federal-state-local flood control program; a practical state-wide conservation program which will provide clean streams without bankrupting municipalities; increased water supply for the state's industries and improvement and expansion of recreation and resort areas.

The accomplishment of this program requires whole-hearted cooperation with the federal government, which the Duff administration has completely and continuously ignored.

There should be a judicious expansion of the state's stream clearance program, which was initiated by the Democratic Party. Under such a program, the state should be prohibited from imposing stream clearance expenditures upon municipalities unless it provides a financing plan designed to secure the revenue necessary to carry out the mandated project. Operating coal companies with coal reserves near the point of depletion should not be required to shoulder the staggering cost of disposal facilities where pollution will end with suspension of operations within a reasonable period. A sane stream clearance program can be accomplished without bankrupting municipalities or business enterprises.

22. Sports and Recreation

Establishment of Game and Fish Commissions as separate bodies removed from politics, with their own special funds which may not be diverted to any other purpose; and adequate and long-neglected game and fish expansion program to provide satisfactory sport for all sportsmen.

This program will include the restoration of at least 150,000 acres of game lands to the proper game food and game producing stage, a program promised four years ago by the Game Commission but not carried out.

We will guarantee the property rights of all lease-holders of camps and cottages on state forest lands, and at least continue the status quo in renewing leases after ten year periods. We also pledge the granting of rights of way on state lands to bring electricity to camps on state forest lands.

We favor a food and cover program to rebuild the deer herd in the state.

23. Penal System

Modernization of our prison and correction system; classification centers to study, separate and assign mentally normal and abnormal prisoners; facilities for youthful offenders to relieve overcrowding at White Hill; adequate facilities for defective delinquents instead of Huntingdon.

Our entire penal system must be geared to rehabilitate offenders instead of providing only for their incarceration. Saving offenders from a life of crime is a goal worth the effort. The way of accomplishment was pointed out in the Ashe Committee Report of 1944. Legislation coupled with appropriations was approved, but the Duff-Administration has done nothing through administrative action or allocation of funds.

24. Lobbies

A state law requiring registration of lobbyists and detailed accounts of their receipts and expenditures.

Railroads, utilities, mining and industrial companies and other pressure groups have long maintained expensive lobbies in Harrisburg; but the source of their funds and how they spend their money has never been made public. The Federal Government and 38 States have already adopted legislation requiring registration and financial accounting by lobbyists. It is high time for Pennsylvania to follow suit so that we, too, will have proper supervision over lobbying activities and will be able to remove present special-privilege interest domination from the legislative halls of Harrisburg.

25. Philadelphia

Prompt enactment of legislation required to modernize Philadelphia's government and improve the Philadelphia metropolitan area.

The 1951 Legislature must promptly enact the City-County consolidation amendment. The Democratic Party will urge its adoption by the voters. The Act giving home rule to Philadelphia must be amended to give the Charter Commission the broadest possible authority to deal with all City and County offices and other state and local agencies exercising governmental functions pertaining exclusively to Philadelphia. Because enactment of these measures would go far toward destroying the political power of the Philadelphia members of the Duff-Fine machine, they will never be enacted while the Republican Party is in power.

Adequate State support must be given to port, airport, highway, urban redevelopment and stream clearance projects particularly affecting the Philadelphia district.

A Democratic state administration will immediately institute a sweeping non-partisan investigation of the well known tie-up of vice, crime, politics and law enforcement agencies.

26. Pittsburgh

Prompt completion of the community program for the Pittsburgh district, including state support for highway, urban redevelopment, housing, parking, air pollution control and stream purification projects.

An ambitious program for the modernization of of the Pittsburgh area has been adopted by its progressive governmental officials, by labor, and by business leaders. Its prompt completion requires state support. The Democratic Party will see to it that the administration and the legislature at Harrisburg take all necessary steps to assist this enlightened community program.

27. Pennsylvania's Ports

A Port Authority Act for Philadelphia to permit joint development with New Jersey of the Delaware River as potentially the finest port in the United States, and state cooperation in developing the ports of Pittsburgh and Erie.

The Duff administration in 1949 aided and abetted the railroad lobby in sabotaging legislation designed to develop the Port of Philadelphia in cooperation with New Jersey, which had enacted excellent legislation with this in view. This selfish act of special interests has set back the Philadelphia port development program by at least two years.

A Democratic State administration will sponsor efforts to increase the ocean, lake and river-borne shipping of our State's three greatest ports and improve dock and transportation facilities for handling an ever-increasing volume of trade and commerce.

28. Home Rule

Enactment of legislation which will permit all municipalities to frame and adopt charters in accordance with their needs and their local desires.

The Republican administration has foisted upon local governments vast tax obligations without their consent. It has maintained an iron-clad rule over them through legislative domination of their every act. We propose to liberate Pennsylvania's municipalities from this tyranny.

29. Wartime Profiteers

Stringent legislation to supplement federal laws against wartime profiteering and black marketing.

Unpatriotic and un-American gouging of the consumer in a time of national crisis must be guarded against with every resource of federal, state and local government. We will provide the utmost protection for Pennsylvania's citizens against this menace.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure that we on this side of the House greatly appreciate the minority offer of cooperation with the majority party for the welfare of the people of our great Commonwealth.

I am quite sure if there are differences they will be small. We have solved them in the past and I don't see any reason why we cannot solve them in the future. I am quite sure that if the gentleman will consult the Journal in the dying days of this session he will find that the majority party has kept its promises to the people of this state.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives the report and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor was introduced.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JAMES H. DUFF

GOVERNOR JAMES H. DUFF. Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

There has been filed with you a detailed statement from the various Departments of the State, outlining their accomplishments during the current Administration. I have also filed with you the formal report of my appraisal of what has been done. Rather than read the report, I prefer to use the time during which I have received the honor to address you in an informal discussion of the matters that are of deep interest to every Pennsylvanian. I know you would much prefer to have me do this than read a formal prepared statement.

These last four years have been unusual years. The two previous administrations in part were engrossed by World War II. Due to the war and the shortage of materials resulting from the war, a number of things were urgently needed to be done when we entered upon the performance of our duties four years ago.

Now we are again at war. And it seems almost providential that during these four years we have engaged in a tremendous program of construction—a program of doing the things that needed to be done, and, by preview of 1951 and the years of the coming Administration, things that possibly could not be done if war again occurs on a global scale.

In the matter of mental hospitals, we have made commitments in these four years of 159½ million dollars. This is by all odds the largest commitment in any similar period in the Commonwealth's history. I am sure we all realize that as the result of the tremendous stresses of today, people generally are under pressures of a kind that make them suffer from mental fatigue in a way possibly that they have never done before. That was certainly true of the armed services in World War II and it is equally true, I am sure, of the civilian population.

We have approached the solution of that tremendously difficult problem, not by the old method of storing people away in an insane asylum to remain for safekeeping, but by the new method; a method that realizes that under proper treatment it is now possible to restore a large percentage of the mentally ill to themselves, to their families, and to useful lives in society. As the result of the funds you authorized to be expended for that purpose, Pennsylvania has at least equaled in progress any of the forty-eight States in the tremendously important matter of the care and custody and healing of the mentally ill.

In highways during the past four years we have led every one of the forty-eight States in each of those four years. There has been an expenditure exceeding 100 million dollars per year for construction. And while we did not realize it at the time we were making those expenditures, we were really making them as it appears now in one of the most essential matters that ever confronted the Commonwealth—the matter of rapid transportation in the event of war.

There are few people in or out of Pennsylvania who realize that during World War II when steel was more important than blood, because it was harder to get, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania produced twice as much steel as Germany and almost as much steel as Germany and Japan combined. We produced twice as much steel as Russia and almost as much steel as Russia and England combined. So that within the confines of our Commonwealth we are really greater in the matter of industrial production than any nation in the world outside the United States.

And the best evidence of the fact that we are not losing our industrial supremacy is indicated from the fact that in the five years since World War II there has been more addition to existing industrial business in Pennsylvania and more new industry in Pennsylvania than any one of all the forty-eight States.

A further evidence of the tremendous industrial supremacy of this Commoonwealth is indicated by the fact that the United States Steel Corporation has bought an immense tract of land in Bucks County, where within the next thirty days they are going to enter upon the erection and construction of the largest steel mill anywhere in the world, at an expense in excess of 400 million dollars. That Pennsylvania is still a good climate for business is indicated by the fact that that tremendous plant was located in Pennsylvania. It could just as easily have been located across the river in New Jersey, or Virginia, or any number of the other coastal States where they made an eager and a tremendous drive to get this new business away from Pennsylvania. The fact that we kept it in Pennsylvania shows what those in business feel about what we have to offer here. We not only have had sound government in Pennsylvania, but we have what so many don't realize—the greatest group of skilled workmen in Pennsylvania of any similar area anywhere in the whole world.

It is not only on account of our industrial establishment that we enjoy the leadership that we do, but also as well on account of the men in Pennsylvania who work in our industries.

In the Turnpike, without a single cent of expense to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, there has been completed an extension from Carlisle to the outskirts of Philadelphia, a distance of 100 miles. That has been done in the last two years at a cost of 87 million dollars, every cent of which will be paid for by those who use it. And 52 percent of those who seek to use the Turnpike rather than the wonderful free highway system of Pennsylvania are nonresidents of this Commonwealth.

As you are aware, all the contracts have been let and the work is actually going forward on a big scale on the Western Extension. Before the end of 1951 the Western Extension from Irwin to Ohio will be completed. This will give Pennsylvania 327 miles of four-lane highway, with no grades over three percent, with no crossroad intersections, with no red lights, with no alignment more than the Main Line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and all without any expense to the taxpayers.

At the time that this tremendous highway was constructed, at first in the Earle Administration and the two extensions in this Administration, I do not imagine that there were thoughts in the minds of many of those who had to do with it that it would be needed for a military highway. But the fact is—connecting Ohio with the Port of Philadelphia, and the Port of Pittsburgh with the Port of Philadelphia, it provides the greatest military highway anywhere in the world. This at a time when rapidity of action in the movement of traffic will be of vast aid in helping to arm this Country for the conflict that seems to confront us—irrespective of how much we deplore what now seems to be the inevitability of it.

In education during the past four years, the appropriations for subsidies were $417,604,000. And to indicate the vast increased aid to education, the best thing to do is to compare it with four years ago when it was only $260,-057,000. And, compared with ten years ago, it has increased 300 percent.

Much as we are interested in the accomplishments of the things that have been done, by the very force of attraction, our attention is riveted not on what we have done but on the tremendous crisis that confronts us.

Because I know we are all aware that today in Pennsylvania and in the Nation we are confronted by the greatest crisis in our history. In the five years that have elapsed since the end of World War II we have unwittingly allowed our military might to decline while the greatest enemy of modern civilization has built up its power to a place where its land armies are greater than any nation has had before and vastly greater in comparison to our own power.

We are reliably informed that the Soviet Union has 170 fully equipped, fully battle ready divisions, plus 75 divisions of like equipment and quality of their satellites. All this outside the Iron Curtain without counting the tremendous beginning-to-be-harnessed power of the Chinese Reds. Compare this with our own unreadiness.

Six weeks ago General Mark Clark, Commander-in-Chief of all the land forces of our Army, made the statement at the New York Herald Tribune Forum that in June at the outbreak of hostilities in Korea this great American nation had only ten regular army divisions; and those ten regular army divisions, as compared with the Soviets' 250 with their satellites, were both under-equipped and undermanned.

That statement is enough to warn every American of the tremendous danger that we face. Even the most skeptical must now be aware that the Soviet Union is endeavoring to advance its power in every quarter of the globe.

That brings us here in Pennsylvania to the very serious consideration of our defense at home, as well as our contributions to the general defense of our Country. In the matter of civilian defense, we are confronted with a tremendously difficult and serious situation. General Kenney, of the Air Forces, made a statement within the last two weeks that we could expect atomic Pearl Harbors in America in the event of World War III. And we all know that there is a possibility of any number of American cities being hit at the same time on a synchronized schedule by atomic bombing. That is entirely within the range of possibilities. We also know that if it does happen it will happen without notice. The aggressors always strike treacherously. They do not have either the background, or the sense of decency, or propriety, or fineness, to make a declaration of war. You know you are at war only when you get hit.

That raises the question in a great industrial empire like Pennsylvania as to what provision we intend to make to secure our people against the dangers of that kind of attack. Because without question this State will be one of the primary targets of such an attack. In modern warfare, the one thing above everything else they attempt to destroy is your industrial potential.

Now there has been wide discussion of what should be done to give security to our people in the cities and in the industrial areas of Pennsylvania and of the Nation. However much we may desire to give security to our people here at home (because the women and children, for the first time in American history by this new kind of warfare will be on the firing line) it is clear that it is impossible to afford complete security to the civilian population in the event of atomic warfare.

Everyone knows that as a result of ill preparation, we are going to have an immediate shortage of critical material necessary to arm this Country to protect itself. Consequently there will not be a sufficient quantity of material available for the protection of civilians in various industrial areas. Of course, that does not mean that we can escape the responsibility of doing everything within our power to protect our people here at home. But it does mean that we cannot possibly do it adequately. Besides, every community must assume individual responsibility for organization on its own basis to solve its own problems; with aid and counsel of course from the State and from the National Government. But it must be clear that due to the imperative necessity of preparing for war, neither the State nor the National Government will be able to do the things that best can be done at home. I think it needs only stating to be realized that not at Washington, nor at Harrisburg, nor at any other Capitol, can diagrams be made to be sent out to every individual community in Pennsylvania and in the Nation to tell you how you are going to solve your individual responsibility in protecting your own civilian population at home. I do not mean by that to imply that a general organized approach to the problem will or should not be made by the State and National Government, because I feel that it will, and I think that I can say to you that in Pennsylvania we have made great progress.

But in the final analysis, if we are to meet this situation, if it arises with suddenness—and it may, and certainly will, if we go into World War III—there is a new responsibility that must be assumed immediately and individually in every community to make their own plans and their own dispositions to best handle their own problems.

I know that there is an endeavor by the Federal Government and there will be by this Government, I assume, to take such reasonable precautions in the way of construction as are necessary to meet the tremendous emergency that will confront us and the Nation in the event of what is happening in Korea, breaking out as it probably will into World War III. But I submit to you that it will not be possible anywhere in America to assure the citizens of any community immunity from danger of attack in the event of the kind of thing that we have a right to expect if we have World War III. And, therefore, we must approach the period in which we are entering, it seems to me, with a great feeling of responsibility, with a great willingness to undergo hardships of a kind that our generation has never dreamed about before, much less undergone.

And then let me point this out to you, which seems to have been overlooked in the general consideration of the dangers that confront us in the way of World War III. And that is biological and bacteriological warfare, whereby death can be scattered from the air by planes and put into streams and water resources and reservoirs. That can be infinitely more dangerous and damaging and destructive of life in certain instances than the more spectacular atomic explosion. All of which makes it clear that we are confronting a situation that is not only beyond our experience, but beyond the experience of people anywhere.

This Country for the first time in its history is in mortal danger. We are in that danger now because the Soviet Union has made it clear beyond the possibility of doubt that it is their intention to destroy democracy everywhere in the world, and this Nation is the chief target. We have in the United States the greatest resources, the greatest potential of production, and by all odds the greatest power of retaliation against this new barbarism in the world of today, of any Nation. And therefore I feel, and I have no doubt you feel, and if you don't now you will later (because it is as inevitable as tomorrow) that we in this day and generation are living in the kind of period in which the great men and women lived when this Country was erected.

We have looked back on that generation of men and women who carried the banner of freedom in the early days of our history, with respect, almost as if they were deities. And we need to renew again our acquaintance with the tremendous suffering and privation that they went through, men and women alike in every part of America, to make possible this Republic in which we live. We have thought of them as beings set apart, almost as supernatural beings, by reason of their great qualities and their magnificent achievements. We gave the great founders this adulation without realizing that we ourselves may be called upon to prove whether we have the faith and the character and the fortitude to make the sacrifices and to undertake great dangers and hardships, possibly through a generation or two, in order to keep burning the torch of freedom in today's world. That being the case, and I firmly am convinced that it is, this is no time for personalities. This is no time for smallness. This is no no time for selfishness of any character on any front. We are living in a time like Benjamin Franklin described when he said, after putting his name to the Declaration of Independence: "If we don't hang together, we very well may hang separately."

We are the last hope in this troubled world of today—the last hope of the free people of today. This Country was built by men and women who believed in a power in the universe greater than themselves. They relied upon, and were aided by, that power in coming through the difficulties in establishing and erecting the great Republic we have here. Everything we believe in is opposed today by a new type of barbarism, by a nation which has repudiated all the beliefs and ethics and morals and religion that have made modern civilization what it is. And as the people with the greatest endowments in the world of today, with the greatest potential of production and invention, we not only have the privilege, we have the responsibility of carrying the flag of freedom everywhere it is attacked, where it is within the range of our ability to give aid.

It seems to me that as we would not go back on one of our own family who was in difficulty, irrespective of what dangers we ourselves were submitted to as a result of coming to their aid, no more can we go back on those communities of people in Western Europe who, with the people in this Country, are responsible for 95 percent of all the things in today's world that make modern civilization.

Everyone knows, who has studied the problem—and I don't pretend to give this on my own know-how, but I am sure that it is the military opinion—that the one thing that the Russians especially want to do now is to overrun Western Europe, particularly the Ruhr area, in order to pick up their productive capacity as well as to pick up in the Middle East the oil which they are short of. This Country must support and maintain bases from whence those areas of industry and ore production can be destroyed or rendered unusable if Russia overruns them. We must join with those peoples who, with us, will ultimately win the victory.

The ACTING LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Duff, on behalf of the Members of the General Assembly, I thank you for your splendid message.

JOINT SESSION ADJOURNED

The SPEAKER. The message will be printed in full in the Legislative Journal. The supplement will be printed in the Appendix.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JAMES H. DUFF BEFORE A JOINT SESSION OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE IN THE HALL OF THE HOUSE HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1951

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Members of the General Assembly:

In my Inaugural Address four years ago I made the statement that "It is sufficient, therefore, under the circumstances, to say at this time that our responsibility as the Party in power is to do the things we said we would do if we were entrusted with the responsibility of the Government at the last election. The Pennsylvania Republican platform is on the whole clear, specific and forward-looking. Our Party performance must be in complete fulfillment of those platform pledges."

It has been the aid of this Administration to carry out the pledges made in that platform, and an examination of our accomplishments shows a remarkable record in platform fulfillment.

Some of the major accomplishments I want to point out in this address. A detailed statement of accomplishments made by the various departments appears in an appendix to this message. Many of you who were here in the Legislature during the last two sessions know very well the outstanding legislative record that was made during those two sessions. It can be said confidently that no two sessions of the Legislature ever adopted as many Acts for the real benefit of the people of this State.

The period in which this Administration has had the responsibility of conducting the State Government, the readjustment period following four years of a World War, has been one of serious and complex social, economic and political problems, and, particularly, problems of international crises. The fulfillment of many of the needs of the people was deferred from the War years into this period.

As a result of the War years, and before that the depression years, we found State facilities for meeting many needs of the people outgrown or outmoded. The tremendous army of veterans was still in the process of adjusting themselves to civilian life. Business had the difficult task of converting to peacetime production after several years in War work—to mention a few of the complex situations which confronted us.

Solution of these problems was made extremely difficult by the great amount of inflation which had taken place by the beginning of this Administration, and has constantly increased ever since. State Government now costs twice what it did ten years ago for the same amount of State Government. Solution of these problems was rendered difficult too by the enormous peacetime Budget of the Federal Government. So much revenue is pulled out of this State—and all States, for that matter—by the Federal Government that financing the essential work of State Government has become a vexing and serious problem. This is true to the extent that many states have been forced to adopt tax programs they do not want, and would not have otherwise. And this is a situation which it appears will be even more pronounced in the next Administration.

The threat of a third World War demands that Civilian Defense have top priority. Our best efforts must be put into that work. The Military and Civil Defense Commission for this State, established last August, has this program well under way. Utilizing the plans that had been made by the Pennsylvania Commission for Civil Defense, which was appointed in December 1949, the Commission has pushed forth this vital work in a most satisfactory manner.

I urge all of you to read General Mellon's report attached hereto, and to get a full realization, as General Mellon points out, that the success of this program is not possible without the closest cooperation between Government agencies at all levels and the active support of every man, woman, and child in the Commonwealth. It would be folly of the worst kind not to help in pushing ahead this activity in every possible way.

One of the important pledges of our Party platform was "a fair and liberal bonus to the veterans of World War II." There was prompt action by two sessions of the Legislature in presenting to the voters a Constitutional amendment providing one of the most liberal bonuses paid in any state. The enormous task of paying a bonus to some 1,200,000 veterans has been practically completed. Veterans were given preference in State employment to help in their readjustment to civilian life; rehabilitation where necessary was given special emphasis; and every effort made to help them continue their education when they desired to do so.

In our Party platform we set out public health as one of the most important projects. Selective Service reports showed that four of every ten persons examined were rejected on account of physical or mental ailments. In our own State medical examinations of school children showed that approximately eight out of every ten children of school age were afflicted by ailments that require medical or dental attention.

The School Health Program in this State during this four-year period has been more comprehensive than that of any other State There were 3,258,000 pupils, 87,354 teachers, and 33,500 other school employes given complete physical examinations. Medical correction of physical defects was carried out under the program.

Another important phase of public health improvement was mental health. Our facilities for meeting the needs in that area were inadequate, out-of-date, and lacking modern equipment and programs of care. These four years have seen great strides in meeting those problems.

During this four-year period there has been a program of construction completed or in progress at the mental institutions amounting to $159,500,000. Some of this program is financed by appropriations made in prior bienniums, some by appropriations made during this four-year period, and part by the General State Authority. This shows the great extent to which mental hospital facilities throughout the State are being provided and rehabilitated.

This program of construction and equipment completed or now under way will go far toward meeting the problem of overcrowding and lack of essential treatment facilities. Living conditions for nurses, attendants, and other employes will be vastly improved, and the institutional utilities will be in a greatly improved condition. The various institutions now, and to a great degree when the present program is completed, will be in a position to carry out the types of treatment required for the cure of persons afflicted with mental diseases.

However, we should not get the idea that the whole problem has been solved. There will still need to be additional facilities provided. A great deal of intelligent effort will have to be put forth in developing modern up-to-date programs of care and treatment as the new facilities are available for use. The problems we have had in securing adequate personnel at the institutions will be intensified as the new buildings are completed. Research into the causes of mental diseases must have much more attention, and facilities are now under construction to make that possible.

An important part of the health promotion program has been the work of stopping stream pollution, which work we promised to advance.

The Pennsylvania Stream Clearance Program, foremost of its kind in the Nation, is bearing fruit in the form of pure, clean water for drinking, industrial, and recreational purposes.

The outstanding project, cleaning the Schuylkill River, has been practically completed as far as the State's share of the work is concerned in its agreement with the Federal Government to reclaim a 75-mile stretch of the river from Hamburg to Norristown. From the standpoint of pure water and flood control this accomplishment will be of everlasting benefit to millions of people in the State.

The cooperation we have had in this program has been most gratifying. Less than four years ago an estimated annual load of nearly six million tons of silt entered the streams from about 172 collieries in the four anthracite fields. Today 91 per cent of that silt is being retained by desilting systems at the collieries. Not including the coal operations, 900 industrial establishments have already constructed their waste treatment systems, or have received notices to abate their pollution.

An important part of the work of preventing stream pollution has been that of the Department of Mines in sealing abandoned mines to prevent acid water running into the streams. This project started during this Administration has resulted in 989 seals having been made in the bituminous coal mines. Many of the acid streams have been rendered alkaline and are now being used for domestic and recreational purposes.

Still another important part of the State's program for advancing the health of the people of the State has been to help in providing adequate medical care. The State-owned hospitals have been adequately supported and have provided free care to those unable to pay for the medical service they needed. The State-aided hospitals have received greatly increased aid for the free service which thy give. The appropriation for this two-year period of $14,365,600 is $5,630,050 above the appropriation which these private hospitals received in the biennium before this Administration began.

One of the handicaps we have found in promoting health work is a shortage of trained nurses. At the last session of the Legislature you made an appropriation to aid hospitals in training nurses. That appropriation has already been exhausted, and if funds are available the program is worthy of expansion.

Still another manner in which health has been promoted is by providing adequate public assistance. Standards of assistance have been increased to meet rising prices to allow those receiving assistance to have an adequate living. This has been particularly of great benefit in advancing the health of children in families receiving assistance.

The Department of Health has pushed forward cancer control; emphasis has been placed on developing community facilities for care and prevention of rheumatic fever; eighty-one new maternal and child health centers were established in rural communities; a program covering complete care of children with cleft palate put into operation; and a State-wide plan developed for preventing the spread of poliomyelitis. This plan has meant better care and treatment for polio stricken patients.

Highway building and maintenance has been outstanding during this four-year period. This was one of the areas where a tremendous backlog of deferred projects were on hand when this Administration began. During the four years 6,600 miles on the State highway system have been constructed, reconstructed or resurfaced. These improvements represent a balanced program of highway construction throughout the State.

Total expenditures for highway purposes for the four years are about $600,000,000. There was $400,000,000 of construction in that amount—or about $100,000,000 per year. This shows the great outlay of funds required under today's inflated prices. Even this amount was not sufficient for some of the costly projects which needed to be done, such as the Schuylkill Expressway in Philadelphia and the Penn-Lincoln Parkway West in Allegheny County. A number of these costly projects are being financed by the State Highway and Bridge Authority, under its authorization to borrow $40,000,000. This borrowing will be retired by payment from the Motor License Fund.

As a result of action taken during this Administration by the Legislature and the Department of Highways the ten toll bridges in the State have been taken over by the State, and will become free bridges as soon as tolls have retired the $8,500,000 of bonds sold to secure funds to buy the bridges. This is estimated to be in about eight years.

The completion of the 100-mile Philadelphia Extension of the Turnpike marks a milestone in highway development in this Commonwealth. This Extension, built at a cost of approximately $87,000,000, without one cent of tax money, was constructed in about two years' time. The Western Extension from Pittsburgh to the Ohio line is now well under way, with about forty per cent of it completed. All contracts have been awarded, and the Turnpike Commission is planning to complete the entire project by September 1951.

When completed there will then be a 327-mile double lane highway without any intersections across the State—more than one-eighth of the distance from New York to San Francisco.

In our Platform four years ago we promised to give increased aid for education, and to improve teachers salary schedules.

The State aid which has been given during these four years far outstrips that of any other four year period. During the four years appropriations for subsidies to the schools have amounted to $417,604,000. This compared with $260,057,000 in the preceding four years. The amount appropriated in the present biennium, $224,865,000, compares with $72,126,000 ten years ago in the 1939-41 biennium.

The amount appropriated for higher education similarly has shown a great increase. During this four-year period $57,632,000 has been appropriated to the universities and colleges, which compares with $31,016,000 in the previous four-year period.

A great step forward has been made in this Administration in improving teachers' salaries. When this Administration began the minimum salary for teachers in 2nd, 3rd and 4th class districts was $1400 for teachers in the elementary schools; $1400 for teachers in the secondary schools in 3rd and 4th class districts; and $1600 in 2nd class districts. As a result of Legislation during this Administration the minimum salary has been raised to $2000 in 2nd, 3rd and 4th class districts.

The maximum salary when this Administration began was $2100 for teachers in elementary schools in 4th class districts, and $2100 for teachers in secondary schools in 4th class districts. That maximum has now been raised to $3800 for teachers having a college certificate.

In 3rd class districts the maximum was $2100 in elementary schools and $2100 in secondary schools, which maximum has been raised to $3800.

In 2nd class districts the maximum of $2300 and $2500 are now $3800. In all districts if a teacher has a master's degree the minimum and the maximum is $200 above the amounts given here.

As a result of this salary schedule legislation we can say that this State has one of the best mandated teachers' salary schedules in the Nation.

While there has been a great increase in the cost of the schools throughout the State—an increase of $118,000,000, or 79 per cent in the last ten years, the State has more than kept up its share in carrying such costs. Ten years ago the State paid 22 per cent of the cost. At the present time the State is paying 37 per cent.

An important consideration in securing equal educational opportunities throughout the State is the method of distributing State aid to the school districts. More has been done in this Administration toward establishing an equitable basis for the distribution of State funds than ever before in the history of the State. The work of the State Tax Equalization Board, established in 1947, represents the outstanding effort in the country in solving this difficult problem. The law directed the Board to determine annually the market value of the assessed taxable real property in each of the 2531 school districts and certify those valuations to the Superintendent of Public Instruction as the basis for State aid.

Since the Board was established it has accumulated and compiled data showing the prices at which more than 500,000 parcels of real property have been sold between July 1947 and July 1950.

In view of the great amount the State is now paying to school districts and the large share of the costs it bears, it is imperative that this better basis of distributing funds be established if equal educational opportunity is to be achieved.

During this Administration an important step was taken to give aid to school districts in securing better school plant facilities through the establishment of the Public School Building Authority. The Authority has entered into 82 contracts with school districts for projects estimated to cost $37,400,000. Twenty of these projects are now under construction.

We can say confidently that during this four-year period there has been the greatest number of important gains for public education of any four-year period in the State's history. I have mentioned briefly some of them here, and I refer you to Doctor Haas' report for a more complete account.

The activities of this Administration to promote the best interests of labor represent a fine record of accomplishments. Due to the great production in industry in Pennsylvania it was most important to have an efficient mediation staff in order to prevent work stoppages where-ever possible, with their consequent loss of production and wages. To show you the magnitude of activity in this respect, there were 4,678 cases handled between January 1947 and October 1950.

In 1947 the Legislature made some important amendments in the Women's Labor Law. The farsighted efforts in this respect became apparent as we enter another period of war production. Women under the law now have reasonable hours of work, suitable rest periods, elimination of occupational hazards, equal pay for equal work, and the opportunity for jobs and advancement according to their abilities.

In this postwar period the Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation has been especially active.

The extent of that you can see in the report of the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

During this Administration maximum unemployment compensation has been increased 50 per cent, from $20.00 a week for a maximum of twenty weeks to $25.00 a week for a maximum of twenty-four weeks.

Despite heavy withdrawals the Unemployment Compensation Fund is in sound condition, with a balance of $536,000,000 estimated for December 31, 1950, as compared with $587,000,000 January 1, 1947.

I refer you to the report of the Department of Labor and Industry for an account of many other important accomplishments during this four-year period.

The Department of Agriculture has greatly aided in making important advances in agriculture during these four years. From livestock and poultry alone the farmers in this State obtain three-quarters of their cash income. The Department of Agriculture has been especially active in promoting these two great agricultural industries. Pennsylvania leads all states in the number of dairy herds certified as Bangs disease free. There was an increase of about 1,300 herds in four years.

With assistance from the Department by increased services in marketing, disease control, and breeding improvement, Pennsylvania farmers exceed all states in cash income from poultry and eggs. This State leads all others in supplying graded quality eggs.

Canning and freezing fruits and vegetables have been promoted, with the result that this State has advanced from seventh place to fourth among the states. There have been eighteen county-wide soil conservation districts organized since January 1947. One out of every ten farms is now participating in some form of conservation work.

This Administration has had as one of its principal aims to build and maintain a health climate for business. United States Census reports show that Pennsylvania has led all other states in expenditures by industry for new plants and equipment. Pennsylvania industries, as was shown by a questionnaire addressed to larger companies by the Department of Commerce, reported capital spending of more than $2.5 billion during this Administration. In 1947, 1948 and 1949 Pennsylvania gained more than 3,000 new manufacturers, more than 2,000 new wholesalers, and more than 13,000 new retailers.

One of the important activities of the Department of Commerce has been to stimulate local action by communities to promote their own economic welfare. Many local communities now have set up organizations for that purpose backed with funds to help the establishment of new industries.

One of our aims in this Administration has been to help keep local governments in a sound strong condition. The chief way in which we have helped has been to give increased financial aid to help local governments meet their needs under present day inflated conditions and to give wider powers of taxation. Local governments are having the same difficulties as in the State with costs practically double prewar days.

Since real property taxation supplied nearly all the funds that were raised locally for the support of local governments, including school districts, there was not the elasticity in their tax base to meet the higher costs.

The law passed at the 1947 Session, which in effect gives to local governments authority to tax subjects not taxed by the State, has been used extensively throughout the State. Twelve hundred local governments have taken advantage of this law in one way or another.

The amount of State aid given to local governments far surpasses that of any four-year period. I have already pointed out that State aid to school districts amounted to $417,604,000 during the four years, which is $157,547,000 more than in the preceding four years. In the present biennium the amount given is $152,739,000 above that ten years ago in the 1939-1941 biennium. More State funds have gone to townships, cities, and boroughs for road building and maintenance than in any previous four-year period. Townships of the second class have received $20,000,000, as compared with $15,500,000 in the previous four-year period, and cities, boroughs and first class townships have received $20,000,000, which compares with $8,500,000 in the preceding period.

These are funds given directly to the local governments concerned. But, aside from that, the State constructs and maintains directly a large mileage of highways which have been taken over on the State highway system, but which in other states would still be the responsibility of local governments. This sort of relief runs into many millions of dollars.

And we should not lose sight of the tremendous financial burden which the State relieves local governments of by carrying the entire cost of public assistance. During the four years the State's outlay for this function amounts to about $340,000,000.

All of this great constructive program has been undertaken on the basis of sound financing. At the end of the first biennium we had a surplus of $63,235,000. That surplus was used to help balance appropriations for the present biennium. We feel certain that this biennium will send with a sizeable surplus available for the next two-year period. While the General State Authority method was used to undertake a large public works program, a large permanent improvement program was financed from current revenues. Duing my Administration $118,000,000 of appropriations have been made for public works.

The State's indebtedness when this Administration began was $43,939,000. This has been reduced to $19,611,000. The bonus indebtedness of $440,000,000, together with the $50,000,000 bond issue for public works, will require a sinking fund outlay of $71,091,000 in a biennial period. $375,000,000 of the bonus bonds will be retired in fifteen years, and the remaining $65,000,000 in sixteen and seventeen years. The $50,000,000 public works bonds will be retired in twenty-six years.

The financing of Civilian Defense is going to create a problem in the years ahead. The requirements are hard to predict but it appears a large outlay will be required.

Our low per capita cost of State Government, $64.90, by the latest report in comparison with an average for all the states of $81.12, New York $87.29, and California $113.00, shows that the State Government has been conducted in an economical manner—and in considering our per capita cost of State Government we should remember that this State provides the whole outlay of funds for public assistance.

Inflation, the enormous Federal Budget, bonus debt financing, State Authority rentals, Civilian Defense expenditures, mean problems ahead in State finances, which problems no doubt will be presented to you by your new Governor in the near future.

In this address I have mentioned only a few of the accomplishments of this four-year period. I hope you will read the reports of the various departments appended hereto for a full account. I believe that after an examination of these reports you will be convinced that this has been a four-year period of outstanding accomplishment in promoting the best interests of the people in this Commonwealth.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 15, 1951

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rabbi PHILIP DAVID BOOKSTABER, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray. Oh heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this our blessed land America, and pray that it may be always the arsenal of democracy, for peace on earth, good will to men.

In this Session of the Senate now opening for this Administration, we give thanks unto Thee, our Heavenly Father, the greatest Architect of the universe, for our Governor who is leaving for Washington that he may continue in his fine effort of strong personality, and individual enterprise and economy for our Country. We ask Thy blessing upon the incoming Governor and his staff, and upon those who have served our Commonwealth in the past years.

We ask Thy blessing also upon this Senate Assembly, none the less upon our own Presiding Officer, that his years may continue in health and that he may be a dynamic force in the deliberations of those machineries that come to bring men together as we are together here. How pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. It is Thy command, what the Lord Thy God requireth of Thee, to do justly, love mercifully, walk humbly with Thy God.

On the eve of this great Inaugural, we ask Thy blessing upon him who comes in with his Cabinet, that he may dispense Thy justice and Thy mercy with humility to all the members of our Commonwealth, and may this Commonwealth be a leader in our nation, for the truth revealed to our forefathers in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

We ask Thy blessing upon all assembled here and their dear ones; for those who are sick, that they may speedily recover; for those who have pleasant memories of recurring anniversaries, that they may record the pleasant hours and carry them on through this Session.

We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. CHAPMAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Blass asks and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CROWE.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, at this time I would like to introduce two resolutions amending the Rules of the Senate, and for the information of the Members of the Senate, I would like to advise them that one Resolution is to amend Rule 23, which is the Rule appointing the Committees of the Senate; the first amendment merely adds an additional Committee, a harmless, quiet Committee on Re-apportionment, and the other amendment increases the numerical strength of the various Committees.

The second resolution, Mr. President, covers an amendment that we have needed for a long time in the Senate. It is an amendment which recognizes officially that group that has functioned so well in the Senate of Pennsylvania, without which we certainly would not be able to get along. The people of Pennsylvania need the newspaper correspondents, the newspaper correspondents need the Association, and the Association must need be recognized officially by the Senate so that their membership cards mean something.

Mr. President, the amendment which I have here is to add Rule 47 to the Rules of the Senate, which officially recognizes the Newspaper Correspondents' Association.

May I say on behalf of the Rules Committee that this action was unanimous in the Committee. We are very happy to officially recognize such a fine looking, outstanding body of citizenry in this great Commonwealth. You are a credit to your profession, and may you speak just as kindly of us in the next seven months.

COMMUNICATIONS

REPORT OF THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION ON THE DELAWARE RIVER BASIN

INTERSTATE COMMISSION

Broad Street Station Building Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania

January 13, 1951.

The Senate
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
State Capitol

Att: Hon. M. Harvey Taylor, President Pro-Tem

Gentlemen:

The Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, popularly known as Incodel, was directed by reciprocal legislation enacted during the 1949 Legislatures of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to make a survey to determine and report on the feasibility and advisability of the future construction of an integrated water project within the Delaware River Basin, designed, among other purposes, to meet the combined prospective water supply needs of political subdivision and metropolitan areas in the three states.

The statutes under which the survey was authorized are: Pennsylvania Act 475, Laws of 1949; Chapter 610, Laws of New York, 1949; Chapter 105, Laws of New Jersey, 1949.

Under the terms of these acts, the Commission is required to file with the Governors and the Legislatures of the three states, on or before January 15, 1951, a full report of its proceedings, findings, conclusions and recommendations. This is the purpose of this statement and its attachments.

As the first step in carrying out its assignment, the Commission, with the unanimous approval of an advisory committee composed of administrative and legislative representatives of the three states, entered into a contract on July 28, 1949, with Malcolm Pirnie Engineers, New York City, to make the necessary engineering investigations. Malcolm Pirnie Engineers, in turn, formed an affiliation with the firm of Albright & Friel, Inc. of Philadelphia to assist in carrying out the assignment.

The Consulting Engineers filed a preliminary report with the Commission on January 20, 1950. Their final report, dated August 17, 1950, was presented to the Commission at its annual meeting, September 11, 1950, at which time the Commission, in executive session, approved and adopted, in principle, the recommendations contained therein.

A copy of the Consulting Engineers' final report is being submitted herewith to you as a separate document.

The proposed water project which has been recommended by the Consulting Engineers is described in detail in their final report to this Commission. In the Commission's judgment the project is one of the greatest conservation programs ever conceived. It is designed to meet the two highest uses of water; (1) to provide adequate and satisfactory sources of water supply to areas of need in each of the States in which the Delaware River flows; and (2) to increase substantially the volume of flow in the Delaware River during periods of drought which now occur almost every summer and fall to the serious detriment of everyone depending upon the River for recreation, municipal and industrial water supply, disposal of treated wastes and numerous other beneficial uses.

In the summary of their final report (a copy of which is included with the attachments to this statement) the Consulting Engineers set forth the following "Conclusions."

(1) The construction of an integrated interstate water supply project on the Delaware River above Trenton is necessary, feasible and advisable.

(2) The Upper Delaware River Basin is admirably suited to the development of a major integrated interstate water supply system. Water of excellent quality at high elevation within a reasonable distance can be made available to satisfy existing critical water supply demands of large centers of population.

(3) Flood waters of the Delaware River that now discharge into the sea will be stored and made available to meet water supply needs within and without the Basin and needs for stream flow regulation.

(4) Initially the proposed project will make sufficient high quality water available to meet existing and future demands for water supply and stream flow regulation and can be expanded step-by-step as required.

(5) The proposed project is capable of providing for the future water requirements of northeastern New Jersey, New York City, the Southern New Jersey Metropolitan District and the Philadelphia area of Pennsylvania beyond the year 2000 A.D.

(6) Critically needed high quality water will be delivered by gravity to points of maximum consumption in the metropolitan areas of Northern New Jersey and New York City, practically eliminaitng need for reinforcement of transmission systems from existing supply sources.

(7) Stream flow regulation made possible by the proposed project will contribute greatly toward providing better quality water supplies to those taking water directly from the Delaware River for domestic and industrial use, and will greatly enhance the natural advantages of the area for continued industrial development and recreational use.

(8) The proposed project with its plan of releases for stream flow regulation to maintain substantially greater than natural minimum flows at Trenton will greatly alleviate costly and objectionable saline conditions between Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary which are experienced during the periods of low river flow in dry weather.

(9) Salinity conditions in the important shellfish propagation areas will be so improved as to reduce materially the damage caused by drills which feed upon and destroy young oysters.

(10) Improved stream conditions will promote aquatic life and be beneficial to commercial and recreational fishing interests.

(11) Reservoirs of considerable size will be created around which needed state and interstate parks can be developed for the use and enjoyment of a large concentration of the country's population.

(12) The magnitude of the proposed project will permit construction of works to provide stream flow regulation at a reasonable cost and water for domestic and industrial supplies at costs closely approximating those for waters from existing upland sources built when costs for construction were substantially lower than at present.

(13) Approximately twelve years will be required to provide necessary legislation and to organize, plan, construct and place in operation Stage 1 of the project.

This Commission is in accord with the recommendations of its Consulting Engineers that the project should be constructed in steps, or stages, as needed. It is firmly convinced that the construction of Stage 1 of the Recommended Project, the essential features of which are described in this statement as well as in the attachments, should be started at the earliest practicable opportunity. In order to accomplish this objective it respectfully requests the Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the States of New York, New Jersey and Delaware to take the following actions:

1. To approve and adopt, in prinicple, Stage 1 of the Recommended Project (but not at this time to authorize its construction).

2. To enact an interstate compact creating an administrative agency to be known as the Delaware River Basin Water Commission.

3. To empower and direct the Delaware River Basin Water Commission to prepare detailed plans and specifications together with a complete financial program for the construction of Stage 1 of the Recommended Project, or an appropriate modification thereof, and to make an appropriation for this advance planning.

4. To direct the Delaware River Basin Water Commission to file a report of its proceedings and recommendations with the Legislatures of each of the respective states on or before January 15, 1953, in order to afford the Legislatures an opportunity to make a further evaluation of the project and its benefits before giving their final approval for proceeding with construction of Stage 1 of the Recommended Project or a modification thereof.

Stage 1 of the Recommended Project is designed to provide up to 465 million gallons of water daily to meet the estimated additional requirements of the combined Northen New Jersey and New York City areas for the next 30 years. It will also make a new source of water supply in the amount of 500 million gallons daily immediately available to the City of Philadelphia, if and when that City desires it. It also provides for additional storage capacity sufficient to maintain at all times a minimum flow of at least 4800 cubic feet per second of water from the non-tidal section of the Delaware River above Trenton into the tidal section of the River below Trenton. The maintenance of such a minimum flow will largely eliminate the difficulties and damages encountered by industries by reason of salt water invasions which now occur under existing conditions in the Chester-Marcus section of the River almost every summer and fall. It will also be of equal, if not greater, value in enhancing the potentialities for industrial development of the region between Trenton and Philadelphia, in which the United States Steel Company is about to build a new plant and, undoubtedly, many allied industries will locate.

It should be especially noted that one of the two major purposes of the proposed project is to provide for a substantial increase in the dry weather flows of the Delaware River. In contrast, the increase in the case of a project designed solely for water supply involving a diversion, in which the principles for the release of compensating water as established by the 1931 decree of the United States Supreme Court in the Delaware River Diversion Case, (283 U. S. 336) would presumedly apply, would be relatively insignificant and immaterial. Under the proposed project, the amount of water released for the purpose of increasing low flows in a period such as occurred in 1930 would be seven to eight times more than the quantity which would be released if the project were solely for additional water supply for New York City and Northern New Jersey.

Stage 1 is comprised of the following essential elements:

(1) A storage reservoir created by a dam on the West Branch of the Delaware River near Cannonsville, New York. This reservoir would have a total storage capacity of 118 billion gallons. It would be used primarily to release water from storage for the purpose of increasing low river flows in the entire length of the river during periods of drought.

(2) A diversion dam extending across the Delaware River between Pennsylvania and New York near Barryville, New York, holding about 10 billion gallons. The major purpose of this dam would be to permit the capture of flood flows for water supply and for stream flow regulation.

(3) A storage reservoir, created by a dam on the lower Neversink River, extending from Godeffroy to Phillipsport in New York and having a total capacity of 278 billion gallons. The principal function of this reservoir would be to store the flood flows which are captured at Barryville and transported from there by a tunnel connection between the two structures.

(4) A transmission tunnel from the upper part of Godeffroy reservoir to New York City's existing main supply tunnels in Brooklyn. From this common transmission tunnel, connections would be made to the major water supply systems of Northern New Jersey.

(5) A storage reservoir, created by a dam extending across the Delaware River between Pennsylvania and New Jersey at Wallpack Bend, with a total capacity of 121 billion gallons. The primary purpose of this reservoir would be to provide additional water for stream flow regulation and to make a new source of water supply immediately available to Philadelphia, southeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey, as and when needed.

The Consulting Engineers estimate that the total cost of construction of Stage 1 of the Recommended Project, on the basis of 1950 prices, would be $564,000,000. Of this amount, they recommend that approximately $416,000,000 should be charged against "Water Supply" features of the Project, and estimate that this investment would be entirely self-liquidating by revenues received from the sale of water. The allocation of costs to "Water Supply" includes the cost of providing storage capacity for the release of water as "compensating water" as would be required under the principles of the United States Supreme Court decree previously mentioned.

The Consulting Engineers suggest that about $148,000,000 should be charged to "Stream Flow Regulation" and be paid for by the four states in proportion to benefits received. The $148,000,000 consists solely of the cost for providing storage capacity for river regulation in excess of the capacity provided in conjunction with and charged to, the water supply diversion feature of the project. It is believed that the annual benefits from the stream flow regulation feature of the project would substantially exceed the annual costs.

Coincident with the engineering investigations, the Commission, on March 18, 1950, with the approval of the Attorneys General, created an advisory committee to study the legal aspects of the project. Specifically, the Committee was asked to prepare a draft of an interstate compact to establish an administrative agency to which power would be given to finance, construct, maintain and operate the proposed water project on behalf of the participating states pursuant to the approval of such project by the Legislatures of such states.

The members of this Committee were:

Judge P. Warren Green, former Attorney General of Delaware

Deputy Attorney General Robert Peacock of New Jersey

Deputy Attorney General Edward C. Ryan of New York, and

Deputy Attorney General M. Vashti Burr of Pennsylvania, Chairman

At the request of the Committee, the Chairman, throughout the entire progress of the study, graciously assumed the responsibility of drafting the terms of the document for submission to, and deliberation and action by, the membership as a whole. Meetings of the Committee were held on March 18, June 8-9, July 12-13, and August 30, 1950, and January 4, 1951. The assistance and advice of investment bankers and bond counsel and of specialists dealing with interstate compacts, water works engineering, public work financing and governmental administration also were secured.

The Committee, on January 12, 1951, presented its final draft of a proposed compact to this Commission. It was received with the clear understanding that the proposal does not necessarily represent the official views of the States which the members of the Committee represented. It was accepted with the greatest of appreciation and with a sincere conviction that, except possibly for a few relatively minor adjustments which probably would be mutually agreeable to the affected States, the proposed compact will effectively accomplish the purposes for which it was designed.

The Commission is particularly impressed with the way in which the interest of each of the States, which would be signatory to the compact, are safeguarded. Under its terms, the construction of the project cannot be started unless and until the Legislatures of all of the signatory states have agreed upon and approved the plans for, and the method of financing, such project. There are also several other protective provisions, including a requirement calling for the submission of recommendations regarding any project by the principal water resources agency of each state to the Legislature of the State which that agency represents.

Attached hereto is an illustrated brochure entitled "The Delaware River Basin Water Project" which has been prepared as a supplemental part of this report. It sets forth the major purpose for which this Commission was created; gives a brief background of the water problems confronting metropolitan areas in the "Delaware Basin" states; contains a map and description of the proposed project; states who will be the principal beneficiaries of the project —and why; explains how the project can be given life; and calls attention to the fact that, while of utmost important, the project is but one item of an overall conservation program for the Delaware River watershed.

There is enclosed in the pocket on the inside of the back cover of this brochure a copy of each of the following:

1. Summary, Conclusions and Recommendations of the Consulting Engineers' Report on the Utilization of the Waters of The Delaware River Basin.

2. Proposed Compact creating the Delaware River Basin Water Commission, together with a model draft of enabling legislation incorporating such compact and directing said Commission to carry out certain specific functions.

3. Reprint of article in the September 30, 1950 issue of the Saturday Evening Post entitled "Look What They're Doing to the Delaware."

Because of considerations of public necessity, the project in its essentials, in this Commission's judgment, will be built. There seem to be but three methods under which this would be done:

1. By piecemeal and individual action by the states and/or their political subdivisions subsequent to disagreeable and wasteful litigation in the United States Supreme Court,

2. By some type of a federally-controlled agency.

3. By interstate cooperation through the medium of an interstate compact.

The Commission believes that the choice is clear. In its opinion, the third method, interstate cooperation, is far superior to the others.

The Commission is deeply aware of the responsibility you have placed upon it in directing it to make this all-important survey. It believes that the program which it is presenting to you is wise and sound. It is confident you will give its recommendation careful and favorable consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

F. A. PITKIN, Chairman
FLOYD E. ANDERSON, Vice Chairman
CHARLES R. ERDMAN, Jr., Vice Chairman
RAYMOND B. PHILLIPS, Vice Chairman

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire at this time to make a report on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission.

There is being distributed, Mr. President, to the Members of the Senate, a copy of the General Report of the Joint State Government Commission as submitted by the Chairman of the Commission, the Honorable Baker Royer, the gentleman from Lancaster, who is serving with such distinction in the House.

I would like to call the attention of the Membership to this Report, because the Report will be followed up by the introduction of various bills which contain the conclusions arrived at by this by-partisan interim study group.

Mr. President, I would like to congratulate and pay my respects to the members of the various sub-committees who served so unselfishly and tirelessly during the interim, doing the fact finding and preparing the legislation which will be introduced later, and which carries out the best collective thought of the group which comprise this Joint State Government Commission. It is an example of a representative form of government in action, in which those who are elected to public office are attempting to discharge the responsibilities of their office rather than delegate the authority to paid fact finders. The Members of the General Assembly through this Commission have done a remarkable job, which is a contribution to the betterment of the Commonwealth.

In submitting this Report, and on behalf of the Membership, Mr. President, I would like to pay public tribute to the very fine staff of the Joint State Government Commission who have been of such immeasurable assistance, and who have rendered great cooperation to the Membership of the Commission, in providing us not only with the facts but with the background, and with recommendations upon which the legislation is predicated. It has been teamwork, Mr. President, that has been a source of pleasure to every Member who has had the privilege of serving on this Commission, and those of us who have had that privilege take great pride in being associated with that staff and being part of the contributors of this Report. I recommend it to the Members of the Senate. I think you should read it so that you can correlate it with the recommended legislation which will follow.

GENERAL REPORT OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION 1949-1951

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I offer the General Report and ask that it be noted in the Journal.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

URGING THE FEDERAL HOUSING EXPEDITOR TO INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS MADE BY TENANT AGAINT LANDLORD, OR VICE VERSA

Mr. FREED offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, The Office of the Federal Housing Expeditor has been created inter alia to facilitate the solution of the additional problems created for landlords and tenants by rent control; and

Whereas, Any action of this office based upon less than a thorough investigation of a complaint, confuses both tenants and landlords and is unfair to both; and

Whereas, On any given complaint, one investigation is usually inadequate, especially where it unveils the facts only as to one of the parties; and

Whereas, A complete investigation of every complaint, uncovering the facts on both sides, is essential to produce a healthy relationship between landlords and tenants; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Federal Housing Expeditor is hereby importuned to require three investigations by his agents of every complaint made by a tenant against a landlord, or vice versa, at separate times of the day, before acting thereon in order that any action taken may be based upon all the facts; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Commerce of this Commonwealth do everything in his power to promote more salutary relations between the Office of Federal Housing Expeditor and landlords and tenants; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of Commerce of this Commonwealth, the Federal Housing Expeditor, Tighe Woods, and to every State Legislature in session during this year.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE FEASIBILITY OF ESTABLISHING A FREE CITY COLLEGE IN PHILADELPHIA

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, The largest city of this Commonwealth, Philadelphia, one of the twelve largest in the world, does not have a free city college; and

Whereas, There is need for such an institution in Philadelphia so that its young men and women who desires a college education may not be deprived of the opportunity to acquire the same; and

Whereas, Such a college deserves State support and cooperation since its existence would benefit the whole Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study the feasibility of establishing a free City College in Philadelphia with State cooperation and support; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall file a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular session by February first, 1953 together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF ALL DISABILITY BENEFIT LAWS

Mr. WOOD offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, Adequate modern disability benefit laws are necessary for the welfare of the huge labor force of this Commonwealth as well as for the well-being of management and the general public; now, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a thorough study of all disability benefit laws to the end that adequate legislation on the subject may be provided for this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall file a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular session by the first day of February, 1953, together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE FEASIBILITY OF ESTABLISHING MEDICAL AND DENTAL SCHOOLS AT PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

Mr. LETZLER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, There is a great need in this Commonwealth, as elsewhere in this country, for many more doctors and dentists than are presently being graduated by the country's medical and dental schools; and

Whereas, In this Commonwealth, young men and women cannot acquire a medical or dental education at any State educational institution; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study the feasibility of establishing medical and dental schools under the administration of Pennsylvania State College so that the young men and women of this Commonwealth, who desire such an education may not be deprived of the opportunity of acquiring it; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall file a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular session by the first day of February, 1953, together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE FEASIBILITY OF ESTABLISHING A SCHOOL OF VETERINARY MEDICINE AT PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

Mr. SCARLETT offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania State College has an excellent agricultural curriculum but no school for the training of veterinarians; and

Whereas, Such a school of veterinary medicine would complement such existing outstanding curriculum and would prevent the youth of this Commonwealth who desire such higher education from being deprived of the opportunity to acquire the same; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study the feasibility of establishing a School of Veterinary Medicine at Pennsylvania State College!; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall file a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular session by February one, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three, together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY IMMEDIATELY THE PROBLEM OF MILK CONTROL

Mr. FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Agriculture:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, Conditions in the milk industry have changed materially, along with related general conditions, since milk control legislation was enacted in this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Such vital legislation should at all times be consistent with changing and changed conditions for the betterment of the general welfare of this Commonwealth as well as the interests of the milk industry itself; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make an immediate study of the whole problem of milk control so that the General Assembly during this regular session of 1951 can expediently enact any legislation necessary to correct weaknesses in the present law; and be it further

Resolved; That the Joint State Government Commission for such purpose shall file a report of its findings and recommendations to this General Assembly, in ample time to effecuate the purpose of this resolution together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY IMMEDIATELY THE ENTIRE PROBLEM OF LABOR-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS

Mr. BERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, Labor-management relations have year by year assumed greater influence over the lives of all the citizens of this Commonwealth and the United States; and

Whereas, It is vital to the continuing welfare and progress of this great industrial Commonwealth that legislation keep pace with the expanding importance of labor-management relations to the end that the increasing and difficult problem of labor and management may be solved quickly and intelligently rather than slowly and with force, strikes, and to the detriment of all; and

Whereas, Existing legislation providing such machinery does not take cognizance of the increasing importance of the subject matter nor of all the techniques that have been devised and improvised to aid in the solution of problems arising therefrom; and

Whereas, There is urgent need that corrective legislation on this subject matter be considered and passed during the present session of the General Assembly; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed immediately to begin a study of the entire problem of labor-management relations with the emphasis on existing legislation providing machinery for their solution and in particular those statutes relating to labor disputes, mediation, arbitration, injunctions, and collective bargaining; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission in its study shall consider the feasibility of providing a new, enlarged, or revised administrative agency or department for the more successful handling of such problems in the best interests of labor, management, the general public and the governmental administrators; and be it further

Resolved, That as a part of such study the Joint State Government Commission shall also consider the provision of a practicable system of extension education relating to labor-management practices in negotiating and carrying out collective bargaining activities and agreements; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission shall submit its report embracing its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly during this regular session of one thousand nine hundred fifty-one in time to ensure the full consideration and passage of such legislation as they deem necessary to effectuate the purposes of this resolution together with drafts of any proposed legislation necessary to carry out the same.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO APPOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY MEANS AND MEASURES FOR CARE, INCARCERATION AND TREATMENT OF PSYCHOPATHIC PERSONS WITH CRIMINAL TENDENCIES

Mr. PECHAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Whereas, The subject of sex crimes and what may be done by legislation to reduce them, has been a matter of consideration of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth for some time; and

Whereas, The subject is complex and the solution uncertain and difficult, perhaps due in part to a lack of knowledge as to the facts and background of the sex psychopath and the habitual sex offender; and

Whereas, While the subject is still in the inquiry stage, nevertheless the need persists that the public be given better protection against the habitual sex offender; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission appoint a committee to make a study of means and measures for the care, incarceration and treatment of psychopathic persons with criminal tendencies and render a report and recommendations to the General Assembly at its next regular session.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment to the amendment to House Rule 27.

The amendment was read as follows:

That Rule No. 27 of the House of Representatives is hereby amended by striking out in the last sentence of the proposed amendment to paragraph one the following words,—"and shall have the right to vote" and inserting in lieu thereof a new paragraph to read as follows:

> The chairman shall not have the right to vote except in the case of a tie vote. This provision shall be applicable to the vice-chairman when he is presiding in the absence of the chairman.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment to the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman speaking for the majority has offered procedural amendments. We propose to offer a series of basic amendments.

The purpose of these amendments, first of all, is to officially recognize the two party system. Second, at all times to protect the right and ability of the majority to act to protect the membership of this House and the public against the arbitrary actions of any committee chairmen. And next to recognize committee action as a part of the legislative process and enable the public to know what goes on behind the iron curtain, which by practice and precept up to this time, has shielded action in committee.

We hold that committees are a part of the legislative process, and that, therefore, action in committee being a part of the legislative process, should as far as roll call votes are concerned be as open to the public as the votes upon the floor of this House. But more of that later.

I want at this time to express satisfaction and appreciation because of the improved status that has been accorded the minority group in this House. When I first came to Harrisburg, the minority leader had no place to hang his hat. There was no place in which the minority could hold caucus. And at times when the majority wanted to murder, or otherwise assassinate the minority, they did it with a snarl and a sneer. You do your murder now with a smile. The position that the minority party has been accorded, however, is a matter of personal relation and is in no way guaranteed to us under the rules of this House.

Now, as I have said the issues which we raise are basic and they strike at the very core of representative government. Now I realize as I plead here that I am addressing the Members of this House, but I also realize that I am speaking to an unseen audience in raising issues in which I believe this unseen audience, the electorate of the Commonwealth will in days to come take a very vital interest.

History has a fashion of repeating itself. If we are unsuccessful today, we will find you in all probability, urging the very causes which we stand for today, urging those causes tomorrow, or next year.

Now I would not have you unmindful of what has been going on in this Commonwealth. There was a time when you and your Governors came into power as a result of landslides and sweeps. You're here in power today as a result of a squeak not a landslide; and the old days have gone forever. Pennsylvania is a debatable ground politically, and because Pennsylvania is debatable ground, the minority party as far as the processes of this House are concerned, should have a recognized status. And what status should it have, gentlemen, if not the status which the voters of this Commonwealth have themselves decreed? The voters have said how many Members we shall have here. The voters are sovereign. On what ground then can you argue that you should repudiate the electorate in the matter of representation in a vital activity which is an essential part of the legislative process?

I say that history repeats itself. I say to you, and examine the record that you know our standing, as far as legislation is concerned, upon ground on which we stood in 1947 and 1949. You come in with your authority program. You boast what it has done and because you wouldn't go on with us, you lost two vital years in your mental health program in '45 and your revised salary schedules to keep your technical people in the service of the Commonwealth. You're just beginning to realize it.

All down the line, we have in a large measure on this side, in one session outlined the program for which you'd stand in the next session. We are now raising issues which I believe we can carry to the electorate.

The amendments which I propose; just imagine that you are debating these issues before a miscellaneous audience in your constituencies. Now suppose any Member of this House were espousing the cause for which I stand and for which the minority stands. Could you defend the proposition that denies the minority the strength upon the committees which are the heart and soul and core of legislative action; deny them the representation that the voters have accorded them?

How are these representations on committees determined? Not by any rule of this House. They are determined by the whim or the generous disposition upon the part of of the committee of committees. As far as the rules of this House are concerned, the Committee on Committees could say to this House: We're tired of these Democrats, we don't want them on committees; we don't want to hear them; we won't have them; and so we'll have committees composed one hundred percent of Republicans and there would be nothing in the rules that would say otherwise. I don't believe that a minority—it's conceivable that minorities sometimes becomes majorities—should be absolutely at the mercy of a committee. We're entitled to a formula of representation—a formula of representation that is written into the rules and a formula of representation that is written in the rules is the only guarantee that there'll be any representation at all. If you're writing a formula into the rules, what formula can you write to better effect than that the ratio of representation on committees should be the ratio of representation upon the floor? And if that were figured out mathematically, it would be about as twelve to nine.

Now gentlemen, if you have a committee in which you have twelve to nine and you cannot run that committee, it's because you must be promoting some awful bad legislation. Give me twelve Democrats, give you nine Republicans and if I have a party proposition, I think I'll come out with my party proposition put across as far as the committee is concerned. But if you have party measures, there, as a matter of principle today, the minority is opposed. If you have twelve to nine in committee, you should have sufficient leeway to put your proposition across.

And so, in the name of representative government and for and on behalf of the electorate that sent the Members into this House, I urge the amendment offered upon your consideration. I believe that the American public is a sportsmanlike public. I believe that the American public in Pennsylvania watches the rules of the game based upon sportsmanlike, real American principles and there isn't any principle any dearer than that the verdict of the electorate should be the verdict that this House accepts.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of discussing our opposition to this amendment I yield to the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I can say for the majority membership of this House that we will see to it during this session of 1951 that the minority here will be at all times recognized and treated fairly and with integrity. I would also like to say that I think the majority of the Members here have a great responsibility to the people of the Commonwealth during this next session because of the fact that they are in the majority—they represent a majority of the people of this Commonwealth. They have committed themselves to a certain program, the program of the Republican party in Pennsylvania. In order to keep their faith with the people of our state I am sure they are here to do the job that they were elected to do and represent the people to their best ability.

It is not a coincidence that since we are in the majority we should have a majority of members on committees, because the committees are a very important function in this legislative procedure. Our committees are provided for by the Constitution and since they are, and since they have a great responsibility they certainly have to be delegated with certain powers and certain prerogatives with which to act and to do their job.

I think this resolution which the Minority Leader has offered here today would work a hardship to the minority group, possibly not this minority group, but

I can think of many minority groups to whom it would work a severe hardship rather than a benefit. I see no reason for this change in the rules which has been proposed, because at least within my experience in this House I think the majority has been very generous in their appointments on committees to the minority.

I think if you will look at the figures you will find that during the 1949 session the ratio between the majority and the minority in the House was about 3 to 2 which it is during this session. I think that if you will look to the membership makeup of the committees during the 1949 session you will find that they were 3 to 2.

Now, I said that this change in rules might work a hardship. I am reminded of the session of 1947 when the ratio between the majority and the minority was about 9 to 2 in this House but the representation on committees was not that severe so far as the minority was concerned; it was much better than that; it was about 6 to 2. So I can see no reason why we should place future Houses in a position where they would suffer a hardship and be less represented on committees than they are under the rules as they exist today. For this reason Mr. Speaker I would ask the membership of the House to vote down this resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. On this particular amendment, because we have other amendments to offer, the figures are that the people of this Commonwealth have placed you in power by a 1,796,000 votes and there were 1,710,000 did not agree with you.

I would say to the gentleman that while we have every confidence that as long as he is around out of his generosity and out of the generosity of the smiling Speaker and out of the generosity of the genial Majority Leader they will deal with us very kindly and promise this, but, gentlemen we would rather have the rule than the promise.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the amendment to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment to the amendment to Rule 27 was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm?

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment to the amendment.

The amendment was read as follows:

That Rule No. 27 of the House of Representatives is hereby amended by adding a new paragraph immediately following paragraph one:

The total membership of each standing committee shall be apportioned between the two major political parties on the same ratio as that existing in the membership of the House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment to the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would be very much surprised if these amendments, which I cherish as issues in the years to come, I would be very much surprised if there was the political acumen on the other side to accept them at this time, but this is a procedural amendment that should pass in the interest of honesty, or if they don't want to pass this amendment they themselves, the majority, should amend the Rules in the interest of honesty.

The rule says that the Aeronautics Committee shall be composed of twenty members. Twenty members, that's what the rule says. Then the other part of the rule says that the Speaker will add two other voting members. Now a voting Committee with twenty-two Members is not a voting committee with twenty members.

I say to you in all seriousness that in the present state of the rules we would be justified in raising a point of order against the report of the Committee on Committees in every instance. If you want to amend the rule say that the Committee on Aeronautics shall be composed of twenty-two members of which the Speaker shall appoint two. Now you add two members on the committee capriciously as it were and you don't count them in your measure of representation. You say that out of a committee of twenty we have eight and you have twelve. You don't have twelve; you have fourteen.

Now your Committee on Aeronautics is composed of twenty-two members of which the Speaker appoints two members and the Committee on Committees appoints twenty members. I submit to the Majority Leader, and I submit to the Parliamentarian that unless that rule is amended we will be justified in raising a point of order against every committee that is reported by the Committee on Committees.

On this roll call of course we will take the previous roll call unless the majority decides to amend this rule in keeping with common sense and parliamentary procedure they should.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the majority does not desire to amend the Rule as the Minority Leader has suggested. However I would like to say this again, that my experience in the House here may be somewhat short but I have never known the committee setup, so far as the chairmen and vice chairmen were concerned, being appointed by the Speaker in addition to the membership that is designated by the Committee on Committees—I have never known it to be any different. I do have information from the Legislative Journal of 1941 when the now minority party was then the majority party that they amended the rules to be such as they are today, and their specific amendment was that the membership designated on all standing committees of the House shall be in addition to the chairmen and the vice chairmen thereof. The thing that disturbs me the most about this resolution is the fact that it is an attempt to take away from a Member of his House his right to vote on all matters which rightly belong to this House and which he should rightly be concerned in. And if this resolution were adopted then the chairmen of our committees would not have the right to vote. I therefore ask the membership of the House to vote down this resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KENT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Will the Speaker appoint the chairman and vice chairman of say the Committee on Aeronautics from the membership as reported by the Committee on Committees which will report twenty members? Will the Speaker appoint the chairman and vice chairman from that list as reported by the committee on committees or will he appoint two members of the House outside that list.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I certainly wouldn't take the position of being able to answer that question of what the Speaker will do. I don't know that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it not important that this House know whether the voting Membership of various committees is twenty or twenty-two or thirty or thirty-two? Should not a little matter like that be written in the rules?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, whether they should know it or not, I certainly wouldn't be in a position to say what a person who has appointive power under the rule is going to do or what appointments he is going to make.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the gentleman give me any reason why the rules should not be specific? We do not care whether you say it is a committee of thirty or whether you say it is a committee of thirty-two, but we do say that if you say it is a committee of thirty you have no right counting out a committee of thirty-two. It is a very simple matter to make the rule comply with whatever is the practice of this House, and for the gentleman to say that he does not know under the rules, whatever the practice of this House may be, you certainly do give scarce consideration to proper parliamentary practice.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I don't see that the resolution which the gentleman has offered and which is before the House at this time has anything to do with the point that he has brought up, but I would say this, being unable to quote the Speaker as to what his intentions are in relation to appointing chairmen and vice chairmen I would say that in the past when he has appointed those officers they have been outside of the committee appointments which have been made by the Committee on Committees.

Mr. ANDREWS. I wish the gentleman wouldn't evade; it's a very simple matter. The Speaker must appoint under the rules. Now, because the rule was indefinite, if the rule was that that committee be composed of twenty and then there was in addition outside of the rule an additional member as chairman, in that event we would say that the chairman was not entitled to vote except in the case of a tie, which would be proper parliamentary practice. However if the rule says that the committee should be composed of twenty-two or thirty-two there the chairman of course would be a voting member of the committee. It isn't a matter in which we are concerned—your rule is defective. Amend the rule. If you don't have time now, do it later. Amend the rule in conformity with your practice.

Mr. KENT. I'm not sure, Mr. Speaker that there has been a question put to me that I can answer any more clearly than I did the other one. I certainly don't mean to be evasive but I can only say to the gentleman that under the rules as they are how, there are twenty or thirty members designated for each committee, and the Speaker has the power to appoint a chairman and a vice-chairman. Now who he is going to appoint, I certainly don't know, and I have no intention of offering any amendment to the rules at this time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we will take the former roll call on this. I think under the circumstances, we would be compelled to raise a point of order when the Committee on Committees reports to get a definite decision upon this matter because you changed the ratio.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment to the amendment to Rule 27?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment to Rule 27 was agreed to.

AMENDMENT TO RULE 31

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment to Rule 31.

The amendment was read as follows:

That House Rule No. 31 is hereby amended by adding after paragraph one the following:

> The yeas and nays of the Members of a committee may be demanded by two Members thereof on any question before it, which record shall be entered on their minutes and made available for public examination.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the intent of this amendment is perfectly apparent. It is designed to shatter the iron curtain that protects the secrecy of committee acts. We enact legislation upon the floor of this House and there is a record vote. We prepare legislation very frequently and amend it in committee. The work of the Committees is even more significant sometimes than the vote in the House. If you're going to put a weasel word in a bill, you don't do it on the floor; you do it in committee. If you're going to work a squeeze play on anybody, even the Governor, you don't do it on the floor; you do it in committee. Your committee is your bargaining point, if you do bargain.

It always has been the case that how a Member voted in committee was a deep, dark secret. And lots of times Members have voted in committee after such fashion that if their constituency had known how they voted they wouldn't have come back. If committee action were not an important part of the legislative process, there could be an occasion for secrecy; but secrecy in committee in voting upon matters of essential importance are a direct assault upon the principle of representative government and upon legislative responsibility.

In the federal congress in times past bills have been slaughtered in committee that could never have been slaughtered had they come upon the floor of the House. Those past things tonight are shrouded forevermore in secrecy. Now all I ask is that all Members who are ashamed of the way they voted in Committee, vote for this amendment, and all the Members that don't want their constituents to know how they vote in Committee vote against it. That is the issue which we carry to this House—it is the issue which we propose to carry to the unseen audience which composes the electorate.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I'm not just sure what the Minority Leader is trying to put across in this amendment. I am wondering if he is interested in letting us record the ayes and nays in Committee, or is he interested in bringing that information to the general public? I am sure that either question can be answered now by our present rules.

Our present committees have all the power they need under our present rules. Under Rule 31, which deals with the subject of committee records, you will find that each of said committees shall keep a record or minute of all proceedings before them, which record or minute shall be open for examination by any Member of the House or Senate.

Further, I would refer you to rule 90 which says a Member shall not relate in debate what was done or said in Committee, except as contained in the written report or as authorized by the Committee. Now if the committee who are all Members of this House desire to have anything that transpires in their Committee made a public record, it certainly can be done with their recommendation and their approval. I would ask the Members to vote against the amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman, who in this instance has defined the issue with what I hope will be continuing clarity. He has made the very point I wanted to make which is this: if the thieves decide to hide the loot they can hide it; but if they want to tell the public where they hid it, they can. The issue that I raise is to make it impossible on the demand of two Members to make a voting record a secret record. At the present time if the Committee wants to make the voting record public, it can, but if it wants to hide it, it can and that's the thing that we're after. If the gentleman desires to maintain the secrecy of Committee and if he thinks that the majority is going to vote for things that they don't want to tell the people about, that's all right with us. It's the issue which we propose to take to the unseen audience.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to remind the Minority Leader that when he talks on that phase of the Committee, that he must remember that some of his deeds are there also, and that is the very reason why we have minority representation on all of our Committees.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

AMENDMENT TO RULE 17

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment to Rule 17.

The amendment was read as follows:

That House Rule 17 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

Upon written request of a majority of the Committee on Rules pursuant to action as a regularly called meeting, the Speaker shall refer any bill or resolution designated by the Committee on Rules to a Select Committee appointed by the Speaker, consisting of nine members and a chairman. The Select Committee shall within three legislative days after reference, report to the House any bill or resolution referred to it with either a favorable or negative recommendation.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this amendment is to make certain that there is speedy action upon any measure which the membership of the House might desire or which even the administration might desire. Very frequently bills are introduced, referred to committee and the committee for all purposes of its own, or in its wisdom fails to act when there is a need for action. It might be a bill that the Governor wanted out of committee. The Chairman of the committee might be bargaining with the Governor. The bill should be out. Now we propose in this amendment that in the case of such a bill, the Speaker could refer it to a select committee. That select committee would be instructed to report back to the House within three days with either a favorable or a negative recommendation, making certain that that bill was always within the jurisdiction of the House without making it necessary to try to pass a motion to discharge the committees.

This is a procedural measure. It is of greater interest to the majority than it is to me. It is an improvement on our parliamentary procedure. I don't care to argue it. I'll take the same roll call and I will consider that the majority leader or that the gentleman from McKean has arisen and says we don't like it, turns thumbs down and that the majority on the other side will turn thumbs down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

AMENDMENT TO RULE 39

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment to Rule 39.

The amendment was read as follows:

That Rule No. 39 of the House of Representatives is hereby amended by adding after paragraph one, a new paragraph to read as follows:

The members of a committee at any meeting at which two-thirds of the entire membership are present may by a majority vote of those present demand the immediate consideration of any bill or resolution in possession of the committee.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in times past,—not of course during the period when those now in the House were present here,—there have been chairmen,—I read about it in the newspapers, and the old timers tell me about it,—there have been chairmen who have put a particular bill in their pocket and kept it in their pocket, and the members of the committee just never could catch up with that chairman; he just kept that bill in his pocket. He didn't know where to find it, and it would go week after week with the members of the committee unable to consider a bill they wanted to consider. It is a sort of notion that a committee chairman is something,—oh, very special, and the members of the committee are not supposed to disagree too much with the committee chairman.

Of course, there are implied powers in the present rules,—implied powers that would enable the members of the committee to stand an obstreperous chairman in a corner and make him produce a particular bill. Those powers are only implied, but what I am proposing is that the committee at any time when two-thirds of the committee are present, those present may by majority vote require the chairman of the committee to present for action any bill that the majority desire to consider. And that again is right in line with representative government. If any of those old time chairmen would come back,—and I am sure that there are no chairmen at this session who would ever refuse to bring up a bill in committee, but sometime those wicked chairmen who do act arbitrarily, Mr. Chairman, will come back, and some poor innocent member of the committee that wants to consider a bill, with the chairman carrying that bill around in his pocket, and he couldn't do it,—I just want to provide a means whereby a majority of the members of the committee are the compelling force and power in that committee, and put and keep wicked chairmen, if they ever come back, in their proper place.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that in my short span of service I have never known, or never heard of a chairman as wicked as the gentleman from Cambria would imply. I have been in a number of committee meetings. I have always known the chairmen of those committees to be very cooperative, and that was true even back in 1941 when we were the then minority. I certainly don't feel that in the future sessions any chairman is going to take that much power upon himself that he will not permit a bill to come up for consideration of the committee. I think the committees right now have a sufficient amount of power that they can, shall we say, put pressure on a chairman to bring a bill before their committee. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I ask that the Members vote down this amendment.

AMENDMENT TO RULE 90

Mr. ANDREWS offered the following amendment to Rule 90.

The amendment was read as follows:

That Rule No. 90 of the House of Representatives is hereby amended to read as follows:

Committee Proceedings in Debate

A Member in debate may relate what was done in committee but not what was said except such as is contained in the written report or that which is authorized by the committee.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, before I proceed to address the House on this amendment, may I interrogate the Majority Whip?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, how many Members does the Majority Whip now have present in a position to vote?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say 110, Mr. Speaker, quick count.

Mr. ANDREWS. If the gentleman will assure me that that is the truth I will keep right on with these roll calls, but if he is deceiving me . . .

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to assure the gentleman that we have 110 in the House at the present time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is a very simple and proper amendment. All it provides is that while what is said in a committee is privileged, what is done is not privileged. Any Member under this amendment would be at liberty in the course of debate on the floor, in talking to newspaper men, in talking to anybody, be able to say what was done. I don't see why there should be any particular objection to that. What is done has been done. Now the conversation in committee that's a different matter. Things are said in committee that wouldn't look good in the Legislative Journal. But what is done is properly a matter for public comment and as part of the record.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I will only say in opposing this amendment that the reasons for that position were stated when we considered a former rule when I said that the committees have the power now to authorize the chairman or any member of their committee to make a public statement as to what was done or said in the committee if they so desire.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Readinger and were as follows:

AMENDMENT TO RULE 40

Mr. LOVETT offered the following amendment to Rule 40.

The amendment was read as follows:

That Rule No. 40 of the House of Representatives is hereby amended to read as follows:

That when a bill or resolution has been ten calendar days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of 85 Members.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I have noticed that on the other side of this House there has been a lot of assistance for the floor leader and I am very happy at this time to relieve my floor leader a little.

This particular amendment to the rule is nothing new to a lot of the Members of this House. I have tried at different times to have this amendment to the rule in this House of Representatives adopted. Might I say to you that for four long years this House operated with this particular rule on the books, and I didn't find any hardship to anybody during that time.

Now I know that my pleading here will possibly go in vain as it has many many times before. But as my able Floor Leader has explained to you gentlemen, eventually you are going to come to the day in Pennsylvania when you are going to make it a democracy and you are going to pass and have such rules in the House of Representatives.

Whether you like it today or not the people of Pennsylvania are demanding that you act as a democracy. When we do we will have no fear of communism, none whatever. So, my friends I say honestly to you today, and I am going to make it very short because I have pleaded many and many a time for this very same amendment to the rules, I say to you that it worked for four years in Pennsylvania under the Democratic administration in Pennsylvania. We found no hardship in transacting business in the House of Representatives. I have said before that had you had such rules many pieces of legislation that are now introduced would never be introduced. So my friends, I ask for the same vote as my colleague, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, if I understand this resolution properly it is a move by the minority to reduce the vote that it would take to discharge a committee from further consideration of any particular bill. They would reduce it from the constitutional majority of 105 as it is now, to 85.

If the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, is talking about democracy it seems to me that the provisions of this resolution go to the very crux of democracy and if it were passed would certainly tear asunder the very principle and theory of democracy. We on the majority side have accepted a responsibility which we expect to fulfill. How could we answer to the public were we to permit a resolution like this to become a rule and hand over the control of legislative procedural matters that will come before this House, to the minority? One of the theories and the principles of democracy is that the majority should rule and control. We should hear the minority and recognize them. Certainly we would be derelict in our duty if were were to turn over the control or rule to the minority party in this House. The thing that I can't get through my head is why it should take a less vote to get a bill or particular piece of legislation on to the floor of this House than it takes to pass that particular bill or bit of legislation through this House. Now with the numbers the way they stand, with the Democratic party or the minority party having 87 Members, I believe, and only requiring 85 to discharge a committee, this resolution if adopted would circumvent the Constitution and certainly have the effect of doing away with our entire committee setup and our committee system which is so important in the deliberations of this House and of the legislation that comes before this House in expediting the business of the House. If the minority has the necessary majority to pass some particular legislation which they favor, then under our present rules they certainly have the power to get a particular bit of legislation or bill onto the floor of this House and before this body. For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Members of the House to vote down this resolution.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the gentleman is trying to confuse you. When you report a bill to the floor of this House the majority still has control of that bill. That is democracy. We then stand on whether or not we have the strength to pass that particular bill. To hear the gentleman talk you would think that the committees passed the bills in the House of Representatives. That is not true. The bill could be reported to this House and you could defeat it if you were so minded. That is not taking anything away from your majority rule.

As I said before, why go on and debate this issue? You gentlemen who have been here at least know that we worked under that very system for four years. We did not throw democracy out of the window. During those four years I have stood here and told you that there are certain state governments in which all legislation that is introduced during the session of the legislature must be reported to the floor of the House with either a favorable or a negative recommendation. If you set yourself up as more democratic than those people,—let us face the facts and issues,—you can pass this amendment to the rule and you still have control of the legislation.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has mentioned that under the democratic administration when they were in the majority, such a rule was in effect and it worked very well. I believe that one session during that administration that it was in effect,— it was in effect actually during both sessions, but the facts were that in the first session the Republican minority actually had 88 members. And it would work under a situation such as that. However, two years later, in the 1937 session, the minority consisted of 54 Republicans. And I believe that during that session the Republican minority wanted to reduce it to 60, and they were vigorously and strenuously opposed in that move by the majority.

Be that as it may, I would like to say only this in addition, that if the committee system which is setup under our Constitution is to work and work properly, those committees and the chairmen and the people who serve on those committees must have the respect and the confidence of the Members of this House; at least the majority Members of this House. And if they were working under a situation where no matter what action they took on a partciular bit of legislation, their deliberations were to be thrown to the wind and a minority group of 85 persons out of 208 could rescind and upset everything they had done, I am sure that they wouldn't have the confidence and the respect that they need in order to properly operate. I again ask the Members to vote against this resolution.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the learned discourse of the blocking halfback of this new team we see operating over there, and it seems to me he failed to point out one thing, that most of the Members who have served in the House are certainly fully aware of. In the past I know we have offered resolutions to discharge committees from consideration of much worth while legislation, and many Members on the majority side have told me that if afforded an opportunity they would have voted for that type of legislation, but because of the disciplinary tactics that are employed by the majority side they were unwilling to vote to discharge a committee from consideration of a particular bill. So the resolution offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, will certainly afford the Members here an opportunity to vote.

Now, the argument that the democratic process will be circumvented by 85 Members being permitted to have a bill discharged so that we could consider it certainly does not hold true. Actually the constitutional majority will still be required to pass any measure that is submitted to this House for consideration, but certainly we should prevent some chairman of a committee,—and you well know that the chairman of a committee in many instances is the one who is responsible for failing to give us an opporunity to vote on a particular bill,—from holding that bill in the pickling vat in which they have been holding them in the past. And so I say that in all fairness, to paraphrase the phrase that is used by the gentleman from Westmoreland, we should vote in favor of this resolution.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Is it not true that state legislatures or parties, either majority or minority, follow the line of the national administration in many respects? Isn't it true that party policy and discipline follows from National to State?

Mr. LOVETT. I don't know whether that is true or not.

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, I am willing to admit that that is true as far as Republicans are concerned.

The Republicans in the state of Pennsylvania uphold more or less the principles of the Republican party nationally.

Mr. LOVETT. Well, that's nothing to be proud of.

Mr. McMILLEN. Let the record speak for itself, Mr. Lovett.

I am willing to ask you this question: will you give us a copy of the amendment you are trying to propose to the rules of this House which the Republicans must carry so that we may submit the same changes to the rules of the House in Washington?

Mr. LOVETT. I would be very glad to have such rules in Washington.

Mr. McMILLEN. Give us a copy of your rules so that we can submit them and have the Republicans get the same recognition in Washington, please.

Mr. LOVETT. I would be very glad to, Mr. Speaker.

As I said before, I don't want to prolong the debate but I do think that we gentleman here should be clear on certain things. One gentleman gets up and he says I think that the Republicans did this under this rule of Democratic control of 85 to discharge a committee. I've been here a good many years. I could almost go back to the day when they carried those bills around in their pockets. That is not too far back. That's one reason why I continually try to amend these rules so that we do not have that situation in Pennsylvania.

As my friend, Mr. Andrews has said, we intend to take this to the voters of Pennsylvania. We intend to make an issue of it. And we should make an issue of it. And if the Whip on the majority side still thinks he has 110,—I notice a few of the boys getting tired; they took a walk, and if he still thinks they have 110 we'll take the same vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentlemen.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 15, 1951.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it re-convene on Monday, February 5, 1951, at four o'clock p. m., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it re-convene on Monday, February 5, 1951, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T., unless sooner re-convened at the joint call of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The Senate and House Histories of Legislation shall be published weekly during the recess and shall give a record properly indexed of all bills introduced.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there was once upon a time a procession marching through the streets of a great city. Preceding the procession was a little fellow trudging along all by himself. A man standing on the sidewalk said to the little fellow that was trudging along, "Where is this crowd going?" The little fellow said, " I wouldn't know, I am only the leader."

Members of the House, the Democratic caucus,—and I am the servant of the Caucus, has by almost a unanimous vote placed itself on record as opposing this recess. Well now, I'll stick with the caucus.

My personal position was stated a couple weeks ago. You see it is dangerous to offer suggestions to you men on the other side, because you grab them and use them. I never can depend upon your intelligence. Sometimes I think you are going to play it dumb, and when I think you are going to play it dumb you don't and when I think you are, it is just the other way around.

It happens that two or three weeks ago I wrote a letter to the Philadelphia Bulletin which the Bulletin published. I disagreed with the Bulletin. They said we ought to have gone to work on January 2nd. I disagreed with that and said it would have been wiser to have taken quite a recess to enable everybody, the minority and the majority to get in shape to come here for battle, maybe settle down to a five day week; committees working full time, much to the dislike of the lawyers, of having a schedule that we could clear up in a month. Well, that did not suit my fellows. They added something on their side in the preparation of an administration program, barring fiscal elements and of course your platform says you don't need an additional fiscal program because your present taxes are going to raise all the money you need. I read it in the platform; it's there. That is not any problem. For the rest of the program, goodness knows all you have to do and all that you will do when the thing is shown down, you just throw it into pigeon holes, get the bills we introduced in 1949, bring them out, give them a new title and that's that. Anyway the Democratic Caucus has gone on record as opposing this recess.

I now yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I arise to oppose this resolution to recess, for some very good reasons.

When the membership of this House was elected, it was elected to take office the first Tuesday in January and was immediately after the swearing in supposed to get down to business. We have some very important legislation facing this Legislature, and in particular our National defense program which we and the members of the Democratic caucus feel should be acted on as soon as possible; that is the reason that we are going to oppose this motion to recess until February 5.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to oppose this recess proposal to February 5th. A lot of us Members are working people; a lot of us are required to be on the job; when we are not on the job or not in Harrisburg we have got to get a leave of absence. I got a leave of absence and all I can do is go back home and sit down and look wise and figure that those damn Rebublicans who haven't got things ready have had since November 7 to get them ready. The program should have been ready for January 1st and it is not our fault if it is not ready.

I believe that we should not recess and I believe the Senate should consult us. Before they decide on a matter over there I think they should come over here and consult both the minority and the majority parties in regard to a recess before they take action on it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to offer my opposition to this resolution presented by the Senate and I would like someone to explain just why we have to adjourn. I know when I get back to my home town many of my constituents are going to ask me "What are you doing back home? Why aren't you in Harrisburg helping out or doing something for us?" Now, will any one of the gentlemen on the other side explain just why we have to adjourn until February 5th?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, there really isn't a whole lot for me to say after the Minority Leader was kind enough to give us all of the reasons. I think most of us who have sat in this House in past years definitely realize that regardless of who our Governor would be it has always been difficult in the first two to three weeks of a session to set up the mechanical operation of the session. We have sat here and twiddled our thumbs,—lets be honest about that. It is always difficult for any incoming Governor to submit a program immediately to the Legislature. We can submit a program but we want to submit a program that is going to be the program for our state. We don't want to come in here with a program that will be changed and changed.

The gentleman from Philadelphia speaks about the defense program. If I read this morning's Inquirer correctly the Federal Government's defense program is not ready up to this date, and in this resolution if it should be ready and it should be necessary for us to come back to this House, the resolution gives the Speaker of this House and the President of the Senate the prerogative of calling us back into session. We have this year, as all of us know, a tremendous taxation program; we have the teacher's pay, we have the soldier's bonus, we have home rule, we have reapportionment, we have fair employment and many other things. We want to do it and we want to do it right. We want to come back here and when we do come back with a Governor's program, go to work. In the interim that we will be recessed it will also give the minority party quite an opportunity to discuss matters with us and see if we can't work out something that we can come on the floor here and be in agreement partially, or to a great degree, when we come back.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Readinger and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Capitol Building will be closed ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Corridors will be cleared of all visitors and the Pennsylvania State police will assume charge of the building. It is, therefore, important that all Members, officers and employees of the House be present in the building before ten o'clock.

The Committee on Inaugural Arrangements have requested the Members of the House to remove their cars today from the plaza in front of the Capitol. Parking space has been provided for Members at the entrance to the State Street Soldier's Memorial bridge. It will be necessary to remove all cars by tow truck left on the plaza after midnight tonight.

Cooperation of the Members will be appreciated by the Inaugural Committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, once again we have an example of the willingness of the leading Republicans to take advice from the minority. This afternoon I went down to see the Chief Clerk and said that I didn't have the slightest intention of parking my car at the entrance to the State Street Soldiers' Memorial and if they wanted to trot out their tow truck, I would thank them for the service. I am very glad to see that they are taking us clear away down into the suburbs of Harrisburg to park our cars, and I shall be very interested to see the nature of the cars that are parked there tomorrow, having clearned the space by getting the humble Members of the House out of the way. They're generally in the way of certain big wigs who want the space.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hopes that the gentleman will not be inconvenienced and offers his cooperation for the convenience of all the Members of this House at any time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I want to tell you that I don't propose to be inconvenienced in the least. If my car isn't in the proper place, I now notify the Capitol Police or anyone else that I'll thank them for tow service because it'll be the only service I've gotten in recent years.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is requested to announced that if there are any Members of the House Inaugural Committee present in the House, they are to report to the Governor's Reception Room tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SHOTWELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 16, 1951 at 10:00 o'clock a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 7:20 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Let us rise for prayer. This day which the Lord hath made, let us rejoice and be glad in it.

We thank Thee, O Heavenly Father, for these days that come to record our individual enterprise in this the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. May the deliberations and the activities in the ensuing months and years echo in Washington, D. C., pointing the way of our American heritage with freedom and justice for all and liberty for each and every individual.

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, hallowed by Thy name, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair has the privilege and pleasure of presenting to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the gavel of authority of the Senate.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LLOYD H. WOOD. Thank you very much, Senator Taylor.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LLOYD H. WOOD

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. President, Governor, Duff, Governor-Elect Fine, Members of the Senate and Friends, I wish to express my gratitude to the citizens of our great Commonwealth for the high honor they have conferred upon me in electing me to the office of Lieutenant-Governor. I am most happy to observe among this distinguished assemblage today two former Lieutenant-Governors, the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., and the Honorable Samuel S. Lewis.

I regret very much that my very distinguished predecessor is unable to be with us today. We are all very proud of him for the great service that he has previously rendered and is presently rendering as the head of the 28th Division at Camp Atterbury.

I am very proud to have the privilege of presiding over this distinguished body. The Senate of Pennsylvania has traditionally rendered the first order of public service, a type of service that could not be calculated in terms of dollars and cents.

The people of our State look upon you as representative of their highest ideals of legislative deliberation. The reputation of the Senate for dignity and decorum has become too well established to be gainsaid, or by me embellished.

It shall be my purpose to render impartial decisions and to obstruct in no way full opportunity for debate and consideration of every important matter properly before you.

In discharging my duties as Chairman of the Board of Pardons, I propose to be just and fair. The hardened criminal, the predator of civilized society, should not expect any aid from me. It is those only who are sincerely repentant or who have been unjustly punished to whom I will extend a helping hand.

Within the hour, Governor Fine will assume heavy responsibilities, at a time when the future security of our Country is at stake. Also, it is at a time when a great program of public service is scheduled to be carried out for our citizens.

In time of national emergency in the past, Pennsylvania has met every demand that was placed upon her for men, money and material. I am certain that this occasion will not be an exception. Team play produced those fine results. I doubt not that the General Assembly will join our distinguished new Governor in carrying out the platform pledges upon which he was elected, and in perfecting the machinery to facilitate the building of the national defense.

With the determination to lend my humble assistance to the achievement of those ends, I approach my duties as Lieutenant-Governor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous censent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on behalf of the Republican and Democratic side of the Senate of Pennsylvania, we would like to pay a slight tribute to Governor Duff on this his last official appearance before us. He has been a great Governor of Pennsylvania, he is a great citizen of Pennsylvania, he will be a great United States Senator.

As he leaves Harrisburg for Washington, we want him to know that he takes with him the best wishes and the friendship of the fifty gentlemen who comprise the Senate of Pennsylvania, and we are very, very happy to welcome him to one of the most exclusive lodges in the world, the clan of Senators.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I call up from the table at this time, a communication from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and ask that the Clerk read the communication.

The Clerk read the communication as follows:

RECALLING THE NOMINATION OF THE THE HONORABLE CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 15, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with Article IV, Section 8, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I nominated for the advice and consent of the Senate, Honorable Charles J. Margiotti as Attorney General, vice Honorable Thomas McKeen Chidsey, who resigned during the recess of the Senate. The commission, in accordance with said Article IV, Section 8, is to expire at the end of the present session of the Senate unless sooner superseded by me or other lawful authority.

Since this appointment unler the aforesaid section of the Constitution is at the pleasure of the appointing power, and no unexpired term is involved, nothing is to be gained by any official action by your Honorable Body, and consequently I respectfully request the return to me of the official Message of Nomination in the premises.

JAMES H. DUFF.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I call from the table the nomination of the Honorable Charles J. Margiotti, and ask that it be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the nomination as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 2, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following:

ATTORNEY GENERAL

Charles J. Margiotti, Pittsburgh, from July 5, 1950, until superseded.

JAMES H. DUFF.

NOMINATION RETURNED TO THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the nomination, just read by the Clerk, be returned to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not think that any person in this chamber, whether a Member of the Senate or a guest of the Senate, misunderstands or needs an explanation of what is about to take place in the Senate of Pennsylvania? However, for the purpose of the record and in order that there be a distinct understanding on the part of our majority colleagues and the people at large of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, speaking for the Democratic Caucus, I wish to note for the record that we are opposed to this procedure now being indulged in by the Senate. First, we base our opposition upon our understanding of the duties of the Senate, as well as the requirements of the Constitution of the Commonwealth. Following the procedure that is about to take place, any Governor of this Commonwealth so minded could very easily set aside the prescribed prescriptions within the Constitution, and by simply following this rule of procedure could take away from the Senate its prerogatives under the Constitution, namely, that it shall consent and advise to qualify members of his cabinet, specifically, the Attorney General, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and so forth, as specified within the Constitution and other offices delegated by law.

If this particular trick, and I call it that, because that is the only description understood by all, can be performed here today, there is no guarantee to the people that if a Governor wanted to at some time name a person unfit for an office, or disqualified by his personal actions and behavior to sit in the Cabinet of the Governor, he could circumscribe the provisions of the Constitution by simply naming the individual, recalling his name at the beginning of the Session, taking the resignation at the end of the Session, and renaming that individual until the next Session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, if that is the purpose, as I understand from the newspaper, and unless I am informed to the contrary, I am led to believe that that is the purpose of this particular action on the part of the Senate today. The question of the qualification of the individual has not entered into this discussion, either off the floor or on the floor of the Senate, but the question of whether an individual can interpret the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to best suit his purposes is one that requires a great deal of concentration on the part of the Members of the Senate, in order that no precedent be here established that may some day cause this Senate to be embarrassed on both sides of the aisle.

Particularly, I stress this point. The Constitution in so many words says this, that the Governor may apoint and shall appoint, if he so desires, a person to the office of Attorney General, and that person shall serve until the end of the next Session of the Legislature. There are those who interpret the next Session of the Legislaure to be that Session of the Legislature during which that particular Governor is the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Constitution further prescribes the duties of the Governor who is naming this man to the Attorney Generalship, the hand from the grave,, the ex-Governor of the Commonwealth, or the incoming Governor of the Commonwealth. If it is so desired, and a weakling should become Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a man without spine or courage, if that particular individual becomes the Governor of the Commonwealth, the outgoing Governor could dictate the policies and the officers of this Commonwealth through the entire four years of the incoming Governor. That is not the intent of the Constitution, and whether some lawyer so reads it, it is still the prerogative of this Senate, whether they be members of the minority or the majority, to uphold the dignity of the office and to perform the duties they are obligated to perform.

Mr. President, I have noted from my few years that the United States Senate very carefully, on both sides of the aisle, scrutinize the appointments of the President of the United States. Whether the majority is a large majority or whether it is a slim majority, whether the minority is a large minority or a slim minority, history has been that they prescribe the rules under which the Senate operates, if it is within the contents of the Constitution.

We are here today, Members of the Senate, sworn to perform certain duties prescribed within this Constitution. If we allow this particular trick, and I say it is a trick unless I am told otherwise from the floor of the Senate, it is the purpose of this particular communcation and the action of this Senate today to give to the Attorney General named by the outgoing Governor the right to sit in the incoming administration without benefits of qualification by the Senate of Pennsylvania as prescribed by law.

Now, Mr. President, we find ourselves much in the same position as minorites have found themselves over the course of history. We find ourselves using whatever legal weapons we can use to see to it that the Constitution, as we read it, is not circumscribed. We believe we stand upon our rights and we wish to say that contrary to anything that may be said to the effect that we are obstructionists, we are not. We are not intending in any manner whatsoever to cripple the incoming Governor unless he so desires. If he wants the prerogative prescribed to his office to name his cabinet officers, we as Members of the Senate intend to sit here and work with him to see that he gets the type of men that he desires, and when he presents to this Senate a list of cabinet officers named by him, the Democratic minority will sit in serious meeting assembled and give him the benefit and the courtesies that he is entitled to, but if he refuses, as the public will so state and the public press so carries, and unless I am informed to the contrary, I must believe it, if he is going to sit by and allow the hand from the grave to dictate the policies and the persons in his official family, we as members of the Senate cannot get around the constitutional requirements of our office, and we will not under any conditions, regardless of abuse, regardless of criticism, regardess of threats, move from our avowed position, that if we cannot act upon the cabinet of the new Governor as the cabinet of the Governor, we will act upon none. This is not personal. There are some fine men and women being named, as I understand it, to the new cabinet. I am particularly fond of more than one of them, and I do not hesitate to say publicly that it moves me deeply to in any way whatsoever cast any kind of a reflection upon the nomination of my personal friend, Senator Andrew Sordoni, but this man who is the Attorney General of Pennsylvania by virtue of the hand from the grave, if he cannot see that it is his interpretation of the Constitution that we are fighting, then he ought to be big enough to step aside and not impede the work of this Senate in this day of dire emergency in the United States of America.

All of us have uppermost in our minds this emergency; all of us have uppermost in our minds our brothers and sons who are bleeding and dying upon the fields of battle, but even through the days of catastrophe and bloodshed if we are to remain a democracy and a working union of government, we must uphold the Constitution as we see it. We, the Members of the Democratic Caucus, after due deliberation and many anxious moments, have studied and have come forth with what we think are our proper duties to the people of Pennsylvania, and although it may not be the popular course, and although it may not be that which is desired at this moment by the greater number, this fact still remains that for the purpose of the record of Pennsylvania, we want to strenuously object to this particular maneuver or trick being perpetrated in the Senate of Pennsylvania today.

If Governor Fine wants to name this individual, we will take it up for due consideration along with all the other appointments. What is wrong with that pocedure? That is the procedure prescribed by the Constitution, those are the rights given to the Governor by the people of Pennsylvania, and nowhere in this Constitution can any man show me where the right is given to an outgoing Governor to take from the Senate of Pennsylvania a name once submitted for its consideration, for the purpose, mind you, for the express purpose of taking away from the Senate its prescribed duties and obligations.

If this name is being removed because the Governor has asked that the withdrawal be made, there is no objection to that, but when we are forewarned, and unless somebody on the floor informs me to the contrary, we are forewarned that this is an expedient, this is a trick, a maneuver, so that Governor Fine will not be permitted, mind you, will not be permitted to name the Members of his Cabinet because we are derelict in our duties.

Mr. President, if the man, and I understand from my book of nominations that there are more than one, but what the people of Pennsylvania do not understand is that one man is insisting upon this action, destroying and obstructing the unity of this Senate today. All the others who have been nominated by the Governor of Pennsylvania in the interim have not said a word. If, as the Governor's letter so says, it is of no point having the Pennsylvania Senate to regard these nominations, then why are these names sent over to us; why, unless there is a maneuver here to distinctly circumvent the Constitution, has not the Governor asked that all of these names be recalled? They all come under the same category. Why can't they all serve without benefit of clergy, as it were, why can't they all serve in the same status as the Attorney General? Why is it that we say or are being told that we are a deliberate constitutional body for some but for those whom they do not desire to have us pass our judgment on, the Pennsylvania Senate amounts to nothing. If we are an entity of our own, if the three branches of Government, as I have so often heard said on the other side, are separate and distinct branches of government, if the Executive has its position, if the Judicial has its position, and if the Legislative has its position, then I say to you Members of the Senate that not any one of this triumvirate shall take over the duties of all three, but all three shall perform the duties of one.

So I lay down the principle in this Senate today and on behalf of the Democratic minority, that if we allow this action to be taken you may as well tear out of the Constitution of Pennsylvania Article 4, Section 8, because it has no meaning whatsoever. Mr. President, it hasn't any meaning whatsoever. If a Governor can say, I give you the name of John Doe, in accordance with the Constitution for your consideration, and then because he finds that there may be some opposition on both sides,—I say that without fear of contradiction, on both sides—finding that he cannot get the required number of votes to get the blessings, as it were, of clergy, in this case the Senate of Pennsylvania, as prescribed by the Constitution, he simply writes a letter and says, I will take the name back and then I will name him without you considering it. Now, if that is the procedure, if that is the way it is going to be done, then let us face the issue and say honestly to the people of Pennsylvania, that insofar as the Legislative branch of government is concerned, it is a subordinate division of the executive branch. That is exactly the message that goes out to the people.

Who is there within our group that cannot stand the light of public appraisal? Why should it be that we here today set up a precedent for a person who cannot stand the light of public appraisal? If in the future such a person should appear before us, and because the Governor, and, incidently, it has been known through history that governors are stubborn individuals upon occasions, they are normal the same as each and every one of us, they make promises that they have not fulfilled even if it costs the Senate its prerogatives, and because they want to maintain their own personal position in a matter, they still have not the right to take from us our personal and public positions in the matter. I do not care who the individual is, but I do say in closing that if this is an honest move to remove from consideration this individual, and that between now and the hour of twelve o'clock the outgoing Governor will not re-name this individual, to circumscribe the constitutional provisions of Pennsylvania, I can honestly say we have no objection. If we are given the word of honor by the majority leader that in his opinion this is not a truck, this is not an executive maneuver, this is an ordinary procedure wherein the outgoing Governor wants to clear his desk of unfinished business, then there is nothing in any of the remarks that I have made, there is no ground for our position, but if it is an executive maneuver, an executive trick to foist upon the people of Pennsylvania an individual that will not stand scrutinization of the members of the Senate as described by law, then we must for the purpose of the record and of future action maintain our position of opposing the motion to return to the Governor this nomination. If all the nominations within this book are in the same category as that of the Attorney General, I pose one question for the people and the public, why are not all these nominations treated in like manner.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, several years ago in the Senate here I listened to a very impressive speech by that distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis. It was a speech that was inspirational, it was full of the philosophy of life and made a very deep impression upon me. The subject of the speech was suspicion.

Mr. President, I want to say to the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle that there is no trick, there is no subterfuge, there is no attempt on the part of the majority or the outgoing Governor or the incoming Governor to prove to them that the hand is quicker than the eye. There is no attempt to foist upon them anybody that they don't want. This is a motion that has been made on the floor of the Senate repeatedly, and that is to return to the Executive Department a nomination which at the moment was on the table and had not been referred to a Senate Committee. That motion has been made so that the nomination can be returned. We all appreciate the fact that the present Chief Executive of the Commonwealth will be out of office in less than an hour. When the new Chief Executive has taken his oath of office and returns to the Executive Chamber, he will send to this Chamber, following the custom that has been in force long before I become a Member of the Senate, a request that all of the nominations that the Senator from Westmoreland showed us in the book be returned to the Executive Department. The present practice of sending this particular name over is to give the Chief Executive, the Governor-elect of the Commonwealth, the opportunity to present to us later this afternoon his cabinet.

Now, Mr. President, there is no trick. I want to say this to the gentlemen of the minority. I have said it to them privately, I have said it to them individually. Mr. President, for the purpose of the record I would like to say there is no trick, there is no subterfuge, there is no attempt to deceive the minority. We have had four years of very pleasant relationship with the other side. We propose to continue that under the administration of Governor Fine. Governor Fine is not the type of individual who would on the threshold of a sacred trust cross that threshold by attempting to trick the minority.

Now, the gentleman from Westmoreland knows full well that what has been in the newspapers or what might be printed in the press is based partly on fact and partly on the conjecture of the distinguished gentleman writing the story. I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland and to his colleagues, you have the word of honor of the majority leader that this is not a trick. We are merely attempting to return to the Chief Executive, in compliance with the last request the gentleman will make upon us officially, a nomination which was on the table here in the Senate. That is the sole issue that is before us. The question of whether or not you would confirm the appointment, if it would be made, of Mr. Margiotti is a problem we will take up if that is before us, but that is not the question that is now facing us. We have one question only, gentlemen, and that is whether or not you will return to Governor Duff the nomination as per his request, and I say to you again this is not a trick, this is not a subterfuge, this is not done in an attempt to deceive or hoodwink the minority or the public. Every Constitutional privilege and prerogative that is left to the Legislative branch of the government will be defended with vigor by the majority as well as the minority side, and we do not propose to let the Executive or the Judicial Department tramp upon the prerogatives of the Legislative. That is a responsibility that has been entrusted to us by the people of Pennsylvania, and we stand shoulder to shoulder with you in your desire to see that it is preserved for the people.

Again, Mr. President, may I say to you this is not a trick. Let us send this name back and then we will face with you fairly and squarely the issues that might be involved in the confirmation of Governor Fine's cabinet.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. It will be a pleasure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as the gentleman from Allegheny knows, I have a great deal of respect both for his courage, ability and his word.

Mr. WALKER. The feeling is mutual, I assure you, Senator.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it is your opinion, Mr. Walker, if you can feel free to answer this, is it your opinion that if this motion is passed by the Senate and this nomination is returned to the Governor's Office, there then is a vacancy in the Attorney General's Office?

Mr. WALKER. Well, now, Mr. President, I do not want to avoid the gentleman's question. I know the trouble you can get into when you toss off a legal opinion in public, because some sharp Philadelphia lawyer will rare back after a while and prove that you are entirely wrong.

Mr. President, there is no doubt in my mind that the very distinguished members of the Bar on the minority side have already digested and explained in full to the distinguished minority leader their interpretation of the Constitutional law of Pennsylvania covering matters of this type. May I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, and I do not want him to accept this as he would something on which he could rest a wager, because in my fervent practice of law in the last quarter of a century I have learned one thing, and that is do not assume that you know any law, but I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland it is my opinion, for whatever it is worth, that if the nomination is returned to the Executive Department, under the motion which I have just made, when Governor Fine comes into office and Governor Duff goes out, in my opinion there is a vacancy in the office of Attorney General.

Now, Mr. President, as I said to the gentleman from Westmoreland, somebody will rare back and prove that we are all wrong, and I have a fear and a high respect for Philadelphia lawyers because they do know so much law, and those of us from the country are always amazed at their legal ability.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, thank you very kindly. Senator Walker, if you find yourself at a loss because you are a country lawyer, just pity me not being a lawyer and still from the country.

Mr. WALKER. You have a better chance than I have.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that the Majority Leader does not operate under a misapprehension of what is being done here today, I ask the Reading Clerk to again read the message from the Governor of Pennsylvania in order that I may atempt to prove my point.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR RE-READ

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask that the Reading Clerk read again the communication from the Governor.

The Clerk read the communication as follows:

RECALLING THE NOMINATION OF THE HONORABLE CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 15, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with Article IV, Section 8, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I nominated for the advice and consent of the Senate, Honorable Charles J. Margiotti as Attorney General, vice Honorable Thomas McKeen Chidsey, who resigned during the recess of the Senate. The commission, in accordance with said Article IV, Section 8, is to expire at the end of the present session of the Senate unless sooner superseded by me or other lawful authority.

Since this appointment under the aforesaid section of the Constitution is at the pleasure of the appointing power, and no unexpired term is involved, nothing is to be gained by any official action by your Honorable Body, and consequently I respectfully request the return to me of the official Message of Nomination in the premises.

JAMES H. DUFF.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, still acknowledging and recognizing the ability of the Majority Floor Leader, I just want to inform him that his assurances that in his opinion, solely his opinion, there will be a vacancy in the Attorney General's Office are not borne out by the statement of the outgoing Governor. He, in so many words, tells the Senate of Pennsylvania that he feels that it would be better for him to withdraw the name, and it would not be any of our business what happens to it afterwards, because he said there is no point in allowing this name to come before the Senate since in his opinion the Constitution says that he can name until the end of the next Session of the Legislature. There was no Session of the Legislature in his Administration.

Now, Mr. President, if the Constitution writers of Pennsylvania ever conceived—I am positive of this because I believe honest men wrote the Constitution—ever conceived the thought that some person who does not have the required support of the Senate of Pennsylvania would find himself in such a position that he could force his appointments by the simple expediency of taking away from the Senate its prerogatives, then I say to Mr. Walker, in all kindness and in all fairness to him, if you allow this motion to go through and I understand you have no other prerogative, if you allow this motion to go through, then you will find that the Attorney General by the public print as carried in our daily newspapers will sit as Attorney General until the end of this Session of the Legislature under the flimsiest excuse ever conceived in the minds of man or charlatan. We are not children, we know what is happening, and if Governor Fine presents to this Senate his cabinet I say to you that the Democratic Senate will give him every courtesy as we have given every Governor, but we will not sit idly by and see his hands tied by the hand from the grave.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred).

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Letzler,	Propert,	Wagner,
Diehm,	Mahanay,	Robinson,	Walker,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Scarlett,	Watkins,
Freed,	McPherson, Jr.	Snowden,	Watson,
Hare,	Meade,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Kephart,	Pechan,	Taylor,	Wood,

The PRESIDENT. Are they any corrections?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as having voted "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded. Are there any further corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as corrected.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

Bane,	DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Barr,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Silvert,
Barrett,	Holland,	McMenamin,	Stiefel,
Byrne,	Lane,	Neff,	Toole,
Chapman,	Leader,	Rosenfeld,	Yosko,
Dent,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The vote on the motion: ayes 28, nays 21.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALKER and Mr. HARE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Letzler,	Propert,	Wagner,
Diehm,	Mahanay,	Robinson,	Walker,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Scarlett,	Watkins,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The PRESIDENT. The nomination will be returned to the Governor.

JOHN S. FINE.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Inaugural Address of the Governor be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JOHN S. FINE, TUESDAY, JANARY 16, 1951, HARRISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

My Fellow Pennsylvanians:

You have entrusted to me the administration of the government of our Commonwealth for the next four years. I realize the tremendous responsibilities of these times, fraught as they are with the terrific clash of ideologies and the bitter conflict of beliefs and denials—the belief in truth and God against untruth and denial of God. I humbly acknowledge the great trust of serving you at a time when we are engaged in a militant crusade for peace.

I begin my duties with mixed feelings, but no misgivings; happy to have the opportunity to serve, yet humble before the magnitude of the task. No man can lightly regard the grave responsibilities that today go hand in hand with public service.

We are living in a period that requires the most rigid economies in government for other than defense and human needs, and demands a multitude of sacrifices on the part of each individual. This is the era of sacrifice, of strict Spartan living, that freedom may survive in a world threatened with enslavement. We will, and we must, endure endless restrictions so that we and others may remain free—free to work, free to speak, free to worship. We face a temporary end to luxuries, a curtailment of necessities to a minimum.

The indomitable spirit that is an American heritage will overcome whatever obstacles we are called upon to meet. Reflection on past periods of trials and perils leaves but one conclusion: America has always emerged from perilous times stronger in unity of spirit, in physical resources and in spiritual freedom. This is true because our objectives have been and are now dictated by justice and right, and not motivated by hope of material gains.

Our position today and the position of those who join with us is precarious, but far from despairing. We are at war and our Nation is in the beginning of a war economy. More and more restrictive measures, harnessing industry and individual alike, are inevitable.

We are plagued by the festering sore of Communism. Hordes of Godless people are lusting for power and would destroy freedom and enslave the world. In this terrifying situation free nations everywhere look to our Country to be the instrument of their salvation. We must see to it that they do not look in vain. We must not fail them. By the same token, they of other lands should not fail to give us in our common cause the fullest measure of every assistance of which they are capable.

If we are to successfully meet the challenge before us, there must be a submergence of selfish interests. We can coddle no favorites nor resort to narrow partisanship in our search for victory and peace. All of us in State government—Democrats and Republicans—must move constantly and confidently with single-minded devotion toward dual objectives: the welfare of the Commonwealth and the welfare of the Republic.

This is the most crucial time in our history. What we do or what we fail to do may determine the destines of our Nation and of mankind; the preservation of religion and the survival of a world in which we would care to live.

We know there can be no security without freedom; without freedom there can come no true peace. America is the last sanctuary of free men. It is the repository of those dynamic ideals which lead irresistibly to the triumphs of freedom if those ideals are not sacrificed by political and diplomatic expediencies.

We must strengthen ourselves in Nation and in State. We need, immediately, to place our economy on more stable grounds. The American people want and should have more enlightenment on what is expected of them. When Americans know the full facts—and often they sense them when they are not officially disclosed—the present challenge to agonized humanity will be wholeheartedly and successfully met. Our people have confidence in themselves, and properly so. We will not lose that confidence. We can add substance to it by accelerating sound preparedness at home and abroad.

As we in Pennsylvania face the possibility that the Korean conflict will spread into world conflagration, we realize that much of our energies and our deliberations should be devoted to the creation of a strong and integrated home defense. Protection of our people and our industry transcends all other considerations.

The Civil Defense Commission in Pennsylvania has accomplished an early and sound beginning on the program of protection of life and property. Its work is proceeding speedily and with commendable thoroughness. Already we are advanced far beyond most other states. This program is going to be costly—how much we do not know. We must guard against overlapping and wasteful expenditures Security, prudence and utility will dictate the nature and extent of these expenditures.

It has never been said, and it will not now be said, that Pennsylvania ever failed to contribute in fullest measure to our national security. The people of our great Commonwealth are conscious of the burdens resting upon us. Our problems are critical, but they are not insurmountable. They are many, but they will lessen. There is no need for pessimism, no place for defeatism. This is the time for all of us to rededicate ourselves and our vast resources unsparingly to our National Government in its emergency.

Pennsylvania already has contributed to the federal military establishment more than sixteen thousand National Guardsmen, including our justly famous and always revered 28th Division. If the remainder of our National Guard is called up we will need a strong State Guard to replace it. We are now building that State Guard. We shall not be found wanting. We will be ready for anything. We should immediately provide the means for the exercise of suffrage by our men and women in the service no matter where they are stationed.

There can be no denying that the times demand that we husband our resources, enlarge our productivity, even conserve ourselves, that we may best assist in the emergency. We must, and we will, be thrifty. Frugality in everything except protection of our people will be the watchword of this Administration. Where our people's health is concerned, we will not stint. We will not be parsimonious in educating our children. We shall not be rigid in our treatment of the unfortunates amonog our citizens; nor will this Administration be wasteful with the people's money.

Due to the war larger expenditures than are currently made will in all probability be necessary to properly run the State's business. New taxes or additions to existing taxes are apparent. To keep tax increases to a minimum requires most careful study. We have to face these demands knowing there is no escape under present conditions. They exist and we must admit it. The plain fact is that a rise in the cost of government is inevitable in Pennsylvania, as it is elsewhere. Careful management and prudent administration will insure a lesser burden on the taxpayer.

Generally speaking, the increased costs of administration of our Commonwealth should be paid for on a pay-as-you-go policy. The costly errors which have plagued our generation with wars ought to be borne by us in so far as it is possible. The costs should not be passed on to our children, as in all probability they will inherit less of the American way of life than was bequeathed to us.

As this Adiministration begins the general cost of living is up 74 per cent over the cost of 1940, only eleven years ago. Building construction costs are three times as high. Public assistance grants per person are nearly two and a half times 1940 grants. These are but a few of many illustrations which show rising costs of living and higher expenditures for the conduct of the Commonwealth's business. Unfortunately, the prospect is that the costs are destined to go still higher.

These facts present a real problem to our financial planning for the years ahead. This problem is not ours alone; it is a problem common to all the states, though it is magnified in those states which like ours, must budget for two-year periods. It must be remembered also that we have the expenses incident to Civil Defense, as yet uncalculated; our commitments to the Soldiers' Bonus; mandated salary increases for teachers; and State Authority rentals. These costs add many perplexities to the problem.

Pennsylvanians have long been justly proud of our great material wealth. We have been, and are today, the arsenal of America. Our resources, our productivity and our contribution of scientific and industrial leadership to the Nation and to the world are astounding and without parallel. We are predominant as a cultural center. Yet, with all, our greatest wealth, our most valuable possessions, are the two million children and youth in our Commonwealth. Soon they must assume the responsibilities of leadership. To them falls the opporunity of perpetuating the American way of life. They must be prepared for that opportunity physically, mentally and spiritually, that they will not fail.

Of greatest assistance to them is the school system. The school can be no better than the teacher. And the teachers must see to it that American history and Americanism above all else are properly taught and fully absorbed by our children. It is our bounden duty to give the best of everything to education. The cost of worth-while education, like everything else, has increased. Neverthless, it is our obligation to provide the necessary financial support to meet these increased costs. We must continuously improve our school system; we cannot afford to do otherwise.

Our State must do everything it can to better the people's health. We propose to give without additional expenditures a reorganized and improved Department of Health dedicated to a full and thorough public service.

The interests of labor and industry in Pennsylvania will continue to be treated with sympathetic understanding. We must and we will see to it that they live and work in harmony with justice to each.

We welcome industry to Pennsylvania. In some sections we need a greater diversification of industry; and this Administration will make every effort to obtain it. We seek expansion of industry already doing business here. We plan early attention, consonant with a war economy, to relieve the economically distressed areas in the anthracite and bituminous fields.

We have the greatest highway system in the Nation and in the world. Our Turnpike across the State from Ohio to near Philadelphia was not designed as a military highway, but it is a superb one without parellel in the Nation. Completion of the Schuylkill Expressway will add to the Turnpike's value, and will be a boon to industry and to the Philadelphia area. Further plans call for the Turnpike's extension in the west to Erie; in the east to the New Jersey border; and through the anthracite regions to the New York State Line.

Pennsylvania's agriculture enjoys an enviable position among the states. While we rank thirty-second in area, we are thirteenth among the states in the value of farm products. I feel certain we will add to our productivity; and, where possible, the State will aid agriculture to gain this goal.

I believe it to be the duty of government to encourage not throttle, private enterprise. I shall vigorously oppose any move aimed at dwarfing the freedom of individual effort or strangling the American way of life.

Because of limited time, I have not approached many matters which will be presented to the Legislature for the benefit of our people. These matters will be outlined later. However, it is fitting at this time that I reaffirm my faith in sound, efficient and progressive government, administered with common sense.

As we face grim uncertainties we Americans need not fear for our strength. We must shun the counsel of despair. We must not listen to the voices of doubt or defeatism. The light of truth will dispel the clouds of confusion for those of faith and confidence.

Everywhere, the hearts and minds of men constantly yearn for freedoms denied. The march of freedom knows no divisional lines—geographical, religious, racial or of color. This insatiable thirst of man to remain free or to regain his lost freedom is our most potent ally. It strengthens us and is devastating to the opposition.

True, it is disturbing that free men are temporarily thwarted in their search for peace by evil men who have renounced their God. But to men of stout hearts and firm faith it is a challenge for them to rise above their ordinary selves and fight with crusading enthusiasm for principles which are eternal—justice, equality and freedom.

The way of right is the path to victory, if we have the will to boldly and confidently pursue it. Meanwhile, all of us must carry on for a greater and more secure Pennsylvania. It is the duty and responsibility of every Pennsylvanian, as it is the responsibility of all Americans to buttress our Nation I implore your aid and seek your prayers. I ask for God's help in meeting our manifold problems, confident that with His aid we will solve them to the advantage of all of our people.

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inquire of the Minority Leader whether he availed himself of the towing service promised him last night.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I did. When I went out to look at my car, there was a dead battery, completely dead. All the battery needed was just to have the connection made. The people with the towing truck didn't know that, so they towed my car to the proper place. I made the connections and everything is all right.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is glad to know that it is only the battery of the gentleman from Cambria that is dead.

Mr. ANDREWS. Might I inform the Speaker that I long ago discovered how to recharge batteries, which a great many people in this Hall don't seem to know.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would greatly appreciate if the Minority Leader would tell the Majority Leader how to do that, please.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess until 4:30 p. m. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR FINE PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the inaugural address of His Excellency the Governor, John S. Fine, be printed in full in the Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JOHN S. FINE

My Fellow Pennsylvanians:

You have entrusted to me the administration of the government of our Commonwealth for the next four years. I realize the tremendous responsibilities of these times, fraught as they are with the terrific clash of ideologies and the bitter conflict of beliefs and denials—the belief in truth and God against untruth and denial of God. I humbly acknowledge the great trust of serving you at a time when we are engaged in a militant crusade for peace.

I begin my duties with mixed feelings, but no misgivings; happy to have the opportunity to serve, yet humble before the magnitude of the task. No man can lightly regard the grave responsibilities that today go hand in hand with public service.

We are living in a period that requires the most rigid economies in government for other than defense and human needs, and demands a multitude of sacrifices on the part of each individual. This is the era of sacrifice, of strict Spartan living, that freedom may survive in a world threatened with enslavement. We will, and we must, endure endless restrictions so that we and others may remain free—free to work, free to speak, free to worship. We face a temporary end to luxuries, a curtailment of necessities to a minimum.

The indomitable spirit that is an American heritage will overcome whatever obstacles we are called upon to meet. Reflection on past periods of trials and perils leaves but one conclusion: America has always emerged from perilous times stronger in unity of spirit, in physical resources and in spiritual freedom. This is true because our objectives have been and are now dictated by justice and right, and not motivated by hope of material gains.

Our position today and the position of those who join with us is precarious, but far from despairing. We are at war and our Nation is in the beginning of a war economy. More and more restrictive measures, harnessing industry and individual alike, are inevitable.

We are plagued by the festering sore of Communism. Hordes of Godless people are lusting for power and would destroy freedom and enslave the world. In this terrifying situation free nations everywhere look to our country to be the instrument of their salvation. We must see to it that they do not look in vain. We must not fail them. By the same token, they of other lands should not fail to give us in our common cause the fullest measure of every assistance of which they are capable.

If we are to successfully meet the challenge before us, there must be a submergence of selfish interests. We can coddle no favorites nor resort to narrow partisanship in our search for victory and peace. All of us in State govenment—Democrats and Republicans—must move constantly and confidently with single-minded devotion toward dual objectives: the welfare of the Commonwealth and the welfare of the Republic.

This is the most crucial time in our history. What we do or what we fail to do may determine the destinies of our Nation and of mankind; the preservation of religion and the survival of a world in which we would care to live.

We know there can be no security without freedom; without freedom there can come no true peace. America is the last sanctuary of free men. It is the respository of those dynamic ideals which lead irresistibly to the triumphs of freedom if those ideals are not sacrificed by political and diplomatic expediencies.

We must strengthen ourselves in Nation and in State. We need, immediately, to place our economy on more stable grounds. The American people want and should have more enlightenment on what is expected of them. When Americans know the full facts—and often they sense them when they are not officially disclosed—the present challenge to agonized humanity will be wholeheartedly and successfully met. Our people have confidence in themselves, and properly so. We will not lose that confidence. We can add substance to it by accelerating sound preparedness at home and abroad.

As we in Pennsylvania face the possibility that the Korean conflict will spread into world conflagration, we realize that much of our energies and our deliberations should be devoted to the creation of a strong and integrated home defense. Protection of our people and our industry transcends all other considerations.

The Civil Defense Commission in Pennsylvania has accomplished an early and sound beginning on the program of protection of life and property. Its work is proceeding speedily and with commendable thoroughness. Already we are advanced far beyond most other states. This program is going to be costly—how much we do not know. We must guard against overlapping and wasteful expenditures. Security, prudence and utility will dictate the nature and extent of these expenditures.

It has never been said, and it will not now be said, that Pennsylvania ever failed to contribute in fullest measure to our national security. The people of our great Commonwealth are conscious of the burdens resting upon us. Our problems are critical, but they are not insurmountable. They are many, but they will lessen. There is no need for pessimism, no place for defeatism. This is the time for all of us to rededicate ourselves and our vast resources unsparingly to our National Government in its emergency.

Pennsylvania already has contributed to the federal military establishment more than sixteen thousand National Guardsmen, including our justly famous and always revered 28th Division. If the remainder of our National Guard is called up we will need a strong State Guard to replace it. We are now building that State Guard. We shall not be found wanting. We will be ready for anything. We should immediately provide the means for the exercise of suffrage by our men and women in the service no matter where they are stationed.

There can be no denying that the times demand that we husband our resources, enlarge our productivity, even conserve ourselves, that we may best assist in the emergency. We must, and we will, be thrifty. Frugality in everything except protection of our people will be the watchword of this Administration. Where our people's health is concerned, we will not stint. We will not be parsimonious in educating our children. We shall not be rigid in our treatment of the unfortunates among our citizens; nor will this Administration be wasteful with the people's money.

Due to the war larger expenditures than are currently made will in all probability be necessary to properly run the State's business. New taxes or additions to existing taxes are apparent. To keep tax increases to a minimum requires most careful study. We have to face these demands knowing there is no escape under present conditions. They exist and we must admit it. The plain fact is that a rise in the cost of government is inevitable in Pennsylvania, as it is elsewhere. Careful management and prudent administration will insure a lesser burden on the taxpayer.

Generally speaking, the increased costs of administration of our Commonwealth should be paid for on a pay-as-you-go policy. The costly errors which have plagued our generation with wars ought to be borne by us in so far as it is possible. The costs should not be passed on to our children, as in all probability they will inherit less of the American way of life than was bequeathed to us.

As this Administration begins the general cost of living is up 74 per cent over the cost of 1940, only eleven years ago. Building construction costs are three times as high. Public assistance grants per person are nearly two and a half times 1940 grants. These are but a few of many illustrations which show rising costs of living and higher expenditures for the conduct of the Commonwealth's business. Unfortunately, the prospect is that the costs are destined to go still higher.

These facts present a real problem to our financial planning for the years ahead. This problem is not ours alone; it is a problem common to all the states, though it is magnified in those states which, like ours, must budget for two-year periods. It must be remembered also that we have the expenses incident to Civil Defense, as yet uncalculated; our commitments to the Soldiers' Bonus; mandated salary increases for teachers; and State Authority rentals. These costs add many perplexities to the problem.

Pennsylvanians have long been justly proud of our great material wealth. We have been, and are today, the arsenal of America. Our resources, our productivity and our contribution of scientific and industrial leadership to the Nation and to the world are astounding and without parallel. We are predominant as a cultural center. Yet, with all, our greatest wealth, our most valuable possessions, are the two million children and youth in our Commonwealth. Soon they must assume the responsibilities of leadership. To them falls the opportunity of perpetuating the American way of life. They must be prepared for that opportunity physically, mentally and spiritually, that they will not fail.

Of greatest assistance to them is the school system. The school can be no better than the teacher. And the teacher must see to it that American history and Americanism above all else are properly taught and fully absorbed by our children. It is our bounden duty to give the best of everything to education. The cost of worthwhile education, like everything else, has increased. Nevertheless, it is our obligation to provide the necessary financial support to meet these increased costs. We must continuously improve our school system; we cannot afford to do otherwise.

Our State must do everything it can to better the people's health. We propose to give without additional expenditures a reorganized and improved Department of Health dedicated to a full and thorough public service.

The interests of labor and industry in Pennsylvania will continue to be treated with sympathetic understanding. We must and we will see to it that they live and work in harmony with justice to each.

We welcome industry to Pennsylvania. In some sections we need a greater diversification of industry; and this Administration will make every effort to obtain it. We seek expansion of industry already doing business here. We plan early attention, consonant with a war economy, to relieve the economically distressed areas in the anthracite and bituminous fields.

We have the greatest highway system in the Nation and in the world. Our Turnpike across the State from Ohio to near Philadelphia was not designed as a military highway, but it is a superb one without parallel in the Nation. Completion of the Schuylkill Expressway will add to the Turnpike's value, and will be a boon to industry and to the Philadelphia area. Further plans call for the Turnpike's extension in the west to Erie; in the east to the New Jersey border; and through the anthracite regions to the New York State Line.

Pennsylvania's agriculture enjoys an enviable position among the states. While we rank thirty-second in area, we are thirteenth among the states in the value of farm products. I feel certain we will add to our productivity; and, where possible, the State will aid agriculture to gain this goal.

I believe it to be the duty of government to encourage, not throttle, private enterprise. I shall vigorously oppose any move aimed at dwarfing the freedom of individual effort or strangling the American way of life.

Because of limited time, I have not approached many matters which will be presented to the Legislature for the benefit of our people. These matters will be outlined later. However, it is fitting at this time that I reaffirm my faith in sound, efficient and progressive government, administered with common sense.

As we face grim uncertainties we Americans need not fear for our strength. We must shun the counsel of despair. We must not listen to the voices of doubt or defeatism. The light of truth will dispel the clouds of confusion for those of faith and confidence.

Everywhere, the hearts and minds of men constantly yearn for freedoms denied. The march of freedom knows no divisional lines—geographical, religious, racial or of color. This insatiable thirst of man to remain free or to regain his lost freedom is our most potent ally. It strengthens us and is devastating to the opposition.

True, it is disturbing that free men are temporarily thwarted in their search for peace by evil men who have renounced their God. But to men of stout hearts and firm faith it is a challenge for them to rise above their ordinary selves and fight with crusading enthusiasm for principles which are eternal—justice, equality and freedom.

The way of right is the path of victory, if we have the will to boldly and confidently pursue it. Meanwhile, all of us must carry on for a greater and more secure Pennsylvania. It is the duty and responsibility of every Pennsylvanian, as it is the responsibility of all Americans to buttress our Nation. I implore your aid and seek your prayers. I ask for God's help in meeting our manifold problems, confident that with His aid we will solve them to the advantage of all of our people.

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces for the record the names of the members of the Committee on Committees, authorized by the majority and minority parties of this House, Messrs. Royer, Chairman, Yeakel, Hall, Cooper, Riley, Sollenberger, Johnson, Stank, Scanlon and Readinger.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

Mr. SMITH at the request of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, and the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Stank, offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1951.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a Select Committee on Memorials, consisting of eight Members of the House, to fix a time and arrange a suitable program for Memorial Services in memory of Members of the House of Representatives who have died during the interim since the Legislative Session of 1949.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE ON MEMORIALS

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the resolution just adopted by the House the Speaker appoints as members on the Select Committee on Memorials, Messrs. Wood, Chairman, Yeakel, McKinney, Royer, Leisey, Watkins, Stank and Mihm.

ADJOURNMENT

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1951. 139th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 32. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1951. No. 4.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 17, 1951

The Senate met at 12:00 o'clock, noon, Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Doctor PHILLIP DAVID BOOKSTABER, Rabbi of Reformed Temple, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray, Oh heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this our Session that it may give our deliberations strength, with vision, courage and fidelity.

We ask Thy blessing upon those who are sick, that they may speedily recover, and those who have had pleasant occasions that they may remember that the blessings from God far outnumber His chastisements and that we may take His chastisements at the same time with humility.

May these deliberations give us strength in order to carry on for this Session for the average common citizen who looks to us for inspiration. In these troubled times, may the Keystone State lead the other states in its legislation, that it may redound to the best way of life, our American way of life, as an inspiration for all who look toward this Keystone State for inspiration.

We ask Thy blessing upon our Presiding Officer who had taken his oath yesterday, and may he, likewise, guide this Session with deliberate judgment, and, as King Solomon has asked of God, nothing but an understanding heart. May his heart be understanding for all the deliberations; remembering the admonition, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity at a time when unity is most needed.

We ask it in the name of our Father who is always in Heaven watching over his children. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WALKER and Mr. HARE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING THAT ALL FUTURE INAUGURAL CEREMONIES BE HELD IN THE STATE FARM SHOW BUILDING

Mr. TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 17, 1951.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution, the term of a newly elected Governor begins on the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election. The inauguration ceremonies are therefore held on that day.

It has been the custom, in order that the public may view and participate in the ceremony, to hold them outdoors in front of the Main Capitol Building. Outdoor ceremonies in the middle of winter are often accompanied by extremely low temperatures and high winds.

This element of discomfort and threat to health might well be eliminated by holding future inaugural ceremonies in the State Farm Show Building, where there is ample space for all interested persons to attend and view the ceremonies; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That all future inaugural ceremonies be held in the State Farm Show Building and that the buildings be reserved for this purpose on the third Tuesday of January of each year when a Governor is inaugurated and that no other use of the buildings be permitted on those days.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, I have been instructed to offer the following resolution to show the desire of the Democratic Party, the Minority Party of this Senate, to carry out the wishes of the Governor in exercising and effecting all the economies of government that can be had in his term of office. We feel, as the Governor does, that money must be saved. We must not use too much man power because our industries and our armed services have to use considerably more than ever was known in the history of America.

So, Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, I offer this resolution and ask for its unanimous adoption at this time.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THAT A COMMITTEE OF TEN SENATORS BE APPOINTED TO STUDY THE QUESTION OF ELIMINATING DISPENSABLE FUNCTIONS OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT

Mr. HOLLAND, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 17, 1951.

It is the purpose of the communist powers in the world to defeat the democracies by inducing the United States and other nations supporting free governments to spend huge sums of money and thereby to breakdown and ultimately destroy the economy and resources of these countries.

To combat this phase of the cold war waged by Russia and her satelites is a matter of immediate concern to every American and especially to every unit of government throughout the United States, therefore be it.

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of ten Senators, not more than six of whom shall be members of the same political party, who shall meet and organize immediately after the adjournment of the Senate today, and who shall, during the recess of the General Assembly, study the question of eliminating dispensable functions of the State government wherever they now exist. For this purpose the committee shall consult with the Budget Office and with the various departments of the State government and with other sources where most accurate information can be obtained. The committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the Senate as soon as possible, but during the current Session.

The members of the committee shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed their necessary expenses for maintenance, travel, clerical hire and other necessary disbursements. An appropriation therefor shall be made upon the reconvening of the General Assembly.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE EXTENDED TO THE HONORABLE JOHN DENT AND HIS BROTHERS AND SISTERS

Mr. WALKER on behalf of the Members of the Senate, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 5, 1951.

On Sunday, February 4, 1951, Salvatore S. Dent, the father of Honorable John Dent, succumbed to a heart ailment. Although he had lived beyond the proverbial span of three score and ten years, yet his passing brings a poignant loss to the surviving members of his family and his wide circle of friends.

Mr. Dent, displaying the pioneering spirit of the immigrant—the most important component of our American social group—came to this country from Italy forty years ago.

With the tenacity and the determination characteristic of our irrepressible forbears, Mr. Dent soon adapted himself to the skillful routine and technique required of those who work in and with rubber. After many years of effective service, he won his right to a retirement from the obligations of daily toil and his more precious right to a peaceful enjoyment of family association with his seven children.

Although his life was rounded and full and his appointed tasks were done, yet his departure has left a vacuum of feeling in which the emotions of sorrow and commiseration join their compensating influence; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend its sincere sympathy to Honorable John Dent and to his brothers and sisters in their hour of bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Honorable John Dent.

RULE 38 SUSPENDED

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. HARE, to grant unanimous consent to immediate consideration of the nominations just reported from the Committee on Executive Nominations, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. HARE, that the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Minority of this Chamber, we would like to go on record and inform the Majority Party that this happens to be the first time throughout this Session that we have had the opportunity to vote for men in any major office in so far as confirmations are concerned.

It appears to me that the Majority Members are laboring under a misapprehension when they say that, off the record, we have taken the stand that we shall not confirm anyone until the Office of Attorney General is taken care of.

Mr. President, the Gentleman from Westmoreland County, Senator Dent, did make a statement that pertained entirely and solely to the Cabinet Members. As the Governor sends over the nominations, we shall consider them piecemeal, but at no time shall be take them as a group, and we feel that the Majority Party has delayed action and caused considerable hardship to the people of the Commonwealth because of its failure to present to this Chamber the names of these Workmen's Compensation Referees. Many men are suffering, their claims have not been adjusted, and even up to this present hour we still find that all of these people who should be confirmed have not been presented to this Chamber. We hope and we ask that by tomorrow, the Governor will send over the balance of the names so that the people of the Commonwealth, who are waiting for claim adjustments and decisions, will be taken care of properly.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am very reluctant at this late hour to prolong any discussion on a collateral matter, but I would like to remind the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, that on repeated occasions he, as well as the distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland, whose absence we regret very very much, told the Members of the Majority Party that the Democratic group would confirm nobody until or unless the Governor sent over a nominee for Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Not once, Mr. President, but at least a dozen times has that statement been made to us here on the Majority side; not alone to me, but to other Members on the Majority side of the aisle has that statement been made, not only by Senator Dent, but by Senator Haluska himself. Just as recently as last Thursday did the distinguished gentleman from Cambria reassure us that they would confirm no one, that there was solidarity, that they would hold the line, and that nobody with the exception of notaries public would be confirmed. Never once was there any intimation that that solid front had been broken by the distinguished gentleman representing the Minority, and may I say, Mr. President, that this late hour attempt to shift whatever responsibility might have been incurred upon the Members of the Senate, because of certain statements that had been made in the press, certainly comes with poor grace at this time.

Mr. President, the question before the Senate is the confirmation of a group of gentlemen who have been appointed to various positions by the Executive Branch of this Government. The responsibility of the Senate is whether or not they will advise and consent. As to who is responsible for the deplorable condition in which we find ourselves is something that the public will decide. The public is well aware of the facts that surround this complete lack of cooperation here in the Senate Chamber, and the people will be the judges as to whether or not the Minority or the Majority is responsible for this despicable condition.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am quite reluctant to disagree with the statement of the Majority Leader, but I say to the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania and to the public at large, there was never any official action in the Democratic Caucus to oppose any and all confirmations. I want the public to know, and the Majority Leader to know, that if such statements were made, they were made without the authorization of the Democratic Caucus.

Mr. President, in looking over Senator Dent's speech, I cannot find in there where he said on any occasion that we were going to oppose all confirmations.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to say to the distinguished gentleman from Washington that he is entirely correct in his statement. The only authority I have for the statement I just made on the floor came to me personally from the gentlemen who are supposed to represent the Democratic Party. Never at any time did I attend a Caucus where all of the twenty Democrats on the Minority side made such a statement, but there are some of the gentlemen who I am assuming spoke for the Caucus when they said not only to me—and may I say to the gentleman from Washington that I am being very careful in the verbiage that I am using—not only said to me but said to other gentlemen on this side of the aisle that as far as the Democratic Caucus was concerned they would confirm nobody with the exception of Notaries Public until the Governor had sent over a nominee for Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am one of the men who conversed with Senator Walker time in and time out, and I did make the statement that we would not confirm any Cabinet Member or consider any Cabinet Member until we first disposed of the Office of Attorney General, and up until the present time, under instructions from our Democratic Party, we stand pat. We have not changed our mind one iota, but at no time have we taken the stand that we would delay or hold up any minor offices. We approved notaries public, recorders of deeds, and I say again this is our first opportunity we have had to act upon higher offices, and the gentleman from Allegheny County does not know what we think or what we may do if he comes forth with the Cabinet Members. Up until the time they are presented to us, the statements made off the record have no bearing in this Chamber.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to say to the gentleman from Cambria that the statement which he made to me personally—and I would like to refresh his recollection a little—was that the Democratic Caucus will confirm nobody unless and until the Governor of the Commonwealth sends over a nominee for Attorney General, and may I say, Mr. President, that that statement was made not only to me but to other gentlemen on this side of the aisle.

Now, Mr. President, I appreciate very much the fact that we are not going to be able to try a case on this, and I would be perfectly willing to let all the gentlemen who are on their feet speak on this motion.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, the learned Majority Leader and the learned lawyers in this Assembly know that what somebody tells them is hearsay. Let's cut out all this monkey business. Whoever spoke to the Majority Leader did not speak for me, if he spoke unofficially.

Mr. President, I feel I should give my vote to these referees and other offices according to the prescribes of our meeting and caucus, if anybody spoke to the Majority Leader, he was not speaking for the Representative of the First District, and every lawyer knows the rules about hearsay.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I do not rise to answer my good friend, Senator Walker, but taking the suggestion from him, I would like to try to make the citizens of this Commonwealth understand that never was it our intention, willy-nilly, to hold up the approval of the nominations made by the Governor, and I would like to point out, too, that the speeches, the discussions, the conversations which took place with regard to this matter on the floor of this Senate took place on the morning of January the fifteenth when our position was made very, very clear. After that, the newly inaugurated Governor of this Commonwealth submitted names to be considered by us for almost the complete official Cabinet of the Governor. He knew our position at the time. Nevertheless, he did that. Those names were referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations. He did not at that time, nor shortly thereafter submit any names for the offices upon which we are about to vote.

Now, Mr. President, it was never our intention to hold up those men. It was always our intention to consider them when they came over, and I think it unfair of my brother colleagues on the other side of the house, or the press, to let the impression go out that we as Democrats held up consideration of men for the position of Workmen's Compensation Referees or Members of the Workmen's Compensation Board. We would have been more than glad to consider them then as we are glad to consider them today.

Mr. President, I repeat again that the Governor knew our position when he sent over his list and his list contained only the Members of the Cabinet, all but two, and if the Governor was anxious to fill the other offices at that time, knowing our position, he could have submitted those names. He didn't do it until today.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, we are now considering confirmations of Workmen's Compensation Referees. It is not my purpose to go into the confirmation of others that were submitted here by the Governor, but the statements I have read in the newspapers would indicate that the Democrats were responsible for not confirming these Workmen's Compensation Referees, and for that reason we have got to go into a little bit of the background.

Mr. President, if my memory serves me correctly, former Governor Duff submitted a group of names that appeared in the booklet on confirmations to the Senate for confirmation. A little bit later, on the day he vacated his office as Governor, he withdrew the name of one of his Cabinet members. Then, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, in his debate on the withdrawal of that one Cabinet member, asked why other names were not withdrawn, and then when Governor Fine was inducted into office, I think the very afternoon of his induction, he recalled the names of all of the persons who were submitted for confirmation by Governor Duff. The following day we adjourned, and we have not met until this time.

Mr. President, frankly, I did not know, and I do not believe the members on the other side knew that these fifteen referees were taken off the payroll, and, of course, after they were taken off the payroll, a story appeared in the paper to the effect that we held up the confirmations, and yet the names of these fifteen gentlemen were never before the Senate until this afternoon. These names were presented today, and the Committee on Executive Nominations reported the names out, and we are about to take a vote, and what I think everybody here is trying to do on this side is to clarify the situation and convey to the public that we are in no way responsible for holding up the confirmation of the referees, which resulted in their discharge and resulted in them being taken off the payroll.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I remember one time in law school we had a pleading known as a "pleading of confession and avoidance."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Charles C. Smith	Hiram G. Andrews
Albert W. Johnson	Herbert P. Sorg
Norman Wood

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. For perfectly obvious reasons, Mr. Speaker, the minority Members of the Committee on Committees did not prepare a minority report. Acceptance of this report is with us a routine matter, and we wish it a matter of record that we are not accepting the principle of representation which the report of the committee embodies.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk will now distribute copies of the report for the information of the Members.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

The SPEAKER. Members are now privileged to introduce bills by filing them with the Bill Clerk at the Speaker's left. Three copies must be legibly signed and dated. Keep the unbacked copy for your personal use.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. REAGAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I noted that the gentleman from Northumberland addressed the chair with his pipe in his mouth. I desire to know whether that is a privilege reserved strictly for the gentleman from Northumberland or whether it exemplifies a practice in which all of the Members of the House are privileged to indulge themselves.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the presence of the pipe will not affect the validity of the resolution, and hopes that the Minority Leader too will enjoy his pipe while addressing the Chair. The Chair requests only that Members speak audibly and distinctly.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO EMPLOYES

The SPEAKER then administered the oath to the employees named in the resolution of the Slate Committee.

All Sergeant at Arms are requested by the Chief Clerk to meet in the office of Mr. Earl Price, assistant to the Chief Clerk in Room 146 at 10 a. m., Tuesday, February 6th.

All Document Clerks are requested by the Chief Clerk to meet in the Document Room, at 9 a. m., Tuesday, February 6th.

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. ROYER and BOMBERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1951.

The House of Representatives would be remiss, if, during its recent recess, it allowed the twenty-fourth day of January to pass uneventfully into the oblivion of time without high lighting its real significance to the Honorable Norman Wood.

In point of years of continuous service, not only to his constituents of Lancaster County, but, indeed, to all of the electors of the Commonwealth, Mr. Wood is truly the Nestor of our deliberative group. Hence, the occasion for the observance of his sixtieth birthday anniversary is an opportunity for all of us to extend to him our heartfelt felicitations.

In a day when words are an abundant and a cheap commodity from the dignified forum at Lake Success to the lowly cracker barrel at the country store, it is refreshing and comforting to include in our membership a man of unlimited calm and of few words, but whose rarely offered comments, nevertheless, embody in their thought a cogency and a persuasiveness that flow from his many years of mature experience.

Six decades of sojourn on this earth and twenty-eight years of activity in this House are no mean criterion by which to assay his contribution and worth to our group; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives hereby congratulate Mr. Wood on his long and outstanding career, especially on the occasion of his arriving at the threshold of his sixties, and extend to him our sincere wishes for many more years of effective service, sustained health and added public honors.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am glad after twenty-eight years of service somebody found out I have a birthday.

According to the resolution I am a man of few words, so I will have to live up to it and not say too much. All I can say, I wish to thank the Members of the House for this resolution. I certainly appreciate it. Thank you.

COMMITTEE MEETING DURING SESSION

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Committee on State Government will meet immediately in Room 324. The Chair hears none.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess for forty minutes. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

FORMER MEMBERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair takes pleasure in welcoming a former Member of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Honorable Charles Melchiore.

Also, the Chair takes pleasure in presenting another former Member of the House, the gentleman from Monroe, Honorable Herbert R. Imbt.

The Chair takes pleasure in presenting the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, a former Member of this House from Dauphin County.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, prior to introducing a resolution which is not privileged I desire to inform the House that tomorrow I will desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. I realize that it would be a trifle cruel at this time to interrogate any Committee Chairman, although the scholars have been absent from the Hall of the House for sometime, have had the opportunity to contact the teacher, and I am not certain they have learned the lesson.

Now obviously, gentlemen of the House, we cannot begin to think about legislation in any line, health legislation, school legislation or any other kind of legislation unless we have some faint idea concerning the financial condition of this Commonwealth. Tomorrow I would like to know from the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee whether the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will close its biennium with a deficit ranging from ninety to one hundred and fifty millions or whether it's going to close with a surplus of from five to ten million.

I want to tell you why I am raising the issue. I have here in my hands a newspaper item published May 6, 1950. This newspaper item says that last night Governor Duff charged former Presidential candidate, Harold E. Stassen, with falsification and deceit. He accused him of making the University of Pennsylvania a football of politics. The reason the Governor and Stassen were at odds was because Stassen had said that this Commonwealth would close the biennium with a deficit of ninety million.

I have here another clipping with the headline that Taylor and Logan are far apart on state finances and the article goes on to point out that there are two very important men the Auditor General and the budget officer according to this newspaper item, which was never repudiated, are ninety million dollars apart in their estimate as to where this Commonwealth would stand at the close of its biennium.

I have here another item "Governor claims Martin charged up deficit as follows." A former governor of the state of Pennsylvania who should know something about the finances, says that we are facing a deficit. The governor says no.

I submit to you in all candor that if we don't know whether we're ninety million dollars in or ninety million dollars out, this House can't begin to think constructively about any problem that faces it that involves any expenditure and when are we going to begin thinking? When are we going to begin getting the facts? When are we going to get the bulk of the information which must necessarily sustain any important legislation that is submitted to this House? And so tomorrow I shall request the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee to inform this House concerning the financial situation of the Commonwealth in so far as a possible surplus or a possible deficit is concerned. If there is a difference of opinion between responsible persons, such as the Secretary of the Budget and the Auditor General, the President of the University of Pennsylvania, the former Governor of Pennsylvania, if they're over ninety million dollars apart in their estimates, it's time that somebody, somewhere begins getting down to the facts.

The resolution which is not privileged is offered for this purpose: I desire to know, and I want this House to know, how much federal money has been available for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania since 1929 that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has for one reason or another been unable or unwilling to accept. I am submitting to this House the statement that the amount of federal money available for use in Pennsylvania since 1929 which has not been used is in excess of twenty-three million dollars. And so I am submitting this resolution, and I would like to have the Budget Secretary tell us how much money we haven't taken and what are the reasons that we haven't taken it and into what classifications the failure to take the money falls. Was it failure to comply with federal standards? Was it unwillingness to match federal funds, or was it other reasons?

In view of the recent changes in the social security act made at Washington, it is becoming increasingly possible for this House to use for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at least four million dollars a year that is not now being used. So, I'd like to find out just how much money we haven't been using and how much federal money is likely to be available during the current year.

I offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. GOODLING offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce is co-sponsored by the gentleman from Warren, Doctor Chapman, the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, and the gentleman from Susquehanna, Mr. Robinson.

The four Senators who are sponsoring this bill represent the four Senatorial Districts on the northern side or abutting the northern boundaries of the Commonwealth. The bill that I am about to introduce has a most far-reaching effect in the progress and development of the entire northern part of this great Commonwealth. It will provide a new and speedy artery of traffic; it will enable the traffic from the great Metropolitan centers of Chicago, Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland to traverse over the northern boundary of the State of Pennsylvania, which will eventually result in a complete speedy throughway from the west to the City of New York.

Mr. President, I have always been and always will be an advocate of super toll roads, and I feel it is the solution to the truck and road problems and the relief of congestion on our traveled thoroughfares and highways. It will relieve the congestion that presently exists on Routes 5, 20 and 6, which traverse through the northern part of the State.

Mr. President, this road will be a relief to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because they will not be burdened with one cent of expense in the construction and maintenance of this great project. The people of the Commonwealth will have a degree of safety, because they will know that the high powered and speedy trucks will be taken out of most of the other arteries of travel, and will resort to the super roads in order to get to a speedy consummation of their trips.

Mr. President, it is with great pleasure and with great honor that in co-sponsorship with Senators Chapman, Berger and Robinson, I read in place and present to the Chair a bill which will authorize the erection and construction of the northern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike from a feasible point on the Erie Extension, near the City of Erie, to a feasible point on the Scranton Extension, at or near the City of Scranton.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BLASS, CHAPMAN, BERGER and ROBINSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 110, entitled:

An Act to facilitate traffic in the northern section of the Commonwealth by providing for the construction, operation, and maintenance of a turnpike from a point on the Erie extension to a point on the Scranton extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, at such points as the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission may decide are the most feasible and practicable for the further extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike from or near the City of Erie in Erie County to or near the City of Scranton in Lackawanna County; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission; authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue bonds of the Commonwealth payable solely from tolls to pay the cost of such turnpike; providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; providing for the collection of tolls for the payment of such bonds and for the cost of maintenance, operation and repair of the turnpike; making such turnpike bonds exempt from taxation; constituting such bonds legal investments in certain instances; requiring suits against the commission to be brought in Dauphin County; prescribing conditions on which such turnpike shall become free; providing for grade separations, grade changes and relocations and restoration of public roads and State highways affected by the turnpike; providing for condemnation; granting certain powers and authority to municipal subdivisions and agencies of the Commonwealth to cooperate with the commission; and authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue refunding bonds.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. WATSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 111, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act, approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 851), entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses," by increasing the compensation to be received by jurors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 112, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to sell a tract of land situate in Coolbaugh Township, Monroe County, and owned by the Commonwealth to the United States of America for use in the military defense of the United States of America; authorizing the conveyance of such land by deed without warranty and defining the method of execution of such deed.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE RESOLUTION

FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO THE JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE

Messrs. CHAPMAN and KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania
February 6, 1951.

Whereas, of March 8, 1825, the Jefferson Medical College was opened in Philadelphia with Prayer, amid solemn and impressive ceremony at 518-520 Locust Street (then Prune Street), marking the culmination of sustained and titanic efforts on the part of its founder Dr. George McClellan, a noted physician and surgeon, who after scaling insurmountable obstacles, succeeded in securing from the General Assembly of Pennsylvania an act extending the charter of Jefferson College at Canonsburg, Pennsylvania to permit granting of medical degrees, and

Whereas in the spring of 1826, Dr. George McClellan, in the face of implacable opposition, secured a legislative charter granting the new institution full university powers, after a ride from Philadelphia to Harrisburg that in its endurance, perseverance, and daring will outlive marble as one of the most heroic sagas in Pennsylvania's past, comparable with the exploits of Paul Revere, General Sheridan at Winchester, and Caesar Rodney, and

Whereas, engendered in heroism and conceived in prophetic vision, McClellan's Jefferson Medical College during the first one hundred and twenty-five years of its history stood in the very vanguard of mankind's combat of disease, and

Whereas, the illustrious sons of Jefferson left an indelible imprint upon mankind's modern civilization and

the unexcelled and unrivalled progress of America, adding to the glories of Pennsylvania and justly earning for Philadelphia her fame as the "Cradle of American Medicine," and

Whereas, some of the towering medical luminaries and titans of America were reared by or associated with the Jefferson Medical College such as Jefferson's most renowned son and its forth and most illustrious Professor of Surgery, Samuel D. Gross, who has been immortalized by Sir Thomas Eakins' masterpiece, "The Gross Clinic," and in whose honor a monument has been erected in Washington; Jonathan Letterman, Medical Director of the Army of the Potomac; Oscar H. Allis, who devised the Allis forceps, dissector and inhaler, and described Allis' sign in fractures of the neck of the femur; Edward R. Squibb, founder of the pharmaceutical company; Anson Jones, the "Architect of Annexation" and last President of the Republic of Texas; Daniel Brainard, founder and first Professor of Surgery of Rush Medical College in Chicago; Charles A. Luzenberg, founder, Dean and Professor of Surgery in what is now Tulane University Medical School in New Orleans; John Stough Bobbs, the first man in history to perform a removal of gall stones and who assisted in the founding of the Indiana University School of Medicine; James P. White, active in the founding of the University of Buffalo Medical School and its first Professor of Obstetrics; Phineas Sangorn Conner, appointed Professor of Surgery at Dartmouth Medical College in 1873, and the first surgeon to perform gastrectomy; Thomas Addis Emmett, who "did more than any other man to place gynecological plastic surgery on a scientific basis, and whose citation, in being awarded the Laetare Medal of Notre Dame University, in 1898, began: "The Universities of Europe look to you as one of the great surgeons of the century"; the great medical missionary, John Glasgow Kerr, who during forty years in China treated nearly a million patients, performed over 48,000 surgical operations, translated into Chinese 34 volumes of medical works, and trained 150 medical students including Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first President of China; Cornelius Van Dyck, an eminent medical missionary to Syria, a prolific medical writer and translator, who spent eight years in translating the Bible into Arabic; Levi Cooper Lane, the co-founder of the Medical College of the Pacific, now Stanford University School of Medicine; John Hugh McQuillen, who founded, in 1863, the Philadelphia Dental College, now the Dental School of Temple University; Austin Flint, Jr., renowned in scientific research for his study in capillary circulation on previously unknown functions of the liver, and who was the first physiologist in America to operate on the spinal cord and nerves of living animals, who was also one of the founders of Bellevue Medical College, later taking an important part in the newly-organized medical department of Cornell University; Carlos Juan Finlay of Cuba, who, in 1881 first stated the theoretical etiology and transmission of yellow fever by the Stegomyia Mosquito, twenty years prior to the brilliant demonstration, in 1901, by Walter Reed and his U. S. Army Medical Board in Cuba of mosquito-born diseases and their control; (one authority says "Dr. Finlay may literally be looked upon as the discoverer of the causes of yellow fever"); W. S. Forbes, the father of the Anatomy Act of Pennsylvania, the model for such legislation in other States throughout the Nation, who, in fighting for a principle, was subjected to arrest and criminal trial as a "resurrectionist" but was vindicated; Jonathan Folt and Ninian Pinckney, both of whom distinguished themselves in the Navy in the Civil War, the former becoming Naval Surgeon General and the latter commanding the Red Rover, the first hospital ship of record in the United States Navy, and

Whereas, the citienry of Pennsylvania is grateful to the Jefferson Medical College, whose graduates have contributed with their toil and moil to the medical progress of the United States generally, and of our Commonwealth in particular.

Now Therefore, Be It Resolved that the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania felicitates the Jefferson Medical College upon the occasion of completing one hundred and twenty-five years of fruitful work and extends its wishes to this great Pennsylvania Seat of Learning for further progress and brilliant leadership that will bring it along ever-climbing paths to even higher pinnacles of attainments in science and service to humanity.

And Be It Further Resolved that the Secretary of the Senate forward copies of this resolution to Admiral James Laurence Kauffman, President of the Jefferson Medical College, Dr. George A. Bennett, Dean of Jefferson Medical College, and to the several members of the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Medical College.

PRESENTATION

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to take note of the fact that, as we would expect, the leaders of Jefferson Medical College are with us today.

I would like to take advantage of this opportunity to ask the President of Jefferson, Admiral Kauffman, to rise and take a bow.

We also have with us the Dean of Jefferson, Doctor George Bennett. I ask him to take a bow.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND OTHER STATE DEPARTMENTS ENCOURAGE AND COOPERATE WITH THE AMVETS PROGRAM FOR BLOOD TYPING

Messrs. YOSKO and FREED offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 5, 1951.

Whereas, The AMVETS are sponsoring and promoting a program for blood typing, designed to exercise a salutary part in the recovery and the rehabilitation of those who are wounded or sick; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the Senate commend and applaud said project of the AMVETS for its humane and sympathetic motive, and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Health and other departments of the State Government be urged to encourage and to cooperate with the AMVETS in a successful prosecution of their worthy program of blood typing.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, we have in Pittsburgh three great daily newspapers. One of those papers is the Pittsburgh Press.

On January 24, 1951, there was an editorial, the title of which is "Waiting for Orders."

Now, the one nice thing about being on the Minority side is that we get no orders. Orders come to the Majority.

This editorial goes on to say that this Assembly came here, the people thinking that they had all of their bills in their vest pockets. They came here, and lo and behold you, they adjourned for three weeks, and although they are the lawmaking part of our Government, they could not act until they heard from the Governor, and so they went home and sat around for three weeks, and now we are back here.

Mr. President, I ask that this editorial be spread on the record so that the Majority Members can read it. I am not introducing it to have it read for the purpose of embarrassing them, but just for the purpose of waking them up.

WAITING FOR ORDERS?

The State Legislature is supposed to be a co-ordinate branch of the government, not subservient to the Governor in authority, and with its own constitutional powers.

Actually, the way things work out, the Legislature all too often seems dependent on the Governor for its program, policies and ultimate decisions.

Nothing showed this so clearly as the decision of the 1951 Legislature to recess for three weeks, until Feb. 5, because the newly inaugurated Governor Fine isn't ready to present his program.

By that action, the Legislature let it be known clearly that it won't have anything to do until Mr. Fine speaks—that it can't start work until it knows what Governor Fine wants.

Every one of these legislators has been in and arouhd his home bailiwick since the last Legislature adjourned in 1949. If they're doing their jobs, they ought to have a pretty clear idea of what their constituents want.

And their constituents are the people who sent them there. Many of the Republicans may be beholden to Governor Fine politically, but they got elected in their own districts and they have the duty of representing their own people.

Nothing to do until the Governor speaks? What about the long-delayed legislation to make it possible for Pennsylvania women to buy colored margarine? That's going to be badly needed in the time to come.

The Legislature doesn't have to wait for the Governor to find out that something ought to be done to stiffen the penalties for overloading trucks. It can start working on legislation to curb sex crimes. It can start looking into the cost of government and how it can be cut.

The Legislature, in fact, has its own study group, the Joint State Government Commission, which has done excellent work in lining up facts on various issues. This commission has put out a whole series of reports for the guidance of the lawmakers.

Nothing to do? It's a safe bet that when the Legislature finally quits it will not have accomplished all the things it should have done.

The suggestion has been made that the Legislature should meet later in the year to give the Governor time to get his feet on the ground.

A better way would be for the Legislature to use some of its own independence to get started on the job of making laws.

RESOLUTION

Mr. LEISEY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution, but before offering the resolution I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews desires to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, before interrogating the gentleman, I would like to first state the reasons why I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

On October 6, 1950, Senator Duff, then Governor, was quoted in the Philadelphia Bulletin as saying that the Commonwealth would have a very substantial cash surplus in the bank at the end of the biennium in 1951. In the same month United States Senator Edward Martin was widely quoted in the press as saying that there would be a deficit of ninety million at the end of the Duff administration, that is at the end of the biennium of '51. Then on May 6th, 1950 Senator Duff, then Governor, charged Harold E. Stassen with falsification and deceit for saying that the Duff administration would close the present biennium with a deficit of ninety million. Then on May 8, 1950, Harold E. Stassen wrote Senator Duff, then Governor, demanding that Duff either apologize for an attack on his credibility or point out the error in his claims that Pennsylvania's present Governor would be faced with a ninety million deficit.

On May 11th, 1950, State Budget Secretary Logan painted a very rosy financial picture as far as the Commonwealth's finances were concerned. In that picture there was no evidence of any deficit at the end of the current biennium. And early in May 1950 State Auditor General Weldon Heyburn was quoted in the Press as making a gloomy prediction that the present biennium would wind up with a ninety-two million deficit.

In April 1950 Jay Cook predicted a deficit in excess of ninety million at the end of the biennium, May 31st of this year. Now the question is: What will be the estimated cash on hand at the end of the biennium on the unobligated treasury surplus?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the question of the gentleman from Cambria as to whether I would consent to be interrogated upon this question, I feel that the gentleman is entitled to a reply and I want to assure him that the subject matter of his interrogation, which he very courteously informed us of in advance is also a matter of deep concern to the members of the majority party. But inasmuch as this subject matter deeply concerns the majority party it is my firm conviction it should be dealt with by the spokesman for the majority party, I am happy to yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith.

Does the Minority Leader desire to interrogate the Majority Leader?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have already propounded the initial question to which I would be very grateful if the Majority leader would reply explicitly, definitely and, as I judge by reason of his appearance, officially.

Mr. SMITH. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I can assure the gentleman that the Budget Secretary's statement of May 6 will definitely be proven correct at the end of this biennium; we will have a surplus.

I am sure that the gentleman from Cambria knows that budgets are prepared on an estimate of expected revenue, and I can assure him again that we will have a surplus from the information that has recently been given me.

To prove the gentleman's statement of May 6—that is our Budget Secretary that Mr. Andrews refers to, I would like to read a letter that was given to me this morning. This letter comes from Drexel and Company, as I understand and which as we all know, is one of the biggest banking institutions in this country. It is addressed to Dr. Edward B. Logan, Budget Secretary, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

"Dear Mr. Logan:" (This letter is incidentally dated May the 18th, 1950—following the subject matter the gentleman is now speaking about): "Following receipt of your letter of May 11th and our telephone conversation, I arranged for my associate, Donald P. Beardsley, to see you in Harrisburg Saturday. The report I have since had from him entirely satisfies me that your statements regarding the fiscal positions of the Commonwealth are entirely justified."

I would also like to offer as further proof of the May 6 statement that the people of our state and the people of our nation have certainly complete confidence in our Commonwealth. They have complete confidence that we will have a surplus. They have bought bonds at the low rate of interest of 1.9. People don't buy bonds at that rate of interest if they think we are working on deficits.

I want to also assure the gentleman if he will refer to the recent statement that was issued by the Budget Secretary and submitted to the General Assembly for Governor Duff, that was Governor Duff's last statement which was on our desks, he again assures us on January 2, 1951, that we will have a surplus.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the estimated general fund revenue for the 1949-51 biennium was 653 million. To what extent have receipts shown an increase or decrease over that amount?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, right now I could not answer that question. I believe that that question will definitely be answered in the Governor's budget message which will be submitted to us, as prior budget messages have been in the past, around March the first.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, special emergency taxes, according to estimates, were designed to raise $312 million. To what extent have receipts, either justified that estimate, or have they shown an increase over the estimate and in what amount?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, again I have to remind the gentleman that I cannot answer that question.

These estimates are definitely an estimate as he well knows on all budget matters. We do not prepare a budget on what has happened in the past; we prepare a budget on estimated receipts in the future, and we will be ready to answer that when they are all in.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what is it necessary that we do in order to find out how much unobligated cash there is now in the banks to the account of the Commonwealth, and what, on the basis of collection experience, that amount of unobligated cash will be on May 31 next? What is it necessary for us to do; to whom can be turn?

Mr. SMITH. The only way that I can answer that question, Mr. Speaker, would be to get the Budget Secretary, if it is possible, prior to the Governor's message and prior to the Governor's budget, to get that information for me. At this time I do not have it.

I do say to the gentleman that he knows that there are several taxes that are available today that aren't ready for collection because the time is not up. We would be in far better position to answer these questions and to answer them correctly within probably, I would say, a month.

Mr. ANDREWS. Then, Mr. Speaker and Mr. Majority Leader, I am right in concluding that at the present time the extent of the surplus resolves itself into a lingering hope that it will be there.

Mr. SMITH. I do not say that the gentleman is right, Mr. Speaker. No, I do not say that it is a lingering hope. While it may not be definite assurance, we have not missed too badly in the past. I am willing to take the Budget Secretary's word with the knowledge he has and his ability that if he claims, and he has definitely claimed that as recently as January 2, that we will have a surplus; again I am willing to assure the gentleman that there will be a surplus at that time.

Mr. ANDREWS. For further inquiry, will it be 5 millions, 10 millions, 20 millions, 30 millions. Surely the Budget Secretary should be able at this time to tell us within five million since he has been so accurate in his guessing in the past.

Mr. SMITH. The Budget Secretary did make the statement on May the sixth, approximately five to ten million dollars. And I feel, Mr. Speaker, that we can stay within those confines in that amount.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we can definitely erase then all hopes of 40 or 60 million dollars surplus which at various times figured so prominently in the recent campaign?

Mr. SMITH. I would not definitely erase any figure such as that, no. But the gentleman wants me to give him an answer as far as I am able, and I am only able to say what I have heard from the budget officer, who I think would be the gentleman to give it to us. We may have forty, we may have sixty, as the gentleman says; but I would certainly not erase all those hopes.

Mr. ANDREWS. The Members of this House will tomorrow be returning to their homes, and they will be met on every hand by constituents who ask them about what the new taxes, if any, will be and what the amount will be.

I read in the morning paper that Governor Duff . . . I mean Governor Fine—the gentleman lingers so long in my memory that I say Duff, and maybe I'm right when I say Governor Duff, I don't know . . . Governor Fine says we will seek 110 millions in new taxes, and then this newspaper article proceeds to relate in detail what the taxes will be.

I am now asking the Majority Leader whether the Governor of this Commonwealth is communicating with this House and with this General Assembly through the newspapers or whether we have to read the newspapers to find out what is going on, whether this newspaper account is or is not in any sense official.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker the gentleman really surprises me. Being an old newspaper man I would think that he would be the first one to believe everything that he reads. Newspaper men have to make stories, Mr. Speaker, and they sometimes as I have heard said in the past suck the story out of their thumb. I don't know where this story came from and I don't know which newspaper it was in, but I would rather be assured by a statement definitely from Governor Fine rather than believe what I read in the newspapers.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman forces me to ask one further question. In his opinion did the newspaper man who wrote this particular story in what has hitherto been the Bible of the Republican party in this state; did that eminent reporter, none other than one Joseph H. Miller suck this particular story out of his thumb?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I did not read the story, but unless that story and unless the eminent gentleman who I respect very much definitely stated in that article that the Governor told him that that would be it, I would still say that unless that was proven to me I would doubt it. It would have to be a definite statement from the Governor.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman; I thank him very much. He told me quite as much as I anticipated the Budget Secretary would permit him to tell me.

Now Mr. Speaker, I would like to offer a non-privileged resolution, and I would like very briefly to state the purpose of the resolution if the House will permit.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this resolution is to attack in constructive fashion the malady that is underlying departmental efficiency, a malady which I have termed sponsoritis for lack of a better term, a condition of mind that leads various persons in various departments to come in at ten or half past, or not come in at all, and when reprimanded by their superior to say had "you better talk this matter over with my sponsor," the sponsor being some particularly powerful party leader.

In my resolution I am proposing that the Speaker appoint a committee of five to investigate and report upon the cost of a scientific time study in the various departments and bureaus in order that efficiency in the departments and bureaus functioning in the Commonwealth can be contrasted with the efficiency that is expected in business—how many people would be required to do a particular service if they were working for a corporation. Its a matter of fact that such a study would have to be made by skilled personnel. It would cost considerable money, and so my resolution strictly proposes that a committee be appointed by the Speaker to investigate the cost of such a survey.

Mr. Speaker I offer the following nonprivileged resolution.

RESOLUTION

Mr. ANDREWS offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

FIRST AID ROOM ANNUAL REPORTS

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, during the 1947 session the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, and myself presented a resolution to this House which was adopted and concurred in by the Senate, establishing a first aid room for the comfort and care of the Members of this House and the Senate and State employees.

I wish at this time to make a very short report on the success of that first aid room.

After considerable effort by our Chief Clerk and the Department of Property and Supplies necessary equipment was obtained. We also were fortunate in getting a Registered Nurse to supervise that room. Miss Esther D. Feiser, Registered Nurse, is in constant attendance there.

During the first month that room was open, in August of 1948; she treated 26 individuals in that first aid room. Immediately the number started to increase. In the month of April for instance of 1949, 523 persons received attention in that first aid room. During the first year of its operation she took care of 3,363 people. For the year August 1949 to August 1950 I want to inform you that she treated 4,354 people. I am only calling this to your attention, Mr. Speaker, to prove that the room was very much needed and is of considerable value to the employees and the Members of this House and I wish to submit these reports to be written in the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The Annual Reports of the First Aid Room for August, 1948 to August, 1949 and August 1949 to August, 1950 will be noted in the Journal and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Doctor Ruth.

Our dear Heavenly Father, we come to Thee this morning realizing that it is because of Thy love for us that we live and have the opportunity to serve our fellow men. We pray that Thy spirit will guide us to use these opportunities to Thy glory.

We pray that Thou wilt comfort and strengthen those of our number who are in bereavement today; those who are sick, may they have a speedy recovery. As we look into the future of our time and visualize the sacrifices that may be necessary, as we look into the opening of this new season of Lent, may we realize how much Thou didst sacrifice for us that we may have better living here and the assurance of life eternal. We ask in Thy holy name. Amen.

RESOLUTION

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD TO GIVE CONSIDERATION TO THE NEED FOR CONNECTING AIR SERVICE BETWEEN AVOCA AND HARRISBURG

Mr. McMENAMIN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 7, 1951.

Whereas, The counties of Luzerne and Lackawanna, including the cities of Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Pittston, Hazleton, Carbondale, and Nanticoke, and representing a population in excess of 600,000 people, are deprived of any adequate means of public transportation to the State Capital at Harrisburg by reason of the discontinuance of much of the former rail service to the extent that travel by private automobile over an average distance of some 130 miles must be resorted to; and,

Whereas, The public interest requires that there be ready, frequent and fast means of communication both for passengers and mail by air between the populous communities of the state and the places where the various branches of the state government are, especially during periods when the General Assembly is in session, when witnesses and petitioners are required to appear before legislative committees and governmental agencies; and,

Whereas, Delays caused by inadequate means of travel are also particularly harmful during this period of national emergency; and,

Whereas, Airport facilities installed at large public cost are now functioning both at or in the vicinity of the State Capital at Harrisburg and at Avoca in the county of Luzerne and are ample and adequate, without additional cost, to handle passengers and air mail between said terminals if authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board of the United States; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Civil Aeronautics Board is hereby adjured to give consideration at this time to the need for the providing connecting air service between the airports at Avoca in Luzerne County and at or near Harrisburg, the State Capital, (temporarily, if need be at least during the 1951 session of the General Assembly) and that the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission use their best efforts to facilitate the inauguration of such service; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of Commerce of the United States, the chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board of the United States and the chairmen of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, February 12, 1951 at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:46 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, February 12, 1951, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 7, 1951

The House met at 10:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Herbert P. Sorg) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend Charles F. Trunk, Jr., Pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for life and for all that makes life worthwhile—the love and respect of our fellowmen.

Wilt Thou be with these, Thy servants, and bless their honest efforts to do that which is needed and right. Guard them from all duplicity in themselves and from selfish pressure from us, their electors.

Grant them wisdom and the vision of Thy Commonwealth today, so that they can build a better tomorrow with the help of Thy Spirit. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, February 6, 1951?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would inquire whether the Journal is in print.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inquire of the Chief Clerk whether the Journal is in print.

For the information of the gentleman, the Journal is not in print.

Mr. ANDREWS. I want to object, therefore, Mr. Speaker, to approving a Journal that is not in print.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the Journal for the preceding day's session is in typewritten form and has been sent to the Printer.

Mr. ANDREWS. That doesn't help any of the Members who might wish to correct the Journal in any particular, the fact that it is in the hands of the Printer. I submit, Mr. Speaker, that it is obviously improper and impossible to approve a Journal which the Members have not had the privilege of inspection.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, the Chair is informed that the Journal is available to any of the Members for any information they desire to derive therefrom.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the Chair rule that the Journal must necessarily be approved prior to the opportunity to inspect it, read it? I raise that as a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair does not rule that approval of the Journal is necessary prior to reading it. The Chair is of the opinion that the question is one for the House to decide, wehther they desire to approve the Journal or not.

Mr. ANDREWS. Well I would submit that it is contrary to parliamentary practice for this House to approve in blank any record it has not had the opportunity to inspect and peruse.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire that the approval of the Journal be postponed?

Mr. ANDREWS. Postponed until such a time as the Journals are available for the Members to read.

JOURNAL NOT APPROVED

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for the preceding day's session be postponed until such time as the Journal is in print and available for the Members to read.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. LEISEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1951.

Whereas, The St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project will produce no practical benefits for the people of the two countries it is designed to serve; and

Whereas, The General Assembly and the citizens of this State are greatly concerned about the effect the completion of this project would have upon them; and

Whereas, The construction of the project would burden the taxpayers of this Commonwealth and the United States to the extent of a sum estimated at $1,500,000,000 and experience in similar public works would indicate that this project would cost much more; and

Whereas, Existing facilities, the Welland Canal which by-passes Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes Channels amply provide for the present lake traffic. The railroads on both sides in the United States and Canada have demonstrated that they are prepared to handle all through traffic offered; and

Whereas, With its channels closed to navigation for about five months of the year due to ice and weather conditions, it would be unreasonable to expect the railroads to perform the required service during the period that navigation is closed and to be in a position to handle the peak load. The railroads would be required to maintain equipment that would be idle or little used for sixty per cent of the time and have the added problem of maintaining the personnel organization. Great numbers would have to seek employment elsewhere while tonnage was moved by government subsidized competitors. This situation would greatly affect the ports of Erie nad Philadelphia; and

Whereas, Ocean tonnage to lake ports would require the building of numerous dams, the destruction of a single lock could tie up the system; and

Whereas, Sea-going boats cannot travel this great distance for nothing and the saving in transportation costs would be exceedingly small if any; and

Whereas, It would be disastrous to Great Lake shipping, injurious to American rail highway and inland waterways services and seriously harmful to the American coal and iron ore industries; and

Whereas, Electrical energy that would be generated could only be used at nearby points as it has been demonstrated that the cost of transmission over long distances greatly exceeds that generated locally; and

Whereas, Such an agreement if ratified would reduce the exportation of manufacturing, mining and agricultural products of this Commonwealth and result in loss of employment and contribute to increased taxation; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to approve the agreement for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ANDREWS. RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1951.

Whereas, The statement frequently has been made that in the various departments and bureaus serving the Commonwealth 20% of the employees do 80% of the work and

Whereas, The record indicates that as yet these statements have not been confirmed by a thorough-going inquiry designed to uncover the facts, and

Whereas, It is known that the efficiency of various branches of our state government is impaired by a political malady which can be best described as "sponsoritis" and

Whereas, "sponsoritis" is evidenced among various state employees who either dilly-dally on the job or refuse to do any work whatsoever, and

Whereas, The victims of "sponsoritis," when reproved for their lack of diligence by their superior, retort, "You had better talk that over with my sponsor. You can't fire me and the sooner you find it out the better." And,

Whereas, "sponsoritis" cannot be eradicated from the state service until all state employees are required to be as diligent in their service as they would be required to be if they were working for a private employer, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Speaker of this House appoint a committee of five Members of this House, whose duty it shall be to ascertain and report to this House the probable cost of a time-study which would be designed to ascertain, by means of a scientific inquiry, how many employees, working full time on a five-day week basis, are actually needed for efficient operation by the various departments and bureaus now serving the Commonwealth.

By Mr. VARNER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, February 6, 1951.

Whereas, The Clarion River watershed has been polluted by industries and municipalities on its banks for many years and has been ruined by this pollution, and

Whereas, The Clarion River watershed furnishes the population area of Western Pennsylvania with its water supply and affords it a recreational area, and

Whereas, The Clarion River watershed has had a modified pollution abatement program during the past several years, but due to the shortage of materials caused by World War II and the postwar years, this program has been curtailed and much work remains to be done, and

Whereas, Many interested private citizens and groups thereof, are interested in the Clarion River from a health as well as a recreational standpoint; now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to investigate and study pollution and the pollution abatement program in the Clarion River watershed area, and in so doing to cooperate closely with the Sanitary Water Board and to report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission shall have the power to meet and hold hearings, both in Harrisburg and at some place in the Clarion County watershed area and to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman commanding any proper person to appear before it and to answer questions touching on matters with respect to such investigation, for and on behalf of the General Assembly and to procure such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any proper person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the commission shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it.

COMMEMORATING BIRTHDAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair at this time invites the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, and the distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, to the rostrum.

As has been the custom in the Pennsylvania Senate, on February 12 of each year when we are in Session, or as near thereto as is possible, the Senate has always observed the day with due deference to one of the great Americans, Abraham Lincoln.

We have asked two of our colleagues to participate in this program. I am happy to present at this time the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, the title of my address is an extract from a statement made by Abraham Lincoln, "Apple of Gold—Pictures of Silver."

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I consider it a signal honor and a privilege to pay homage today to the memory of our great martyred President, Abraham Lincoln.

Today the entire civilzed world will join America in paying homage to the blessed memory of the greatest cosmoplitan figure of modern times—the saint of American democracy—Abraham Lincoln. By commemorating the birthday of our martyr-President, in accordance with the noble traditions of this august body, and by rededicating ourselves to the lofty principles of American Democracy, so pontedly enunciated by him, we will again stress and underscore the political ideology of our great Nation for the preservation whereof we are now entangled in clashes the world over.

Each year the editorials of the leading newspapers of the Nation express on this red-letter day on the world's calendar befitting quintessences of Lincoln's greatness and significance. I will quote some of these sparkling jewels, representing excerpts from 1950 Lincoln Day editorials:

"It is not enough to praise Lincoln. He reserves to be emulated."—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

"He had that rare quality of statesmanship which enabled him to subordinate his own feelings to the general good."—Washington Post.

"The nation is fortunate that it has in its history such a man to serve as an undying symbol of our national spirit."—Miami News.

"Lincoln still is magnetic, still dynamic. He is one of the half dozen great world figures of the nineteenth century who continue to possess power to stir men's thoughts, to influence their actions."—Washington Star.

"His high-minded idealism blended with hard-headed political realism in remarkable combination. The mixture cast him in the mold of a great leader when the nation desperately needed that greatness."—Wheeling News-Register.

"In the maneuvers and shifting of political parties—both of them—there has been nothing of the honesty, the humanity and statesmanship of Abraham Lincoln."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Mr. Lincoln had the richest of all instincts, which is rare in even the greatest of men, that of making words expressive of the spiritual heights toward which his mind and his soul were always reaching."—New York Journal American.

"Yes, Lincoln was rugged of feature, ungainly of form, and in some ways uncouth. But the same can be said of mountains and ravines, of stars and seas, and of all elemental things in which man finds grandeur and sublimity. These latter we find in Lincoln."—Evansville (Ind.) Courier and Press.

Lincoln's words, the expression of his sublime faith in men will outlive marble. His self-taught command of English was unexcelled and free men the world over look today to his words and letters as guideposts to the attainment of their lofty goals.

It was Lincoln's genuine and controlling belief in Democracy, his ability to cast his thoughts in "wise, healing words which all can believe in" and above all his ability to perceive the theme-centers of our political principles, that enabled him to redefine our American political ideology. His Gettysburg address and Second Inaugural are ranking among the greatest English classics that border of scriptural majesty and exemplify simplicity of perception and lucidity of conception in political thought.

Lord Curzon, Earl of Kedleston, Chancellor of the University of Oxford, delivered before the University of Cambridge on November 6, 1913, an address on "Modern Parliamentary Eloquence." In the course of his remarks he referred to what he considered the "three supreme masterpieces of English eloquence—"the toast of William Pitt after the victory of Trafalgar, and two of Lincoln's speeches: The Gettysburg Address and the Second Inauguarl." Commenting on one of these three selections, he said:

> "The Gettysburg Address is far more than a pleasing piece of occasional oratory. It is a marvelous piece of English composition. It is a pure well of English undefiled. It sets one to inquiring with nothing short of wonder 'How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?' The more closely the address is analyzed the more one must confess astonishment at its choice of words, the precision of its thought, its simplicity, directness and effectiveness."

With Lincoln's postulates as guides and inspiration, we will vanquish the enemies of a free world and retain the liberties already won by us.

The original definition of our Ideology of Freedom born on the soil of Pennsylvania and in the City of Brotherly Love set into motion dynamic forces that became the torchbearers of mankind and shapers of its destiny. Embodied in our Declaration of Independence, which Charles Sumner so aptly called "that title-deed of the human race," our American political ideology began its triumphal march per aspera ad astra and its sustained advance that marked the birth and emergence of our Republic, as the vanguard of mankind.

The crystallization of this ideology is a long process that dates back to the first shot at Lexington and the final phases whereof are now beginning to emerge perceptibly from the amorphous cataclysm of the present world-crisis.

The young Republic was still in its formative stages when a venomous internal reaction set in challenging the political ideology of the American Democracy and calling for a decision as to whether or not this Nation can exist "half-free and half-slave." This marked the beginning of the second phase in the development of the American Democracy.

Thus as a result of decades of bitter internal strife the stage was set for the appearance of a great leader and helmsman of our Republic, whose firm hand was destined once and for all to unify our Nation, to solidify and crystallize our political ideology and to preserve the undying bloom and everlasting fragrance of its Magna Charta—our Declaration of Independence.

Abraham Lincoln was the spiritual titan whom American Democracy brought forth to meet the challenge of the black reaction and to re-vitalize the political principles of our land.

In epitomizing the role of Abraham Lincoln in the evolution of our Democracy, Charles Sumner states that the martyr-President was put to death by the enemies of the Declaration of Independence but though dead he would always continue to guard that "title-deed of the human race."

Today we are witnessing the emergence of the third phase of America's battle for the preservation of the Declaration of Independence—a battle for a decision as to whether or not this world can exist "half-free and half-slave."

To Lincoln equality of men was the paramount guidepost of mankind, "the apple of gold." Thus in a fragment of uncertain date Lincoln states as follows:

> "The assertion of that principle of equality of men at that time was the word 'fitly spoken' which has proved an 'apple of gold' to us. The Union and the Constitution are the pictures of silver, subsequently framed around it. The picture was made, not to conceal or destroy the apple, but to adorn and preserve it. The picture was made for the apple—not the apple for the picture. So let us act that neither the picture nor apple shall ever be blurred or broken. That we may so act, we must study and understand the points of danger."

In a letter to H. L. Pierce (April 6, 1859) Lincoln states inter alia

> "'All honor to Jefferson, the man, who in the concrete pressure of a struggle for national independence by a single people, had the coolness, forecast, and sagacity to introduce into a merely revolutionary documen an abstract truth, applicable to all men and all times, and so embalm it there that today and in all coming days it shall be a rebuke and a stumbling-block to the very harbingers of reappearing tyranny and oppression.'"

In a classic exhortation concerning the Declaration of Independence Lincoln exclaimed in an immortal speech delivered on August 12, 1858, at Beardstown:

> "My countrymen, if you have been taught doctrines conflicting with the great landmarks of the Declaration of Independence; if you have listened to suggestions which would take away from its grandeur and mutilate the fair symmetry of its proportions; if you have been inclined to believe that all men are not created equal in those inalienable rights enumerated in our charter of liberty, let me entreat you to come back! Return to the fountain whose waters spring close by the blood of the Revolution. You may do anything with me you choose, if you will but heed these sacred principles. I charge you to drop every paltry and insignificant thought of any man's success. It is nothing; I am nothing; Judge Douglas is nothing. But do not destroy that immortal emblem of humanity—the Declaration of Independence.

Today we are embroiled in a conflict that is precipitated by a War of Ideologies closely resembling the issues of the Civil War, but transcending the boundaries of our Land and embracing the entire world! Now, as then, the issue revolves around the theme-center of our national existence—the Declaration of Independence—shall the world become enslaved or the principles of the Declaration of Independence enshrined forever in the heart of mankind and forever firmly established upon the earth?

No homage can excell the one paid to the memory of the Martyr-Emancipator by the inimitable great Beecher:

> "Now, his simple and weighty words will be gathered like those of Washington, and your children and your children's children shall be taught to ponder the simplicity and deep wisdom of utterances which, in their time, passed, in party heat, as idle words. Men will receive a new impulse of patriotism for his sake and will guard with great zeal the whole country which he loved so well. I swear you, on the altar of his memory, to be more faithful to the country for which he has perished. They will as they follow his hearse . . . admire and imitate the firmness of this man, his inflexible conscience for the right, and yet his gentleness, as tender as a woman's, his moderation of spirit, which not all the heat of party could inflame, nor all the jars and disturbances of his country shake out of place. I swear you to an emulation of his justice, his moderation, and his mercy . . ."

"Four years ago, O Illinois, we took from your midst an untried man and from among the people. We return him to you a mighty conqueror. Not thine any more, but the nation's; not ours, but the world's. Give him place, O ye prairies. In the midst of this great continent his dust shall rest, a sacred treasure to myriads who shall pilgrim to that shrine to kindle anew their zeal and patriotism. Ye winds that move over the mighty places of the West, chant his requiem. Ye people, behold a martyr whose blood, as so many articulate words, pleads for fidelity, for law, for liberty."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Doctor Stiefel, your challenging and scholarly presentation will long serve as a guidepost for we of the Senate.

On behalf of my colleagues, may I say that the interest and competition on the majority side of the Senate was very keen, but the unanimous choice of the Republican Caucus for this presentation today fell upon the shoulders of the distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill, and he now will deliver his own thinking on the life of one of the founders of the Republican Party.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, Members of the Senate and visitors, I do not feel so much like making a speech today as I feel like talking about some of the things that I imagine Abraham Lincoln would have wanted us to meditate upon on this the anniversary of his birth.

To me, the whole month of February has always been a very notable month, marked by the fact that it is short in days and long in outstanding events that occur during this month. I am not thinking so much of ground-hog day or St. Valentine's Day, but the things that have affected the Nation during its life, such as the discovery of the X-Ray, the founding of the Boy Scouts, the making of the Income Tax Law, if you please, a part of the Constitution of the United States. Not only did they and other memorable events take place in February, but it is a month that marks the births of many of the great men in America and for that matter, of the entire world.

It was in the month of February that Copernicus, the great Polish astronomer was born; Galileo, the great Italion physicist; and such men whose names come readily to the lips of the young and old, as Buffalo Bill and Babe Ruth who were born in February; inventors such as Thomas Edison and Charles Lindbergh; and last but not least, our two great Presidents who are so beloved, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Naturally, it is a privilege and a distinction today to join in the observance of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. We call him the beloved Lincoln, a peerless American, who is especially dear to us here because there flows through his veins the blood of Pennsylvania ancestors, his forebearers having come from Berks County.

The nice things that we say about Lincoln that I think should be emphasized today is the fact that it could be said of him, more than of any other figure in our national life, that he was a man of the people. Now, we can say that glibly as I am afraid we do too often, and it does not have any particular import, but when you take a look at the associates that made it possible for Lincoln to be so rated, then it becomes not only impressive but it is a challenge to all of us, particularly those who serve in public office.

The contacts that most influenced Lincoln's life were with the farmer, the man on the street, the man at the crossroads store, at the post office and in the court house. I do not know whether there were any brain trusts accessible to him in those days, or whether the agents of foreign countries did not have access to the White House which they have in modern times, but it was the people whom Lincoln went to find out what was good for the people of these United States.

Most of the details of his life are too well-known to need repeating on this the anniversary of his birth, but if we are going to consider, what about us today, then we are concerned for his example and for the heritage that he left us.

Yes, we talk about loving Abraham Lincoln, we refer to him as "Honest Abe" and as the "Rail Splitter," very affectionate terms, but do not forget that it took generations of Americans to learn to revere this great man. He was not very popular in his time, and I wonder, on this anniversary of his birth in 1951 whether he might be even less popular were he serving today; less popular among the generation of people who demand from their government happiness today and justice tomorrow, and security all the rest of their lives—a sort of ticket to a never-never land, where even Kilroy has never been. Lincoln was not popular in his day. He would not be popular today if, like too many of us in public life, he were afraid to say "no" when "no" was so often necessary.

Each Lincoln's birthday since I came to the Legislature some twelve years ago, I dig out and read over the details of an incident in Lincoln's life which I think should be familiar to every man who holds an office.

When Lincoln went to Washington in those trying, troublous times, when he was up to his ears in problems and troubles that harassed him, on one of his busiest days a delegation came down from Springfield to urge the appointment of a favorite son to a Federal position. In spite of the trying times which he was going through, Lincoln was a patient man, an understanding man, he loved people and so he called this delegation into his study, asked them to sit down and said he would like to read them a story. He put on his spectacles and took out a well-thumbed book, and he read them a story about a king who had decided that he wanted to take some of his favorites on a hunting trip. He made great preparations and plans for it, complete to the point of checking with the prime minister to make certain there would be no trouble from the elements. And as they started out on this certain day and got down the road a couple of miles, they came across a farmer who had a load of green-truck in a cart that was hauled by a donkey. After stopping and talking to his constituent, he was about to leave when the farmer said, "Your Highness, I don't want to seem to be impertinent, but if I were you I would not go hunting today. We are going to have stormy weather."

The king patted him reassuringly on the shoulder and said, "Don't worry about that, it is all taken care of."

Whereupon, they proceeded, and in two hours it rained —as we say in Schuylkill County—cats and dogs, and the hunting party was so completely drenched that they had to return to the palace.

After the king had made himself comfortable, or as nearly so as possible under the circumstances, the first thing the king did was to fire the prime minister and give the job to the farmer. About two days later, after the man became acclimated a bit, he called him in and said, "Tell me, how did you know that day we were going to have rain?" "Oh," said the farmer, "that was not I. That was my donkey. Whenever we are going to have stormy weather, his ears move forward." So, in order to be consistent, the king had no choice. He had to throw out the farmer as his prime minister, and put in the donkey. Lincoln then stopped reading, took off his glasses and said, "Gentlemen, ever since that time, every jackass thinks he ought to hold public office."

The point particularly is that Lincoln preferred protecting principles to prescribing patronage, as you and I ought to. His early hardships and trials emphasized that experience and struggles produce greatness. It is a far cry from the experience of Abraham Lincoln as a boy and the experience of the young man of today.

Former Governor Henry Allen, at a Lincoln Day celebration in Illinois, said something that I think all of you have heard at some time or another. He said, were Abraham Lincoln a product of today, the Rotary Club would buy him a set of books, the Lions would give him a reading lamp, the Cosmomopitan Club would provide him with writing equipment; and the Kiwanis would build a floor in his cabin. Once he would have the protection of the Child Labor Laws; later he might be sheltered by Old Age Assistance; some philanthropist would no doubt provide a scholarship to school. Meanwhile, the case worker would give him a monthly subsistence check; and the O. P. A. would reduce his rent fifty percent; he would surely get a subsidy for rail splitting and another one for raising crops that he was going to raise anyway, and possibly one for not raising crops that he had no intention of planting. The result would have been no Abraham Lincoln. It is a pertinent matter.

My father gave me a much better start in life than he ever had. Some of my children have already had a much better opportunity and start than I had received. We do not want to go back to those tough days that Lincoln had to go through, but isn't there somewhere possibly a happy medium between the utter hardship of the days of Lincoln and the almost complete softness of the generation in which we find ourselves.

One day eighteen years or so ago, we were caught with our larder down, or, should I say with our larder empty. So, we turned in desperation to the government for help. Since then, too many of use have learned that we can lean upon somebody else.

While Lincoln struggled with every muscle he had to achieve something, we have sacrificed too many of our freedoms for the patronage that comes from a beneficent government. We are getting into a state of mind where we say we won't do it for ourselves because the government will do it, and some people will go so far as to say that we won't think for ourselves, the government will do it. They have a philosophy that it ain't gonna rain no more, and even if it does, let Uncle Sam be our umbrella.

Way back in 1854, Abraham Lincoln warned against a big overgrown and overpowerful government. He said the legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do for themselves in separate and individual capacities. If the people can do for themselves, the government ought not to interfere, and I take it from that philosophy that he today would be in favor of highways, of hospitals, of clean streams, an army and a navy, all of these things which we need for the common good which we cannot do as individuals. I question whether he would favor a program whereby the government would make your bed, feed your children, and sit with your babies, and baby the parents.

He had an understanding of human nature to which we need not even refer, as we well and completely know. He also had vision; vision that was not only nation-wide but world-wide, and he said on one memorable occasion, in discussing the factors outside of the country that affect and influence our living, that while he was aware of all those things, if defeat ever overtakes us, it must spring up among us. If destruction is our lot, we must ourselves be the author and the finisher. As a nation of free men, we must live through all time or die by suicide.

Lincoln, of course, loved his country as few men have loved it, and loving it through one crisis after another, he worked at being an American. He worked at the business of making this the kind of a country where your ballot speakes louder than the bullet of any dictator, where there is never a day that you cannot hear the laughter of children playing on the sidewalks; where you can say anything within reason to your neighbor over the back fence without fear; and where you can sit in your kitchen at midnight and have a late snack without shivers running up your spine if there should be a knock at the kitchen door. In short, he helped make this the kind of a country, the only one in the world, where your God is more important than your government.

What would Lincoln say about war today? Well, of course, we almost have the answer to that from the position he took in his time. I think Abraham Lincoln would conclude that war is always possible in a nation that has men who love individual liberty and personal freedom more than life itself. Lincoln said, "The man does not live who is more devoted to peace than I am or who would do more to preserve it, but it may be necessary to put the foot down firmly."

Surely, a man who dealt with circumstances that caused him to say a nation cannot exist half slave and half free, certainly such a man would recognize communism as a greater scourge than war itself. Certainly, he would be inclined to see as clearly in communism as he saw in slavery the fact that it brings about a situation that makes it intolerable for the world to be half slave and half free. He knew the horrors of war. Even though he did not put it as glibly, he must surely have seen, as Hap Arnold recently said, "A war is like a fire. You can prevent a fire, you can put out a fire. You do not win a fire." He knew, as one of his great generals knew, that war is hell, and yet he, as would we, would defend our chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

I cannot help calling attention to the fact that Lincoln was a religious man. We had better be. We, who resent the fact and lament and deplore the fact that we do not have the brave new world that was promised us during the most recent war, must some day realize that we do not have and cannot have a brave new world until we have a brave new generation of people. They talk about Lincoln as the man who spoke with God, who got so close to his God that he well understood that God must love the common people or else he would not have made so many of them.

Coming down to Harrisburg this afternoon, I noticed along the highway a sign advertising a product that is made in Milwaukee. It took my mind back to Milwaukee and an experience there in 1942, when I was one of four thousand people who sat down in the municipal auditorium at seven o'clock in the morning for breakfast. Those four thousand people did not come out because they heard they were going to have orange juice and scrambled eggs. They came out at that early hour because the speaker at that breakfast was Francis B. Sayre, who had recently been High Commissioner to the Philippines, and Mr. Sayre that morning was describing some event that preceded his escape from Corregidor by submarine. He talked about the last days on the Bataan Peninsula before surrender was necessary. He said one morning a company commander called in his men, and very seriously told them there was an awfully important mission that had to be fulfilled. It would require a few men and because they probably would not come back, he asked for volunteers. He suggested that anyone willing to run the risk should step forward two paces; then he busied himself with his papers, and when he looked up again the men were standing in an even line, and he said, "Isn't there even one volunteer?" Then, his junior officer stepped up and he said, "Sir, you do not understand. The entire company has moved forward two paces."

That, I think, is what Lincoln was trying to do for us in his life and in his example, get us to move forward two paces, we who call ourselves Americans, one for God and one for Country.

I do not know whether Abraham Lincoln occupies a vantage point today somewhere on High. I do not know whether he might be looking down upon us and the things that we are doing on this his birthday, but regardless of that, I would like to publicly state the lesson that I have learned from Abraham Lincoln. From his example, from a study of his life, from the impression it has made upon me, I have learned to love my Country more, to love my neighbor better, to get closer to God as the only source of the spiritual strength necessary to weather the storms that presently beat upon us.

Now, in conclusion, because it is tremendously helpful and encouraging to young Americans, I would like to give you the thought that Lincoln expressed when he spoke to the men during a review of a regiment during the Civil War. "I happen temporarily to occupy this big White House," the President said. "I am a living witness that any one of your children may live to come here as my father's child has. It is in order that each of you may have, through this free government which we have enjoyed, an open field and a fair chance; that the struggle should be maintained that we may not lose our birthright."

I think we are all agreed. We have a big job confronting us. I think we should understand we must retain America in all its greatness and glory through the idealism of the individual citizen. That means that Americans must obey the law; that means that the Golden Rule must be put into business; that means that we must legislate for the common good. We will be an example to the world in right living, and I say to you this afternoon that we can do our job if we keep faith and carry out the ideals of Lincoln, with malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, and hold fast to Government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, thank you, Senator Wagner, for your scintillating and your sparkling presentation of the life of Lincoln and drawing your parallels as of the present.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, years ago I thought I was quite a student of American history, and the first day that I arrived in the Senate I, like others I presume, went around the Senate Chamber reading the various quotations that appear beneath and around the various paintings, and I discovered here on the wall in front of me a quotation from a speech by Abraham Lincoln, the year of 1860, in Springfield, Illinois, and I think it very appropos that at this moment we ought to hear what he thought was one of the underlying faiths of all Americans, particularly appropos because we are so divided today in what we ought to do or ought not to do in this great world situation that has men disagreeing bitterly with each other, families divided and all of us worried.

Mr. President, I read this inscription years ago, and I was happy to see it incorporated here in the halls of the Senate, and I quote from his speech as it is contained here on the Senate wall:

"It was not the mere matter of separation of the colonies from the motherhood but that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence which gave liberty not alone to this country but hope to all the world for all future time."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Senator Dent. I am sure the Senate feels as does the Persiding Officer that we were favored today with an outstanding Lincoln Day program, and the Chair thanks the speakers.

I might say facetiously, in all humility, members of the Senate, Senator Wagner neglected to mention the fact that my own birthday comes on February 27, and if any others want to get on the February bandwagon, speak up.

STUDENTS OF LANCASTER CLEFT PALATE INSTITUTE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, we have some visitors from a very unusual and extraordinary Institution. I would like to present them to the Senate, the students of the Lancaster Cleft Palate Institute.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair welcomes the students from the Cleft Palate Institute of Lancaster, and we hope your stay will be most profitable and happy.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the Senate to an article that appeared in a Pittsburgh paper just recently in regard to one of our former members who served with us in the Session of 1943 and 1945. He is known well to us as the father of the chattel mortgage bill, which we fought so much about here in the Senate. I refer to former Senator Wallace S. Gourley, who is now the youngest president judge in the United States of any Federal Court. He succeeded Judge McVicar who retired on February 1.

Judge Gourley is forty-six years old. He has been on the bench since 1945. In point of service, he is the third youngest senior judge among the forty-eight in the nation.

Just a few days later, there appeared an editorial which I think commends Judge Gourley, and I think that most of you would like to hear it. It was contained in the Pittsburgh Press. The caption was "Our New Federal Court." It says:

"Under the leadership of its new chief, Wallace S. Gourley, the U. S. District Court for Western Pennsylvania is beginning to get out from under.

"In the last six months, the records show, the court has handled a larger volume of work than it did in two years before.

"It has been able to do this because it has been staffed with competent, industrious judges.

"In Judges Gourley, Owen M. Burns and Rabe F. Marsh, the court has judges who apply themselves to their jobs. And get results.

"Previously, the court had been handicapped by illness, a shortage of judges because of political finagling and a rapid-increasing volume of business."

Mr. President, I wanted to call this matter to the attention of the Senate because I think you will all be happy to know Judge Gourley is now a President Judge and the youngest in the United States.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Inasmuch as it is not known of the disposition the General Assembly anticipates making of these illustrations, we believe they would serve a very useful purpose by being kept in our possession until such time as the General Assembly may request them. Senate Bills for concurrence Senate Bill No. 18.

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. WILT offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1951.

Whereas, Thomas P. Geer, a new member of this august body representing the thirteenth district of Allegheny County, has been performing his duties while under great nervous strain and tension, and

Whereas, Mr. Geer became the father of a new baby boy, weight seven and one-half pounds, on February, the sixth, and

Whereas, Mr. Geer's great nervous strain and tension has been supplanted by a feeling of pride and joy in the acquisition of a new constituent of the highest caliber; thereafter be it

Resolved, That this House extend its congratulations and best wishes to the new father and mother, and, be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Geer at her place of residence.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Messrs. MINTESS and PAUL F. JONES offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1951.

The doubts and dissensions that confronted the Republic during the tragic era of Lincoln are not unlike those that confound us today. Yet, we emerged from the War of the Rebellion with its ravages and heartaches to expand into an economy that has widened the arc of educational opportunity, has assured a mode of living, and has brought to the nation a prestige and a prominence such as the world has never before seen.

It has long been acknowledged that the purposeful and inspired leadership of Lincoln—a leadership conceived in stern morality and expressed with undeviating and indomitable will—was the primal reason for our miraculous recovery from the scourge of war and a rapid evolution into a free and a prosperous nation.

May we not hope that a leadership of like stature will soon arise during these present frenetic days that will train its sights on the elusive, yet attainable, goals, of peace and stability and implement a vision of concord with all peoples and of security for ourselves with a resolute pattern of action.

Transitory set-back, frustration, disillusionment, and despair must not impair the uncompromising purpose of a vigorous leadership, born of the courage to win at all odds our rightful place in the assembly of nations; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, that it pause for a moment to consider the inestimable contribution to the welfare and the continuity of our country by one of its outstanding leaders—for, truly Abraham Lincoln has moved through the pages of history to leave to us a heritage of devotion and sacrifice that must not be forgotten.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. "The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here" in the state of Pennsylvania; the nation will note what we do here.

The most fitting memorial to Lincoln that this House could have authorized would be on this date when we think of the causes for which he struggled, when we think of his disappointments and his triumphs to have passed finally an FEPC bill. That would it be indeed a tribute to Lincoln.

We tarry here today while the lame, the halt, the sick and the blind in our mental institutions await our delayed and tarried action. I had expected, Mr. Speaker, and you had expected, I have no doubt, and the Members of this House had expected that by this time we would be in the midst of deliberating upon a program, a welfare program designed in behalf of the underdog, the under privileged of this Commonwealth that would have enabled us to have saluted Lincoln with acts in kind with the acts he so splendidly performed. I, of course, intend to vote for this resolution but I could not permit this occasion to pass without expressing my regret that today all that we have to offer to Lincoln is the tribute of a resolution.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before proceeding with the consideration of the calendar, I request the consent of the Senate to introduce at this time two resolutions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, these resolutions bear upon a subject that has been discussed pro and con, both in and out of the Senate of Pennsylvania and in and out of the daily press.

At the outset, let me state clearly for the benefit of all, in order that there be no misunderstanding of the motives behind the action of the Minority group in the Senate of Pennsylvania, that we take the position that the action that we are calling attention to is precedent-making and, therefore, in need of clarification. Most of our actions in government and in the practice of law are dependent upon precedent unless they are original. These we believe to be original propositions. Therefore, Mr. President, we wish to introduce these resolutions in a spirit of friendly cooperation, and yet fully determined that the questions raised upon the Senate Floor should be and ought to be discussed freely and openly in order that whatever we do here will be done with an open mind and an honest conviction that the precedent we set will guide the future members of future Senates along the constitutional and democratic way.

Mr. President, this first resolution deals with Section 213 of the Administrative Code, and bears directly upon the action of the Governor of the Commonwealth in naming Acting Secretaries of the various Departments. With the permission of the Senate, I would like to read the resolutions in order that the full import may not be lost, and that all of us will have a clear understanding of the matter before us. I am hoping, of course, that with a minimum of political consideration, and a maximum of friendly cooperation, we may determine this question for the good of the peoples of the Commonwealth.

This resolution is presented in the Senate on February 13, 1951. I present this resolution on behalf of the Democratic Minority and not as an individual. The body of the resolution reads as follows, and I quote:

"WHEREAS, there exists at this moment in Pennsylvania a situation that creates a serious question on the basis of legal and constitutional conduct of government, and

"WHEREAS, this condition has been created by a direct contravention of the provisions of the Administrative Code as contained in Section 213, reading as follows:

"DEPUTIES

"The head of any administrative department, except the Auditor General, State Treasurer and the Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs shall have the power, with the approval of the Governor, to appoint and fix the compensation of a deputy, or such number of deputies as the Executive Board shall approve, who shall, in the absence of the head of such department, have the right to exercise all the powers and perform all the duties by law vested in and imposed upon the head of such department, except the power to appoint deputies, bureau or division chiefs, or other assistants or employes, and who may, at any time, exercise such of the powers and perform such of the duties of the head of his department as may be prescribed by the head of his department: Provided, however, That any such deputy shall not have the right to exercise any power or perform any duty which the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires the head of his department personally to exercise or perform.

"Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of the head of any department, such deputy as the Governor shall designate in writing shall exercise the powers and perform the duties of the head of the department until the vacancy is filled.

"With the approval of the Governor in writing, the head of any department may authorize a named deputy to serve in his stead on any board or commission, except the Board of Pardons of which such department head is a member ex-officio. One of the Deputy Adjutants General shall possess the same qualifications in all respects as are required by law for the Adjutant General of the Department of Military Affairs. As amended 1947, June 25, P. L. 935, No. 390."

"THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Auditor General be directed not to pay the salaries of the following persons:

"Deputy Secretary of Commerce, Andrew J. Sordoni; Deputy Secretary of Health, Russell E. Teague; Deputy Secretary of Labor and Industry, David M. Walker; Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Artemus C. Leslie; Deputy Secretary of Property and Supplies, Alan D. Reynolds; Deputy Secretary of Public Assistance, Eleanor G. Evans; Deputy Secretary of Revenue, Otto F. Messner; Deputy Secretary of Welware, William C. Brown.

"Whom the Governor has appointed as deputies and designated as acting heads of the various departments."

Mr. President, I also wish to introduce at this moment this resolution, introduced on behalf of the Democratic Minority in the Senate and not as a personal matter.

"WHEREAS, there exists at this moment in Pennsylvania a situation that creates a serious question on the basis of legal and constitutional conduct of government, and

"WHEREAS, this condition has been created by an obvious violation of the constitutional provisions contained in Article IV, Section 8.

Article IV is headed, "The Executive." Section 8, headed "Appointing Power—Filling Vacancies—Confirmation," reads as follows:

"Section 8. He shall nominate and by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be entered on the journal."

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I know, and all of you know, that men in public office are ofttimes forced, by weight of circumstances, into a position where they may act in what they think, and honestly think, to be their duty. However, in no instance is any person elected to public office allowed by his conscience to at any time mistake his duty to be a duty to a political party or a political person instead of to the people and to the Constitution that he has sworn to uphold.

Some say to me that there is an honest difference of opinion. I know that in all matters there are various interpretations. I too know and believe that the members on the other side will do the right, if they know the right to be right. I do not believe that any Member of this Senate on either side is going to sit idly by and watch the prerogatives of the Senate taken from them, and the Constitution set aside because for political expediency it may be the proper maneuver of the moment.

Mr. President, I read from the Constitution and a parallel situation might easily be met in reading anything else. In my humble opinion, not being an attorney, when I read a book or when I read an article, I pay strict attention to the periods and the commas, to the punctuation marks, to the tense and the gender, to the make-up of the phrase, to the clause or the sentence, in order that I may know of my own knowledge that which I am reading. It is possible to read a line, a sentence or a whole book and come out of it with a jumbled up idea of what you read, if you pay no attention to the proper punctuation, to the proper interpretation of the tense of the word used in the sentence or book. I say this because, to my mind, the framers of the Constitution meant when they said, the recess of the Senate and the next Session of their next Session, the word "their" refers to the word "the," and the word "the" refers to the Senate that is in recess at the moment, at the moment, that the vacancy occurs.

I am convinced of this point as much as I am convinced of anything I have ever stood for in my whole life; that the framers of the Constitution meant then, and we ought to mean now, to hold the Constitution to the hands of the Executive, to the hands of the Judicial, to the hands of the Legislature then in power, and that when they have left that office, and when that Session of the Legislature containing the prescribed members elected for a certain term is no longer in existence, because of the statute of limitations controlling their elections, then that group of Senators are no longer the Members of the Senate.

I say this after a profound study and an honest study to find in my own mind, and in my own conscience, a manner by which I could circumvent the Constitution and go along with the proposition that the Senate need not obey its provisions, and that they need not confirm the appointments of any Governor at any future time.

Mr. President, never in the history of this State, and I say this with the knowledge that my information comes from those who are learned in the law, never in the history of this State has there been a situation such as confronts the people of Pennsylvania today, and remember this, there is no other group, no other group that can determine this question in its primary state except the Members of the Senate.

In 1949, the membership of the Senate was made up of fifty men. They were the Members of the Senate, and their next session of the Legislature had to be called before January 2, 1951, because in 1951 it was no longer their session of the Legislature. It was the session of the Legislature of a new Senate. There had been an election in the meantime. Otherwise, if I am unsound in my proposition, if I am unsound in my logic, then we can honestly say that any person could, under an opinion recently handed to the Governor by the Attorney General's office, continue in office from the time he is originally appointed until the day of his death without confirmation by the Senate of Pennsylvania if a week-kneed Governor, if ever we should have one, would have the courage to name his officers as the Constitution so declares he must do.

Mr. President, these things I hold to be true; that I have a duty to perform. I stood before the body of the Senate, and with my hand upon the Holy Bible, prescribed that I would perform that duty, and anything that I do in contravention to the Constitution and the laws of this State disqualifies me for a seat in the Senate. I hold these to be truths. I abide by them, and I will live by them. We cannot, by our own wish or by the wish of any other person or party, stand in this Senate and allow, the Constitution to be circumscribed because of a flimsy excuse that says we have an opinion upon which we can go; an opinion can never take the place of the Constitution.

Mr. President, it is not improper for the Senate to stand upon their constitutional rights; it is improper if they do not stand upon their constitutional rights, and in order that there be a clear understanding in the minds of all peoples, we are not in this instance taking into consideration nor at any time has the Democratic Minority taken into consideration the qualifications, if you please, the personalities, if you please, of any individual that has been named by the Governor. We have yet to reach that stage. We are now before this Senate discussing the proprieties of the actions that we have taken.

I am disposed to believe that if left alone in private conversation and with the doors of outside influence closed, I am vain enough to believe that this Senate would read the Constitution as the Constitution is written. Under our interpretation, which, incidentally, is not an interpretation pulled out of the blue sky above the simple purpose of having something upon which to argue, but is an interpretation based upon what we believe to be the intention in the minds of those who years ago, in a like position, had the responsibility of laying down the rules by which the conduct of the peoples of this State were to be circumscribed.

Now, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we are faced with this situation at this particular time because the day after tomorrow happens to be a pay period. It is the first pay period that has occurred since these persons have been named or have taken office in which the Senate of the Legislature has been in Session. We have had no other opportunity to discuss this matter except upon that fateful day when we took our original position.

Mr. President, I would not ask hasty consideration of such a weighty, serious matter, but in fairness to the people of Pennsylvania, the Senate ought to vote, on whether or not they believe these evidences to be the truth of the matter. If in the procedure it is suggested that the resolutions be given to the Committee of the Senate for proper consideration, and if it is the intention that that Committee meet and that the Members take into serious consideration the questions we have raised, we can find no fault with that. We want it clearly understood by all in Pennsylvania that every now and then there comes a question before a deliberative body that transcends political consideration because, as I say to you, gentlemen, here this afternoon, in a practical sense, in a practical political sense, the Democratic Party ought to be happy to allow these opinions to become law. We ought to be pleased because it will take an avalanche, even worse, it will take a catastrophe, as it were, for the Democratic Party to ever get sufficient votes without the help of their gracious neighbors on the Republican side to perform the very duties that we are attempting to perform today, and if you allow these opinions to become law, then the Minority Party elected to office can, with impunity, name into the positions of government men of bad moral character, men and women disqualified by their nature and their training, because there is in these opinions not only the threat but the practice that the Senate of Pennsylvania, the only safety valve in the Constitution, will have closed forever upon it the door of inquisition. They can no longer inquire into the fitness of a person, the qualifications of a person; they can no longer give advice and consent, and I defy any Member of this Senate to show me whether, under the opinions that are now accepted by some as law, the Senate amounts to anything in the matter of confirmations of constitutional offices. There is no longer that safeguard which our forebears placed in the Constitution of Pennsylvania. If you do not agree with the Constitution, rewrite it, but so long as it is here and it is the law, we have not the right to circumscribe it.

Mr. President, these I hold to be the truths and these I hold to be the considerations of the Democratic Minority.

Mr. President, this resolution ends up with a resolution the same as contained in the first resolution, and I read:

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Auditor General be directed not to pay the salaries of the following persons; and they shall be:

"Gene D. Smith, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and

"Charles J. Margiotti, Attorney General of the Commonwealth."

And now, gentlemen, as the spokesman of the minority group, let us understand each other. It is not easy for me to stand up here in the Senate and take this action as an individual. Many of these persons have been friends of mine for over a generation. I hope that they, too, are strong enough Americans, and believe enough in Constitutional Government, to see our point of view.

Mr. President, I submit the following resolutions and ask immediate consent for both.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Minority requested permission of the House to caucus with reference to Amendments to House Bill No. 1.

The matter of compensation to volunteer members of mobile units has become a matter of minor controversy. The bill as it stands provides that volunteer members of the mobile units shall be compensated at the rate of five dollars a day. The bill, as you know, also provides that municipal employes directed by their governing body to serve as members of mobile units shall draw their regular pay.

The Democratic Caucus considered at length the matter of compensating volunteers in times of an emergency in any amount. We discussed the matter of whether a volunteer was or was not a volunteer. We discussed the matter of whether in our various communities in Pennsylvania there are men and women, who in times of great emergency, would or would not volunteer to serve their own communities, to serve the Commonwealth and to serve the nation. We discussed the matter of trying to place a monetary value upon volunteer service in times of emergency. And we decided there was no standard, no monetary standard, that could be used in computing patriotic impulse and patriotic service. And it was the opinion of the Democratic Caucus, by a preponderant vote, that in these times when there are so many dying, when there is such grave danger, we considered whether or not it was not the part of wisdom upon the part of the Commonwealth to seek the largest possible measure of uncompensated volunteer help and to refuse to place a money value upon volunteer service rendered in times of an emergency.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the Democratic Caucus has requested me to request the House for time in which to prepare an amendment which will strike out all compensation for volunteer service and establish the volunteer as a volunteer.

Another matter has been called to my attention. It is that the municipal employes who serve as members of mobile units are provided for in the case of accidents in the performance of their duties; but there is no liability clause in the present bill which applies to the volunteer. It is our thought that this bill should be further amended to provide that those who serve as volunteer members of mobile units, if they are injured, be given the same consideration that is given the members of mobile units who are municipal employes, and that any dependents of the volunteers who may be killed in the performance of their duty also be given the same consideration.

And so, Mr. Speaker, we would request the opportunity to amend the bill, first, to eliminate all compensation for volunteer service in connection with mobile units and also for the purpose of providing liability protection for the volunteers who actually volunteer and serve.

Mr. SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand that the gentleman requests time for the preparation of these amendments?

Mr. ANDREWS. That is right, Mr. Speaker, I would like to go over to the Legislative Reference Bureau; it shouldn't take more than five or ten minutes, and I would like permission to go over to the Pennsylvania Reference Bureau and tarry while they prepare the amendments and bring them back.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for an extension of time to permit the preparation of amendments by the Legislative Reference Bureau to House Bill 1? Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and consent is granted.

MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF PENNSYLVANIA INSTITUTION FOR DEFECTIVE DELINQUENTS

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 14, 1951.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Charles J. McGee, Saxton, Bedford County, for appointment as a Member of the Board of Trustees of Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents, for the term of four years, and until his successor is qualified.

JOHN S. FINE.

PRESENTATION TO THE HONORABLE AND MRS. DANIEL B. STRICKLER

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, my colleagues of the Senate have conferred upon me, a newcomer in the Senate, what I consider to be a signal honor. They have asked me to present, on their behalf, a token of esteem and appreciation to the former Lieutenant-Governor, General Daniel B. Strickler. This I am genuinely happy to do, not only because General Strickler comes from Lancaster, but more so because he represents that rare type of citizen who serves his community, his State and his Country promptly, willingly and continually in war and in peace.

Mr. President, it is regrettable that General Strickler cannot be here this morning to receive this tribute in person. He is, as you know, in command of the illustrious 28th Division, now in training at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. We are honored, however, by the presence of his charming wife, Mrs. Caroline Bolton Strickler, who came up here this morning to participate in this presentation. I would like to ask Mrs. Strickler to stand just for a moment, so that all of us here in the Senate may see her.

Mr. President, it occurred to me on the way to Harrisburg this morning that this is an opportune incident. We celebrate today St. Valentine's Day, which, according to custom, is a day on which we exchange or give sentimental tributes. I do not know whether there is any connection between St. Valentine and that procedure or not, but I did read somewhere that on February 15 the Romans used to celebrate a feast called Lupercalia. There was considerable license at that time, and the young men used to dress in goat skins and they went around town beating women with goat thongs, a rite believed to insure fertility and easy delivery in child birth. I thought it fortunate that we in the Senate did not have a custom like that, because we would make a pretty sorry spectacle of ourselves, wouldn't we?

Mr President, General Strickler spent his boyhood in Columbia, Pennsylvania. He lived next door, I believe, to the former General Shannon, who was Lieutenant-Governor from 1931 to 1935, and who had, I believe, an extraordinary influence on Strickler's life, because there is a very close parallel between their successful careers in the military, in the community and from a political standpoint.

General Strickler's military career is unusual in certain respects. He began at the early age of nineteen when he enlisted in the old 4th Pennsylvania Infantry, and he saw service and duty as a Sergeant on the Mexican Border.

Another unusual thing about his career is that he was promoted almost as rapidly as military regulations permit. When the 28th Division was formed, after the old 4th Infantry Regiment was disbanded, he was a Lieutenant, and when World War I came along he was the youngest Captain in service. As we got into World War II, Strickler was then a full Colonel, but he surrendered that rank for a Lieutenant Colonelcy in order to stay with the fighting troops of the First World War Division. It was his battalion that was the first allied unit to enter German Territory in 1944, and now with what might be the approach of World War III, we find Strickler a General in command of that famous 28th Division, to whose record he contributed so much.

Mr. President, General Strickler's decorations include the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Clusters, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, the Pennsylvania Distinguished Service Medal and Citations, I believe, granted from France and Belgium.

From a community standpoint, General Strickler has always been an outstanding citizen. He is an elder in his Church; he has always been assigned to difficult organizing jobs; he was a Director or President, I believe, of the Board of Directors of the local Y.M.C.A. for a number of years. He headed the American Red Cross for a period of time, and held many offices in the American Legion and other post-war military organizations.

Politically, General Strickler was for many years prominent in the Pennsylvania State Young Republican Committee. He was the County Solicitor for the County. He served with honor on a special temporary assignment as Commissioner of Police. He was in the House of Representatives in 1930-31, and in 1946 he was elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, as Presiding Officer of this Senate, General Strickler always showed a very strict sense of parlimentary propriety, he was very gracious in giving recognition to visitors, and while he rendered at times opinions with which many Senators differed, he would always endeavor to be fair and to see that everyone had his chance to speak.

Mr. President, it is in appreciation of a well performed task as Lieutenant-Governor, and in recognition of his outstanding service to his community and to his Country, that the majority members of the Senate would like to pay him this tribute of their respect and esteem.

Mrs. Strickler, we would like to present to you, on behalf of the Majority Members, this gift, with the hope that it will bring back to you and the General many happy memories, and with it goes the very best wishes of all of us for continued good health, success and a happy life as long as you live.

Mrs. STRICKLER. I must say thank you, all of you. This is perfectly handsome. Dan will be just overcome; I am, too. It is perfectly wonderful.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to commend the Senator from Lancaster for his very excellent remarks and the skillful manner in which they were made, and the Chair also joins the rest of the Senate in subscribing to the sentiments therein contained.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOLFE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I desire to announce that the Committees on Military Affairs of the House and the Senate have arranged with the Bonus Bureau, that branch of the Military Department of Pennsylvania, to have representatives available in the Senate and the House during the time that we are in Session, beginning Monday. Any communication you might desire to file with them or any information you desire to procure from them, if it is not available immediately, they will procure it for us, and advise us the same day or soon thereafter.

Beginning Monday, three representatives of that Bureau will be available here. At the present time, the plan is to have them stationed in the Adjutant General's office on the second floor in the rear, but we decided this morning to have representatives in the Senate and House lobbies, where they will be available to us instead of going over there. It will be announced Monday where they will be. According to the present plan, they will be in the Adjutant General's old office in the rear, beginning Monday.

Create in us clean hearts, O God, and renew a right spirit in each one of us. Help us to know Thee and Thy voice so well that no false God can direct us wrongly. Protect us from becoming professional handlers of the truth of Thy law—lest that truth melt away in our hands. When we must differ, let us do it as brothers; and if we must make a stand may we stand for something good—or we shall fall for anything. "In Thy light shall we see light." Amen.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 17, 1951.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution, the term of an newly elected Governor begins on the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election. The inauguration ceremonies are therefore held on that day.

It has been the custom, in order that the public may view and participate in the ceremony, to hold them outdoors in front of the Main Capitol Building. Outdoor ceremonies in the middle of winter are often accompanied by extremely low temperatures and high winds.

This element of discomfort and threat to health might well be eliminated by holding future inaugural ceremonies in the State Farm Show Building, where there is ample space for all interested persons to attend and view the ceremonies; therefore, be it

RESOLVED (if the House of Representatives concur), That all future inaugural ceremonies be held in the State Farm Show Building and that the buildings be reserved for this purpose on the third Tuesday of January of each year when a Governor is inaugurated and that no other use of the buildings be permitted on those days.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, it has been my privilege to serve in this Chamber, including this term, for a period of eighteen successive years. I think that is a big part of any man's life, and throughout those eighteen years of service I have always tried to do what I thought was best for my constituency back in my county, and I voted for measures that I thought were best for the people of Pennsylvania.

While not in Session, like every other member of this Chamber, I am back home engaged in my private business.

On returning home last week-end, I happened to pick up a Pittsburgh paper and I found a heading, "Many in Assembly 'Serving Two Masters'," by the Harrisburg correspondent of the Sun Telegraph, Pittsburgh. I am told that a young man by the name of Tom Snyder is the author of this outstanding story. Mr. Snyder has gone out of his way to pry into the private lives of members of this Chamber. Unfortunately, he starts off with me. He infers that Members of this Chamber, who are engaged in private practice and businesses, influence legislation, and that is the part that I resent, whether it comes from Mr. Snyder, or Mr. Padgett, or anyone else. I now quote from the article appearing in the paper as follows:

"Take Senator John J. Haluska, Patton Democrat, for instance. He is connected with an insurance agency, is president of a bank, and general manager for a brewery."

Well, I am somewhat disappointed because I am the administrator of a hospital, for his information, and I have a car agency. He missed a couple of my enterprises, but, Mr. President, any child in grade school knows that no person in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can hold a state insurance license and be president of a bank, and any inference left by this article is not doing me any good or this Chamber, and if that statement is true it is the duty of this Senate to investigate my private life.

I cannot, if I wanted to, hold a state insurance license and be an officer of any bank. I am not president of a bank; I am a director, and during the week-end I received a number of telephone calls from bankers, wanting to know how I am getting away with it.

Now, Mr. President, it might sound like a lot of fun but the time has come when some of these newspaper men should take off their knee-pants and put on long trousers and become men. Suspicion of every man in this Chamber; every man is grafting. Well, if I had to live on my salary of $1500 per year, I would be tempted, probably, the way he sees it, to barter, to trade, to earn my livelihood someway by selling or buying legislation, but I, like every other man in this Chamber, have the courage and talent, if you please, to go back home and earn a decent livelihood.

When I presented a bill asking for an increase in salaries, the Sun Telegraph did not come out and support my bill. They didn't think we were entitled to a raise. They thought we were getting sufficient, but how in the name of common sense can they sit back now and find fault when I go back home to earn my livelihood? How do they expect me or any other Member in this Chamber to maintain ourselves and our families in a decent way at the meager pittance that we receive in this Chamber?

Then they go on and quote Senator Kephart, Senator Murray Peelor, an attorney. Senator Kephart is also an attorney, and they practice law, and apparently in the eyes of the Sun Telegraph and their correspondent, this is not permissible. It is a crime. They should resign from this Chamber or resign from their practice. Senator Chapman, a man who has served humanity for half a generation, but he is not permitted to be a doctor because he is Chairman of the Appropriations Committee. Senator Snowden is in the gasoline business; it is not permissible. It is illegal. Senator Scarlett, he is a farmer. They say it is not permissible. Senator Pechan is criticized because he belongs to the American Legion, if you please. I can't see the connection. Senator Berger is owned body and soul by the Grundys, and controls legislation. Senator Wade and Senator Crowe, they control insurance.

Mr. President, I think we are hitting a low ebb when our correspondents cannot find any more news than to criticize our private lives and try to point out that we, the Members of this Chamber, are trying to influence and control legislation by sitting on certain committees.

Take Paul Wagner, he sells school supplies. He is not allowed to vote on school bills. Now, I cannot quite understand what they are driving at, and I do not like it. Sometimes I wonder why Drew Pearson and McCarthy got into it. Sometimes I might jump over this desk; I won't stop; head-on formation.

Mr. President, back home right now in our universities, schools and colleges they are wondering what is taking place in Harrisburg; whether or not we live within the Constitution, whether or not we are honest in our duties, and here is a man who deliberately prints that I am president of a bank and hold a state insurance office, knowing full well he had no foundation for the story. He certainly should make some type of apology with all decency to my future. He erred, he knows that he erred.

I was always taught to believe when I went to school that newspapers were news carriers, not news makers, but apparently instead of news carriers they are news makers. When I make the news and tell the truth, no one cares. I do not care what they say about me if it is the truth, but I want to say to him and others that a man who lives in a glass house should never undress in the day time.

Mr. President, I would like to have Mr. Snyder check very very thoroughly on the statement made about me, and if he is correct, it is the duty of my colleagues to insist that I resign as president of the bank or ask that my insurance license be taken away from me. If he is wrong, then we should adopt some type of legislation to deal with men who make such careless and ruthless statements, which are apt to ruin the character of myself and any other man in this Chamber. I do not know when he became an apostle of purity, or any other newspaperman.

You know Confuscious said, "You should never expect to hear the voice of a nightingale coming from the mouth of a crow," and sometimes we wonder whether he was not right, but, Mr. President, I will close with deep resentment in my heart for the statement concerning my own life and the life of all of my colleagues. I admire each and everyone of them, men who have given their time and talent to serve Pennsylvania. I have the utmost respect for every man in this Chamber, and I know of no one who has not been honest and decent in his duty, and this story reminds me of a mackerel in the moonlight; it shines but it stinks.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in line somewhat with the remarks just made by my colleague, there has been going through my mind a great fear that unfounded stories are more dangerous to this valued way of life that we enjoy than any other weapon that might be placed at the disposal of an enemy. We are living in the midst of very trying times. Because of the rapid pace in which we live, because of the need or desire for many of the refinements of present day civilization, many persons find themselves living beyond the limits of their earnings. Therefore, many persons may be tempted to do things, commit acts that in a sense are contrary to the law and contrary to the unwritten laws of decency.

In line with this, we find many stories going around today about the dishonesty of public officials, the tie-up between officials and crime, committees from the Federal Government, committees from various other agencies, impromptu committees delving into the private lives of individuals, a matter of grave concern to many persons who have read history. It is not a farfetched thing to realize that presently today amongst us is the fear of a return of the days of the Spanish Inquisition. It is no big major operation for an innocent person to find himself in jeopardy. A person with little or no respect for himself or others can easily throw a vision of suspicion at any person.

I have heard so often my able colleague, Senator McGinnis, repeat for us his famous speech on "Suspicion." I do not want to detract from the great ability that he has, so I will just quote one line, "Suspicion, the ugliest word in the English language."

So, Mr. President, in line with these sentiments and thoughts, I would like to present, if given the consent of the Senate at this time, out of order, for our consideration a resolution.

On behalf of Senator Lane and myself, I would like to present to the Chair the following resolution and have it read by the Clerk.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING THAT A COMMITTEE BE APPOINTED TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE NEGLIGENCE IN THE ENFORCEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION OF LAWS IN RE. PUBLIC OFFICES

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT, LANE and BANE, offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

February 19, 1951.

Whereas, recent publications of local and State-wide distribution has suggested wide spread irregularities and wide spread violations of various laws of the Commonwealth in the conduct of public trusts by elected public officials, and

Whereas, continuance of this type of publicity will serve as a deterent in the building of unity among our peoples and further, serves to create a distrust and abusive attitude towards all elected eofficials, which in turn destroys the confidence of the people in their elected officials and as such in our form of government, and

Whereas, the seriousness of this matter has been made a subject of various nation-wide publicity stories in magazines for sale at all news stands, and

Whereas, this matter is of such grave importance that it should transcend political, religious or racial lines and should become the duty of elected officials of the Commonwealth to determine the degree of trust in the published statements, and

Therefore, Be it Resolved that if the House concurs, a Committee of nine (9) members be selected as follows:

Four (4) members of the Senate to be named by the President Pro Tempore—two (2) from each Political Party represented there. Four (4) House members to be named by the Speaker of the House—two (2) from each Political Party and the Ninth (9) member to be named by the Governor to act as Chairman, said person shall not be a public official, or any person employed by the State, or any political subdivision or directly connected as an officer of any Political Party.

Be It Further Resolved, that an appropriation sufficient to pay for investigators, administrative expenses and legal counsel to carry out this investigation, and

Be It Further Resolved that this Committee shall determine to the best of its knowledge and findings any break-down in the administration of the duties of public officies anywhere in Pennsylvania; whether there is direct connection between crime and public office; whether there is a wide-spread negligence in the enforcement and administration of laws and whether there is a waste of public funds, due to inefficiency or lack of proper administration by the various govermental agencies or departments, and

Be It Further Resolved that this Committee shall have the right to hold hearings anywhere in the Commonwealth, to subpoena witnesses and records of every kind and nature whatsoever, to administer oaths for the purpose of complying with the provisions as set forth in this resolution, and

Be It Further Resolved that a preliminary report of this Committee shall be made to this General Assembly prior to its adjournment Sine Die, said studies to be completed before the beginning of the next Regular Session of the Legislature, and a copy of its findings be submitted to the Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate very deeply what the gentleman from Westmoreland is desirous of accomplishing, but in order to give us proper opportunity to study the resolution, I would ask him to bear with us, and I will therefore object to immediate consideration of the resolution and ask that it be assigned to the proper committee.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

RULE 38 SUSPENDED

Mr. WATSON asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations read by the Clerk.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WALKER, that the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. MEADE,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nomination of Richard Maize, Uniontown, Fayette County, for appointment as Secretary of Mines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Executive Nominations Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Chairman of the Executive Nominations Committee, Senator Watson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the Chairman explain why the name of Richard Maize has been selected as the first name to be voted upon at this time?

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, it just happened to be on top of the pile. That is all.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the Chairman of the Executive Nominations Committee tell the Senate whether or not all of the names read will be considered today?

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I cannot answer that, sir. I do not know.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly. I will try to answer it for you.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the name of an individual has been called up here to determine whether or not one of two things is necessary in Pennsylvania. It is no longer a question of whether this individual is to receive the qualifying vote of the Senate in order to take his position, but in our minds it is a question whether or not the Senate has any authority to vote, whether the Senate has any prerogatives in the matter, whether the individual needs this confirmation to perform the duties of the office to which he has been named.

We have taken the position, and we have heard no arguments to the contrary, that the Constitution of Pennsylvania clearly states that the Senate must qualify a person for a cabinet office under a new Governor of the Commonwealth. We have taken that position based entirely upon the assumption that the spirit and the letter of the Constitution are being violated here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I had occasion to speak to Richard Maize this afternoon. As politics go, I think that Mr. Maize and myself have been friends over the years. At that time I assured him, and I assure the Senate and the people of Pennsylvania at this moment, that as far as I can ascertain, there is no opposition in the Democratic Caucus to Mr. Richard Maize as an indivdual for the office for which he has been nominated.

Later, when I was informed of the action that may take place this afternoon, out of fairness to Mr. Maize and to myself, I put a call through to his office to tell him that I understood he was going to be the guinea pig in this experiment, and I wanted him to clearly understand that so far as he himself was concerned, that our position had not changed on him or anybody else, and I was informed by Mr. Maize's office that he had gone to the State of California this afternoon at 4:20. So, I suppose that for the rest of his days he will go down in life calling me the unmentionable names that he has the right to call me because I told him there was no opposition to him. He will feel that I lied to him; he will feel that I am not a person of character, and the one thing I have tried to build besides trying to accumulate a slight amount of wealth for the benefit of my family and the security of my person, I have tried to build a reputation that I have some character. However, that will not change the position that I find myself in at this moment.

Mr. President, if the opinions that the Governor is operating this Commonwealth under today are to stand, then these confirmations are not necessary; all they need is another opinion from the Attorney General's Office, but if the Constitution means anything, then this Democratic Majority, and it is the majority because the opinions of the Attorney General make us the Majority and it is not farfetched to say so.

If a person is in office, if you please, and his commission reads that he shall hold office until his successor has been qualified, then the minority becomes the majority, because a minority of sufficient strength to keep the qualifying vote from his successor would freeze that person in office unless the Governor resorted to the Constitution and the Administrative Code, and that is all we are asking here today. That is all we have asked for from the beginning. Every office could have been filled with acting secretaries of the departments, acting heads of the departments, constitutionally. There was no need to contravene the Administrative Code, there was no need to circumvent the Constitution, there was no need to take away from the Senate every last prestige that it may have in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a body separate and entirely away from the Administrative Branch of Government.

Mr. President, I pointed out upon occasions that we have no right to interfere with the Judicial, we have no right to dictate to the Administrative. The only rights we have are contained in the duties of the Senate of Pennsylvania as they are contained in the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth. What goes for us goes for the others.

I have heard preachments upon preachments from the other side of the Senate, and I have read thousands of words from the opposition party in the United States Congress upon the dictatorial powers and the dictatorial aspirations of the late President Roosevelt when he was accused of attempting to pack the Supreme Court, and it was clearly stated by the thousands of speakers that we have three entities in government. We have separate and distinct entities composed of the Executive, the Judicial and the Legislative.

Where are the high sounding scholarly words today when you are to test as to whether or not you have a right to pass upon the qualifications of an individual as the Constitution so clearly states? Where are we today and what pass have we come to?

Mr. President, we will not break down in our determination, and even if it means the defeat of every Member of the Senate sitting here on the Democratic side, we will accept that defeat, because there is nothing big enough or high enough to hold our heads up to if every last prestige, if every little bit of protection given to minorities under the Constitution are wiped away by one foul act of the Senate of Pennsylvania. We are individual members in our own rights, but I say to you, and I say it with all the sincerity at my command, that if you allow this to happen today you are doing an unfair thing to a man who does not deserve such a low blow.

Mr. President, I am stating to you in plain words that we will vote in the negative for each and every name that comes before us until the provisions of the Constitution are adhered to. In the first instance it was said we were acting this way because we disliked an individual. I tried to tell you from the beginning that that was not true, but you would not believe it. Does this prove to you that it is not a matter of an individual? I certainly do not care about individuals and if I did care about individuals, a couple of weeks ago I learned a lesson. What we may think is important today passes into nothing tomorrow. Deep down inside we only have one thing to live for, and that is that we have satisfied our consciences in the performance of our duties, and I say, Mr. President, that here today is a test as to whether or not we are men of conviction or whether we are men of opportunity.

Mr. President, I have been told that two names will be voted upon. I am hoping that you do not have that type of action to what you may do on the first name. I hope that you have not preagreed and prearranged that two men will be sacrificed here today, as it were, to the whims of an individual. Senators come and senators go, governors come and governors go, and in the last analysis so do attorneys general, and if the words of an attorney general can circumvent the Constitution of the Commonwealth, then another attorney general at a later day may write another opinion that will further circumvent the Constitution. If you want to change the Constitution, hold a Constitutional Convention, and I will go along with you. I will vote with you and if you want to put in the Constitution that the Legislature must obey the opinions and dictates of the Attorney General, that is all right with me, too, but so long as it is written that we have the right and a duty to perform, I will do my duty. You say to me, well, now you are not performing that duty. You take the arbitrary position that you will vote against everyone because a certain name has not been submitted. No, that is not it. We have not objected to the fact that the Governor has not made his mind up about a Secretary of Banking. He is living strictly within the confines of the Constitution and doing his duty as he sees it. We do not object to that. If he desired to let all the older members run over, that was absolutely his prerogative. We would have no objection, but when a pretender to the throne sits in office it is time that we take cognizance of the fact.

Mr. President, there is a vacancy in the Attorney General's office and the Constitution clearly says that the Governor must name an Attorney General. It does not say "may", it says "shall", and until that moment comes I can tell you, come what may in the way of criticism, come what may follow in the way of bitterness, we will stand by that position. There is nothing else for us to do, and if you insist upon crucifying the careers of Richard Maize and Alan Reynolds at this time, that will rest squarely on your door step because you are forewarned, and, incidentally, as a little past history let me remind you of something.

In an instance that I can recall, and I was a member of the General Assembly at the time, when that party in power did not have controlling numbers in the Senate to confirm, the administration was told very plainly that there would be no confirmations of any of the Cabinet officiers unless the twenty-six Democratic Members voted solidly for each individual, and the Republican Minority at that time, controlling the confirmations, said that when you vote twenty-six, we will give you the necessary eight votes. Following even that precedent, Mr. President, with two Members of their own missing today, they are calling upon us to give them more than the required amount of votes when they themselves set the rules. We did not set the rules. The rules were set right in this Chambr in 1935, and they delivered eight votes to the Democratic Majority and eight votes only.

Now, Mr. President, we do not want to be small. We hope we are big, but this vote today is not what it appears to be. It is not a test of whether the log jam is broken. We are not jamming anything up. These men are serving constitutionally. Dick Maize is serving constitutionally. The only way that that office can be vacated is if you insist on a vote today.

Mr. President, I want you to know what the story is and not what it appears to be. Reminiscent of an old story I read in DeCameron Bocaccio years ago, it seemed a rich man had a very lovely young wife, and the overseer on the farm was also a handsome young man, and stories had reached the ears of this rich wealthy landowner that his wife and the overseer were sort of more friendly than they ought to be. So the wife, in fear, ran to the overseer and said. "We must watch ourselves, by husband is suspicious." He said. "We will take care of that." He said, "You get him to take a walk with you down to the meadow and," he said, "there under that big elm tree you sit with him and just talk to him, and I will hide up in the branches and then you just follow my cue."

So, she enticed her husband to take a walk and got him down under the elm tree. While sitting there peacefully this overseer, hidden up in the branches, looked down and said, "Master, aren't you ashamed of yourself, making a perfect spectacle of yourself in broad daylight by making love to your wife?" The master looked up in the tree and said, "Fool, what foul words are these?" He said, "We sit here just talking to each other. There is no act that could be condemned by the righteous."

The overseer said, "That is the way it looks from up here, master." So, the master said, "Come down and I shall climb the tree." Well, when the master got up in the tree, the overseer started "bussing" the missus. The old master looked down and said, "Well, I'll be darned if it doesn't look like you are kissing my wife," and so from then on they carried on their illicit love affair. The moral of the story is, all things are not what they appear to be.

This is not a vote; this is not a vote today because of the manner in which it is coming up. If it is a true test of our powers and of our ability to stand upon our rights here in the Senate, call all the names up at one time. Do not sacrifice or crucify an individual. Call them all up at one time and then let us make a decision as men, and in the face of that, Mr. President, I move that all the names be submitted for a vote at this time.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, there is nothing before the Senate except the vote to confirm the nomination of the Secretary of the Department of Mines, Mr Richard Maize.

The PRESIDENT. The point is well taken. There is only one question before the Senate at the present time.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, if he will permit me to take this discussion out of the field of adultery and back into the field of confirmation, that I at any time will, bear witness before any individual or any group of the high standing, the integrity and honesty of my distinguished colleague, Senator Dent. At no time should Mr. Maize or any member of this cabinet feel that Mr. Dent has directly or indirectly misled them on any phases of governmental procedure that might have taken place or might take place today, and let me say, Mr. President, that the constitutional prerogative of the Senate of Pennsylvania, which Mr. Dent is so actively engaged in defending, is the very thing we are attempting to practice here.

Mr. President, the Senate of Pennsylvania has the right to confirm certain appointments made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth. That right is a constitutional right. There have been times when that right has been exercised here over and over again. The Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a constitutional right to select his official family. He is the sole determiner of whom he shall appoint to various cabinet positions. The Members of his cabinet are his official family and they are the people upon whom he depends for advice, for cooperation, for support in operating this gigantic public corporation. In the final analysis the virtues of the cabinet members, whether or not they shall be an asset or a liability to the administration, rest upon the Governor's shoulders because he is the man who selects them. Their fitness to hold the office to which they have been nominated rests upon the confirmation, the advice and consent of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the cabinet was sent to the Senate by the present Chief Executive on the sixteenth of January when the new Governor took office. There was, as the public and the people of Pennsylvania, and the Members of this Senate know, a difference of opinion as to the status of certain cabinet officials. There are two schools of thought and each of those schools have been well defended by men of outstanding integrity, and for whose opinions we have a very high regard. The question has been debated indirectly on this floor time after time after time as to whether or not the Minority will confirm the cabinet as appointed by the Governor until he sends over a nominee for the office of Attorney General.

The distinguished gentleman from Westmoreland has suggested that we are circumventing the constitutional privileges and prerogatives of this high legislative body by submitting a cabinet member for confirmation. That is not quite so, Mr. President. The very thing that we are defending is our right to confirm. Those of us who are answerable perhaps to the Executive Department for the guidance of the administration program in the halls of the Senate are answerable only to him.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland in his closing remarks suggested that what we should do is present all of the cabinet. I do not construe that statement as being a suggestion from the Minority that if we present all of the cabinet, the determination which he just expressed that they would not vote solidly will be passed by, and they will vote "aye" if we present all of the cabinet. I am taking the gentleman's word when he said that they are still going to vote "no." They are warning us that if the roll is called on the confirmation of Richard Maize, they will vote "no." That has been the suggestion that has been made to us repeatedly.

Mr. President, I want to say to the Minority and I want to say to the people of Pennsylvania, we are having trouble getting down to work. Some of the newspapers, whether rightly or wrongly, have suggested that this is a do-nothing Session of the General Assembly. Mr. President, we are trying desperately to function. It is difficult when you have members of the cabinet who honestly and sincerely do not know whether they are flesh, fish or fowl, who do not know whether they are operating legally or not, who are hesitant to take the reins of government for their particular department because, as yet, they have not been confirmed. They are tiptoeing on their duties because they do not want to tramp upon any of the official skirts of any of the official members of this Senate, where this so delicate balance is being jiggled right here at this moment.

Mr. President, we are trying to get the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania working into a cohesive machine so we can do the things the people of Pennsylvania want done, and that is to have what we so coyly call a short business like session and go home, because everybody sitting in this Chamber knows that the minute the Senate adjourns sine die, the people of Pennsylvania heave a sigh of relief and go back to business. Mr. President, we cannot do that until we do discharge certain constitutional responsibilities and one of these responsibilities is to confirm the Governor's cabinet, and I want to say in all seriousness to the Members of the Minority Party, the members of the cabinet who are being presented here have nothing to do with the issue which has been raised over the Attorney General's office. The Attorney General is not before the Senate for confirmation. The Attorney General, the head of the Department of Justice, is not before the Senate for confirmation. Mr. Margiotti is not an issue as far as this confirmation is concerned. The only issue that is confronting the Senate of Pennsylvania on this roll call is whether or not Mr. Maize, who has served long, faithfully, well and efficiently in the office to which he has again been nominated by the Chief Executive, whether or not he shall be confirmed. Shall the Senate advise and consent to the appointment of Mr. Maize as Secretary of the Department of Mines. That is the problem that we have to decide, and I want to say in all seriousness to the Minority that never will I permit, as long as I am a Member of this Senate, the Executive or the Judicial Departments of the government to attempt to coerce, attempt to threaten or bribe or affect the Legislative Branch, but at the same time, Mr. President, no legislative group has the right to put a gun at the head of the Executive Department and say to them, until you do what we are demanding, we will block every effort to have constructive government.

That is the issue on this thing, Mr. President, make no mistake about it. They can gloss this thing over with high sounding phrases from now until the Senate adjourns sine die, but they cannot escape the inevitable. Without a cabinet this government cannot efficiently operate. Without the cooperation of the Minority Party, we cannot confirm the cabinet and they are being given the opportunity to decide whether they are going to cooperate in getting this government under way or whether they are going to sit dormant until a personal grudge with one individual, who is not in issue, has been settled by the Democratic Party.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I had intended to answer the gentleman point for point in the order of his remarks, but the last closing remarks are uncalled for and are not befitting the gentleman's character. There is no grudge on my part, or on the part of any Member of this Senate, for the individual whom you named for the first time on the Senate floor, and I am going to state here and now that if you will bring that name out, you may be surprised at the number of Democratic votes he will get. If the Governor names him, do not be surprised but what he will get more votes here than he might get on the other side. Let us not confuse the issue. The issue is still fundamental.

Mr. President, I was informed politely by my colleague on the other side that someone is holding the gun at somebody's head. Well, it seems to me that the gun is being held at our heads today, and the poor innocent victim that is going to be shot down is Dick Maize. I am amazed at what they are doing to Maize.

What happens, Mr. President, if the gentleman is right? He said that these officers don't function because they are not sure that they are in constitutionally. They are not sure whether they are fish or fowl. That is the point of our argument. Is there a question then that they are seated there and operating unconstitutionally and illegally? If there is no doubt in the minds of the Administrative Branch that they are there legally and constitutionally, why all the hullabaloo? Let them serve. We do not care that they serve. If it is not essential that they have the confirmation that he says is the function of the Senate, then why be disturbed over them serving without confirmation of the Senate? They have been confirmed by the Attorney General's Office. That is what I see here in the records of the Senate, but I do not find it in the Constitution. In fact, the Attorney General himself has been so confirmed.

Now, Mr. President, if that is the way it is going to be, let it be that way, but no amount of ridicule on our position, no amount of putting into the minds of people any doubt as to our sincerity is going to take away from us the position that we now hold.

Back in American history are many men who did not swim up the stream, who took a position and stood by it until a higher tribunal straightened the situation out. They know what they can do; they know exactly the position they can take to find out whether we are right or wrong, and I assure you that it would make me most happy, most happy if in the determination they find that we are wrong, I will be the first to apologize, and I want to state further, don't give the impression that we are holding up legislation. I think that that is a blow even lower than below the belt. It is as low a blow as can be struck. Can anybody point to any act of ours that has delayed legislation? That is our duty, legislation. The functions of the departments are the departments' duty. If they are not sure of their position, let them test their position. We have as much right to our opinion as the Attorney General's Office has to an opinion, and the Constitution specifically provides so. He does not write opinions for us. We are an entity of our own. We are not usurping power; we are only living up to our constitutional duties.

There is no delay in legislation by any action of ours, and I might say that we know that all these words are useless. We know that the only one that may get to read them will be the one that has the strength to pick up the record and read the record. I noticed all the pens stopped writing here at the desk when the gentleman sat down on the other side. Right is right, and right will out. Men commit murder and think they have committed the perfect crime, but somehow they get caught No matter how secret their maneuvers are, somehow they get caught, and you can trample over these things, you can trample over every maneuver today, you can trample right over the top of our vote, you can send Dick Maize back home to Fayette County and send Alan Reynolds back to his bank job. You can do as you please with that, but I assure you gentlemen with all the sincerity at my command, and I speak for twenty men who are resolute in their determination, that unless some higher tribunal tells us we are wrong, we are going to read the Constitution as it is written.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. It is a rare privilege, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Just one question, Mr. President. How many of your thirty men are in their seats today?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny recalls, there were thirty Republican Senators elected. I asked for leave of absence for two on account of sickness, the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Propert and the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Hare. Two from thirty is twenty-eight, even under inflation.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, Mr. President. I just wanted to say that I received several calls from various lawyers over the weekend telling me, and I thought you should know that, being a member of the Pardon Board, that anything done by the Pardon Board tomorrow, their opinion will be illegal.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, will be so recorded.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, will be so recorded.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will be so recorded.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, under what misapprehension did the gentleman from Potter vote?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the misapprehension was entirely personal, Senator Barr.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, my point of parliamentary inquiry is and I desire a ruling from the Chair as to whether a Member can vote under a misapprehension on the confirmation of a cabinet member.

The PRESIDENT. Under the Rules of the Senate, a member can change his vote any time before it is announced.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not like to question your ruling, but if you read the Constitution, on a vote on confirmation it is entirely different from any other vote. If you will look at Article IV, Section 8, right down at the end.

The PRESIDENT. I know of no difference, sir, or any decision that sustains that position.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am asking for a decision.

The PRESIDENT. The decision of the Chair has already been announced. On any vote that a Senator makes, he has the right to change any time before the vote is announced.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not want to delay the Senate, but I have asked you to read Article IV, Section 8, where it tells you how confirmations are acted upon in the Senate and where it says that the vote shall be taken by "yeas" and "nays". I wish you would read that.

The PRESIDENT. I am familiar with that Section and there is nothing in the Section which prohibits a Senator from changing his vote before it is announced.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, along the same lines in your interpretation, if there is nothing in that Section which prohibits a change of vote, is there anything in that Section which prohibits a vote of "present"?

The PRESIDENT. That question is not before us.

Mr. DENT. I assure you it will be, Mr. President.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. Walker. Mr. President, has the vote been announced yet?

The PRESIDENT. The vote has not been announced.

The vote on confirmation of Richard Maize is the "yeas" are 25, the "nays" are 23.

The nominee not having received the required constitutional two-thirds vote fails of confirmation.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Blass,	Letzler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Chapman,	Mahany,	Robinson,	Wagner,
Crowe,	Mallery,	Scarlett,	Watkins,
Diehm,	McPherson, Jr.,	Snowden,	Watson,
Fleming,	Meade,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Freed.	Pechan,	Taylor,	Wood,
Kessler,

NAYS—23

Bane,	DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Silvert,
Barr,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Barrett,	Holland,	McMenamin,	Toole,
Berger,	Kephart,	Neff,	Walker,
Byrne,	Lane,	Rosenfeld,	Yosko,
Dent,	Leader,	Ruth,

Less than two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

NOTIFICATION TO THE GOVERNOR LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the notification to His Excellency, the Governor, of the non-confirmation of Richard Maize, be laid on the table.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, what procedure are we working under now? Does that mean that the vote and the notification is laid on the table?

Mr. WALKER. May I say, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Allegheny is in error. The motion was that the notification to the office of the Chief Executive be laid upon the table. The vote is not laid upon the table only the notification.

The PRESIDENT. The vote has already been announced.

Mr. BARR. I understand that. Mr. President, after you have finished your statement I would like to be recognized.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION THAT NOMINATION OF MILO FREDERICK DRAEMEL, AS SECRETARY OF FORESTS AND WATERS BE TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the nomination of Milo Frederick Draemel, for Secretary of Forests and Waters, be taken from the table.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

One the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the motion.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there is a name before us, and I just simply ask that we vote now and take up the name of Milo Draemel.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand the motion made by the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, it is a motion to take from the table. Now, that motion must be adopted or rejected by the Senate before the name can be taken from the table, and I am asking the Majority to vote "no" on the motion to take the name from the table.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am simply asking to take a name from the table. I am not asking Senator Walker to put words in my mouth.

Mr. PRESIDENT. There has been a motion made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, and seconded by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, that the Executive Nomiantion of Admiral Milo F. Draemel, for the office of Secretary of Forests and Waters, be taken from the table.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I understand that it is not on the table. It is simply to be read.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that we do not get into a praliamentary tangle that may cause more confusion, I would suggest to the Chair that the motion itself is out of order, since there is nothing on the table to be lifted from the table.

The PRESIDENT. I should like to point out to the Minority Floor Leader that all the Executive Nominations that were read by the Chairman of that Committee in making his report, with the single exception of the one we just voted on, are all upon the table.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would further question the Chair as to why there was not a motion made to lift the name of Mr. Maize from the table.

The PRESIDENT. I should like to correct the Minority Floor Leader who seems to be in error that his name was not taken from the table.

Mr. DENT. It was not. Mr. President, I would like to have the record read back where there was a motion made to that effect.

The PRESIDENT. Unanimous consent was given, and the Chair would like to refresh the recollection of the Minority Floor Leader to the effect that we could not have had Mr. Maize up for confirmation unless somebody mentioned it. I certainly did not.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, let's not you and I get tangled up. We usually try to keep a clear head. If I can follow through on the matter, the Chairman asked unanimous consent for consideration of the nomination as presented from the Committee, and we gave unanimous consent to that consideration. He then proceeded to read the name of Mr. Maize, but all the other names were in the same state as Mr. Maize's name at that point. If all the names went to the table, then a motion was necessary. If it did not go to the table, none of the names went to the table.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to call to the attention of the Minority Floor Leader that all those nominations were brought up to the desk by a page or someone other than the Chairman of the Committee. Now, we are not splitting hairs here. We have to assume certain things.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, yes, we are certainly splitting hairs. There was a motion to take from the table.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not want to get into a parliamentary debate with one of the most distinguished gentlemen who ever served in this Senate, and whose taking a leave of absence from us has always been regretted by us on both sides of the aisle, but I would like to respectfully suggest to the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny that singly the name was called up and unanimous consent was necessary in order to place it before the body.

Now, Mr. President, in order to facilitate matters, I understand that the gentleman from Westmoreland has suggested that Senator Barr's motion was out of order, and if that is so, Mr. President, I would like to now move that the Executive Session do now rise.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, you have not disposed of my motion yet, and secondly I ask the reporter to read back what Senator Watson said.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that there is a motion already before the Chamber, namely, the motion by Senator Barr, and seconded by Senator Lane, that the name of Admiral Milo F. Draemel be taken from the table. All in favor, let it be known by saying "aye."

Mr. BARR. Just a moment, Mr. President. I also made a request that the stenographer read back what Senator Watson had to say when Mr. Maize's name was called up.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny what good purpose would be served if the notes were read back by the official Reporter and it would be found that the gentleman from Bucks, Senator Watson, did not make a motion to bring Mr. Maize's name from the table? I respectfully suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that unanimous consent was asked to submit Mr. Maize's name, and there was no objection.

Now, Mr. President, I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, isn't it true, sir, if you attempt to bring up a name and there is an objection made, that therefore it cannot be considered?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the motion was made earlier for unanimous consent for all the names to be presented today. I would like the Reporter to read it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny still insist that the Stenographer read the record?

Mr. BARR. I do, Mr. President.

(Record read by Official Reporter.)

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that was the original motion. Therefore, I want to correct my motion and move that we now advise and consent to the nomination of Milo F. Draemel.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object to the consideration of the nomination at this time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, how can he object?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that there must be a motion to take these executive nominations from the table first.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I just want to make one insertion. It has amazed me what they did to Maize.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and Senator Holland, I would like to present this resolution commemorating the ninetieth birthday of John Phillips.

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING THE BIRTHDAY OF JOHN M. PHILLIPS

Messrs. WALKER and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 19, 1951.

To become ninety years of age is an event that may truly be termed extraordinary. That great conservationist, John M. Phillips, has as last achieved a goal to which many men aspire, but which few attain. It may, therefore, be a likely presumption that John M. Phillips has applied to his own life those same scientific principles of conservation which he has so zealously espoused in behalf of our stream and forest resources.

The history of conservation in Pennsylvania is really contemporaneous with the current life of John M. Phillips. For, he was among the first to appreciate the consequences of a reckless cutting of our trees and an uncontrolled slaughter of our wild life. Such an interest and a concern became the forerunner to the organization of the Game Commission in Pennsylvania in 1895. In 1905, he became a member of the Commission and later served as its president. He has never ceased to give his close attention to the activities of the Commission; and this intimacy of association and knowledge has created in him a source from which counsel and advice are frequently drawn. In 1913, he sponsored to the stage of successful enactment, the Resident Hunters' License Law. His leadership and guidance in matters pertaining to forests and wild life have premised the passing of the basic Game Code of Pennsylvania by which we are privileged to enjoy our game lands under properly regulated conditions.

In August of 1948, a bronze plaque was set up in Elk County to commemorate his influence in sponsoring conservative legislation and includes the following inscription: "Recognition of his untiring efforts to develop the State-wide system of public hunting ground and game refuges."

The influence of John M. Phillips has not been confined to his own State. His thoughts and principles have irradiated into the other areas and have significantly shaped the policies of the Canadian Government with respect to their game refuge in British Columbia.

John M. Phillips throughout his long career has been an indomitable warrior to preserve everything that is good and cherished in our fast disappearing primitive woodlands and lakes. The marauder of the sylvan scene, the despoiler of lake beauty, the unrelenting killer of wild life, have all felt the rebuke of his wrath and the strength of his courage when they have dared to encroach upon the few surviving precincts of untrammeled nature in their wanton pursuit of pleasure.

From the eminent summit of his ninety years, John M. Phillips has a commanding restrospect of achievement and experience that rarely comes to any man. A span of ninety years is mathematically only nine decades, but when measured in terms of a life's experience it encompasses the throbbing, exciting, and miraculous growth of our country during the tragic days of the Civil War, through the perilous periods of World Wars I and II, to the hazards of the present universal discord.

The panorama of history that can be revealed, the dramatic picture of industrial expansion that can be disclosed, the reorientation of peoples and geography that can be surveyed are the unique privilege of a nonagenarian. John M. Phillips has, indeed, been given a gamut of experience on which nature has lavished her most prolific gifts; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Senate of Pennsylvania salute John M. Phillips on his ninetieth birthday anniversary and extend to him its heartiest congratulations for having attained a truly majestic milestone in life. It acknowledges its appreciation of his outstanding performance in the unrelated fields of conservation of our streams, forests and wild life; of invention and discovery; and of successful business practice. The Senate further offers to John M. Phillips its devout wish that his health, life and happiness will continue for many more years; and be it further

Resolved, That a duly certified copy of this Resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Mr. Phillips, at his home, 2336 Brownsville Road, Carrick, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. President, I offer the following resolution on behalf of myself and the general motoring public. I do not ask for immediate consideration of this resolution, but I hope that it will receive consideration by the Highway Department and by the State Police of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR POLICE TO VIGOROUSLY ENFORCE THE MAXIMUM WEIGHT LAWS

Mr. WOOD offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 19, 1951.

Whereas During the year 1950 a series of impartial tests have been made over a test section of the Maryland highways by 12 states and the Bureau of Public Roads to determine the effect of various axle loadings of motor trucks upon the surface of the highways;

Whereas These tests have conclusively indicated serious damage has already been done to the highways of this Commonwealth and the cost of the maintenance and repair thereof has been considerably increased by truck loadings well within the maximum now permitted by the laws of this Commonwealth, to say nothing of the immeasurable damage in highway deterioration done by numerous truck loadings exceeding allowable limits;

Whereas the 86,955 heavy trucks registered within this Commonwealth total only 3.1 per cent of the total vehicles registered and pay only 16.11 per cent of the total registration fees and fuel taxes while operating over 35 per cent of the total gross ton miles operated by all vehicles, as compared with the lighter vehicles and passenger cars which include 96.9 per cent of the vehicles registered and which pay 83.9 per cent of the registration fees and fuel tax while operating 65 per cent of the gross ton miles;

Whereas the heavy truck and the overloaded truck by common knowledge menace all highway users, in slowing traffic on the mountains of Pennsylvania, in driving lighter trucks and passenger vehicles off the roads, in their frequent loss of control when brakes fail or are applied suddenly, causing jack-knifing, and endanger all persons using sidewalks and areas in near highways;

Whereas The inherent danger to the driving public by heavy and overloaded trucks is greatly enhanced by the failure of the Pennsylvania Motor Police to provide adequate enforcement and facilities for weighing vehicles as evidenced by the fact that during 1950 only 32 weighing facilities were operated by the State consisting of five permanent installations and twenty-seven portable units to cover the vast extent of 90,000 miles of improved highways within this Commonwealth used by heavy and overloaded trucks, so that during the average month only some 13,000 vehicles were weighed of which 17 per cent were found to be operating in violation of law;

Whereas There is a crying demand by the general public for reasonable enforcement of the law in order to safe guard the lives and property of other highway users and owners of property adjacent to the highway; therefore be it,

Resolved: (1) That the Pennsylvania Motor Police be admonished vigorously to enforce the maximum weight laws, to install and operate a far larger number of weighing facilities and to check a far greater number of heavy trucks each month.

(2) That where the Pennsylvania Motor Police apprehend violators of the maximum weight laws the offenders be compelled to remove the overload before proceeding and be vigorously prosecuted.

(3) That the Secretary of Revenue be furnished by the Pennsylvania Motor Police with notice of all convictions under the maximum weight laws, and that where the Secretary finds that an individual or corporation has repeatedly violated such laws, immediate action be taken to suspend or revoke the motor vehicle registration or registrations of the offending individual or corporation.

(4) That where the offenses are occasioned by owners or operators of vehicles registered out of this Commonwealth, the Secretary of Revenue shall withdraw the privilege of using the Pennsylvania highways to such vehicles upon the same terms and conditions as would govern the suspension or revocation of the registrations of vehicles registered within this Commonwealth.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. FLEMING, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 19, 1951.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1951, at four o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourn this week it reconvene on Monday, February 26, 1951, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE METHODS OF OPERATION OF ALL BRANCHES OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT TO PROMOTE ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY AND IMPROVED SERVICE

Messrs. YOSKO, BLASS, ROSENFELD and MAHANY, offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 19, 1951.

Whereas, It is the policy of the General Assembly to promote economy, efficiency, and improved service in the transaction of the public business in the departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices, and all other instrumentalities of the executive branch of the Government, by:

(1) Limiting expenditures to the lowest amount consistent with the efficient performance of essential services, activities and functions;

(2) Eliminating duplication and overlapping of services, activities, and functions;

(3) Consolidating services, activities and functions of a similar nature;

(4) Abolishing services, activities and functions not necessary to the efficient conduct of government; and

(5) Defining and limiting executive functions, services and activities; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby directs the Joint State Government Commission to study and investigate the present organization and methods of operation of all departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices and other instrumentalities of the executive branch of the government, to determine what changes therein are necessary in its opinion to accomplish the purposes set forth in the preamble to this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission, or any member thereof may, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this resolution, hold such hearings and sit and act at such times and places, and take such testimony as the commission, or such member may deem advisable, and any member of the commission may administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission or before such member; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission is authorized to secure directly from any executive department, bureau, agency, board, commission, office or other instrumentality, information, suggestions, estimates and statistics for the purposes of this resolution and each such department, bureau, agency, board, commission, office or other instrumentality, is authorized and directed to furnish such information, suggestions, estimates and statistics directly to the commission upon request made by the chairman or vice-chairman thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly together with such legislation it may propose to carry out such recommendations.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate Senator Yosko.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I realize that the intent and purpose of this resolution is good, but would the Senator from Northampton state in his opinion what would be the cost if this resolution were adopted?

I ask this question, may I state, because today I believe we are called upon to appropriate fifty thousand dollars to the Joint State Government Commission for a deficiency. I do not know but I believe the amount that was appropriated during the last Session was in excess of two hundred thousand dollars, possibly two hundred fifty thousand dollars. I can be corrected, but I am interested in economy in government, and it does seem to me that too many matters are being referred to the Commission. It is all costly, all done with good intent, but I am alarmed at the cost that is being incurred from day to day here in our state government, and I certainly would not want to vote for the resolution without knowing what it purports.

The PRESIDENT. Is the Senator from Northampton in position to reply to the question of the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, it is almost impossible for me to make a direct reply to the question submitted by the Senator because I do not know just how much work the Joint State Government Commission will do in connection with the resolution. I did previously submit a bill calling for the creation of a commission similar to the Hoover Commission, which functioned in Washington, and the bill was referred to the Committee on State Government. It was considered there, and the suggestion was made that a resolution similar to the one just presented be prepared and submitteed, which, of course, was done in lieu of the bill which was presented.

Mr. President, now so far as government expenditures are concerned, I am in agreement with my colleague that government does cost a lot of money, and that is one of the reasons why I submitted this bill. As I understand it from my experience with the state government, there are about two hundred twenty-five departments, boards, bureaus and commissions scattered all over Pennslyvania. We have not had a re-organization of the State government for many many years, if we had one at all, and each year there are additional bureaus being added to the state government. Right now we are operating on a billion dollar budget and I suppose before this Session is over, we will be called upon to enact another billion dollar budget.

I do not know how much it is going to cost to conduct this investigation, but in my opinion if the investigation is conducted and we are able to abolish some of the bureaus, if we are able to consolidate some of the bureaus and thus decrease the number of employes in the Commonwealth, over-lapping, and red tape and what not, certainly over a period of years, whatever the cost is to conduct this investigation, will pay for itself and more so. If that re-organization of the Federal government did some good along economy lines in Washington, and everybody seems to agree that it has, then I do not see why it could not bring about the same conclusion here in Pennsylvania.

I believe in the resolution and it is based on my experience with the state government, with which I was affiliated for fourteen years, and I trust that there will be no objection to this resolution so that the State Government Commission can proceed with this investigation and prepare its report and suggestive legislation at the next Session of the Legislature.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, my only objection, my real objection rather, to all resolutions of this kind is they authorize the incurrence of expenditures unlimted. It seems to me that when these resolutions are prepared, as in this case in particular, when there could be merit in it a certain definite sum should be stated as the cost that is to be made. Otherwise, we might be confronted with an expense of possibly two hundred thousand dollars or a quarter of a million dollars.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. WALKER, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report, which was read by the Clerk as follows:
